The Spiritual Significance of Numbers

Trance Channeling begins

Welcome

We have many friends who wish to communicate today. Let us have a seasonal celebration! We have spoken before of aspects of what you call "Diwali", and we will remind you of some of them today and perhaps add a few more.

The energetic significance of this particular festival is extremely potent this particular year. Use these energies in any way you wish. We will describe the prevailing energy structure in Bombay. There are shafts of light flying through the air like spears. Each one extremely potent, extremely powerful, and relatively short-lived. You can ride these shafts of light and use them for any aspect of your life: manifestation, health and well being, expansion, growth, knowledge, and wisdom.

So how can you harness them? Simply sit for a moment or two, center self and permit shafts of these lights (which are literally flying around you) to enter your body through the back of the heart chakra, and then shoot them outwards. The instant you feel a sensation within you, do with it what you will. That is it.

Secondly, we wish to remind you: do not condemn the noise of the crackers, but instead use it to your benefit and the benefit of all those around you. Rather than focusing on your irritation and annoyance, instantly visualize that sound bursting the pockets of negative energies that surround the city.

Now every time you hear a blast, just use an instant visualization: see dense, thick, gloomy, coagulated negativity being shattered and an expanded light quotient being released. With every explosion, let your heart expand in joy. View this as a magnificent opportunity to aid your city and its inhabitants release and expand. Just these many people (pointing at the group) can cleanse a city with this technique.

At the same time, when you observe the illumination of the sparklers and fountains, visualize those energies increasing the inner illumination of ALL.

Nan: – Why do many get depressed during this festival?

■ – During ANY festival or large celebration of any kind, a collective energy is built up, which raises all vibrations. This MUST bring to the surface unresolved issues, as your personal light quotient is suddenly raised. You are then offered the joyous opportunity to rid yourself of them by using the power at hand!

Those who experience depression are generally people who experience this, and resist the release. They attempt to push these issues back into self, and really cannot, as the collective energy of the festival is so high. This causes trauma, depression, outbursts of rage, irritability, and cantankerousness.

Nan:– Why is the energy so different and so high this particular year?

■ – The intensity has increased tremendously this year to aid the entire process that is taking place. You are aware that the Earth is rapidly upgrading energetically. You are aware that this is the year for self-empowerment. You are aware that the new energies now entering the solar system are forcing issues to the surface.

Everything is conspiring to help you to release from within and purify. So, once again you have drawn these energetic shafts to facilitate the process.

Remember, even if there is a small, community-specific festival, to which you do not belong, you are still welcome to use its energies.

Nar: They say that during certain periods, such as Kali Chaudas or Dhantaras, one shouldn't do any writing or communicating, as there are negative energies around. Is there a reason for this?

Gl: – We are right in the middle of Kali Chaudas now!

■ – Is that interfering right now?

Gl: No! Not at all!

■ – Let us begin by saying that if you firmly believe something, it will be so. And if you believe that nothing will touch you at that time, it won't.

What really happens, at times like this, is a certain denseness of energies: an energy soup. Energies themselves move from level to level; constantly growing, expanding and enlightening all around them. Energies have no concepts of right or wrong: positive energy, negative energy, it does not matter. During their periodic upgrades, there is a denseness formed, when they are not quite what they used to be, and yet not quite what they soon will be. This is the energy soup we speak of.

During these periods, which occur from time to time, clarity is extremely hard to be accessed, because these energies effect all around including your brainwaves and your synapses. So the purity of what you would call 'the connection' requires more effort on your part to establish.

Now, if your energy 'pipeline' is clean, you will not be affected. But if you have a lot of residue within your own energy structure (residue of unresolved issues which you stubbornly refuse to acknowledge), the soup around activates this, and befuddles your processes.

Group Member: – There are certain celebrations like the Bakri Eid, where there is rampant slaughter of innocent animals. Is this the way this festival is meant to be?

 – (laughing) Let us permit another friend to answer this! (Sohrab shifts energies)

The symbolism of the sacrifice is completely misinterpreted today. It is not necessary for the physical act to take place any more; but at the same time, do not condemn those who choose to participate in it, as they do so for their own reasons.

The aspects of 'sacrifice and slaughter' are a symbolic inner search: What aspects of my life have I outgrown? What beliefs do I need to examine and shed or alter? What am I holding onto, which is now redundant in my life? How can I move to my new level of energies?

[Sohrab shifts energies again, and points to three members of the group]

 We wish to add a small description here about the numbers 1 to 9, which you referred to, prior to the meeting. For those of you, who work with Numerology; add the energy-knowledge of numbers to your readings now.

Number 1: a vertical line, signifying the exquisitely harmonious connection between spirit and matter. When this number is slightly modified to have an inversion at the top and a small horizontal line at the base, it is the same physical-spirit connection, spreading itself outward on the base and turning it back towards the Earth from the top, in the anticipation of a perfect triangle. It is actually energetically forming a triangle, much like the 4. The vibration of the No. 1 is perfect harmony of mind, body and spirit.

Number 2: is the motion of the rise of consciousness touching the universe and returning to the Earth, to the body, and spreading within it. And once again the rise to Universe, and assimilation and the rise to universe and assimilation, it is a searching number. It constantly desires to grow, expand and become the number 3, which is half the symbol of infinity.

Number 3: Energetically the Number 3 and the Number 8 are very similar, but the No. 3 does not have the completion of the infinity, it is the semi-infinity, implying it has it all but it is growing into it. It give everyone who touches it and uses it, the opportunity to see those aspects of completion that they have not yet touched and yet to KNOW that they exist within.

Number 4: used in its completion, is the perfect triangle of Holy Trinity: mind, body, and spirit with two extended aspects. The aspect that extends downwards, is the grounding force that anchors the mind, body, spirit to the human, the Earth, the beingness; and the aspect that moves forward, permits future exploration: to increase its power, to grow, to find new aspects of mind, body and spirit that have not been assimilated yet.

Number 5: is a very holy number. Energetically the Number 5 is an extremely complex piece of Sacred Geometry. In this particular case, its physical formation has no bearing on the other four before it, it is the introduction of a new aspect of energies into the progression of 1 to 9. The No. 5 propels you after having grown from 1, 2, 3 and 4, into new alternate realities and dimensions that you did not know existed. It is, energetically, the wonder number.

(Tie all this into your already extensive knowledge of numerology and see where it takes you! You will eventually equate each letter in a person's name with the number individually, then work out how they link together in progression and then take them altogether and read the story. It will take you into a completely new area of interpreting the personal name or the name of the business or the name of the home.)

Number 6: is a very beautiful, fluid number: deals energetically very strongly with wind and water elements, it garners those energies, and it forms not complete circle, no, not the 'shunia', not the 'all'; but the all, which is constantly being fed by newer and newer and newer information from the Universe. So the central 'all', the 'zero', the 'Om', is being constantly fed. A very, very deep number for occult studies.

Number 7: Frank, forthright, and stabilizing for those who access this. Energetically it has the perfect balance of mind, body and spirit. It is not trying to access this; it HAS it and it is projecting from one corner that balance into humankind, into planet Earth. It is a number of great strength, great potential, and great centeredness.

Number 8: is, of course, the symbol of the infinity, and energetically we will not describe this, as you are all aware of the symbol of infinity and how important it is. But we will tell you that the current energy of 8 is just not this double loop, it is a triple loop. There is an etheric circle upon the two circles leading you from the perfect infinity into the next dimension and this changes not only the meaning and significance of infinity, but it allows the possibility of the new DNA strands that you have already heard about. It allows for the growth of each individual into the next platform. It allows for new energetic possibilities and opportunities.

Number 9: A magnificent number. It harnesses the ALL THAT IS and implants it into actual knowledge and wisdom, in the physical form. It takes the esoteric and transforms it into words, understanding, comprehension, knowledge, wisdom, expansion, and action.

The 0 (Zero): Dear friend, the 'Shunia' is far beyond the circle of life and the Om! Each particle of the Shunia has elements of the '1 to 9' in them. There is actually no Zero, it contains 1 to 9 in different combinations of Sacred Geometry within every point in itself: it is like a kaleidoscope of numbers and yet it signifies the all that is, the totality. Do not be fooled by the seeming circular space it contains; it has no boundaries at all. IT ALLOWS FOR CREATION TO KEEP CREATING.

Remember: these explanations may be outdated next year! Once again, energetically, you will have to re-study the significance of 1 to 9. Enjoy them for the moment.

Now when working with your clients, ask them to 'feel' out different numbers or combination of numbers. Urge them to equate numbers to specific situations in their lives, to people in their lives.

GI: – If somebody is born on the 24th, should one use 2 and 4 or does one take it as a whole?

■ – It depends on how you wish to examine it. If you wish to do an in-depth examination, do it not only as a two and four but do it as a 6, do it as the date, then add the month then add the year – there are innumerable combinations. You would come to more and more complex answers.

Group Member: It would also be sum---

■ – Explain this,

Group Member: When you use – like she said shortened names, the vibration of the sound is lower or higher, if the shortened name has a higher vibration as compared to the original name, then intuitively you will want to use the shortened name more because the sound vibration is far higher than the original name. So even in conversation or in practical use, that should be used more than the name that is given to the person.

■ – You are very correct. Check the vibrations of different names, equate them to numbers, check them out again, and offer the person the opportunity to choose what resonates with self, NOT what you recommend. You are the guide: recommend options, explaining the possibilities of each set of vibrations, but do not lay down the law for them. If you do, you then unconsciously add your vibrations to theirs, and are offering impure information.

[Sohrab changes energies again]

■ – What can you do tonight, to make the day of the Diwali the most beneficial to you?

Tonight, before your fall asleep, invite the energies of PURE LIGHT into your beingness. Welcome them with your entire beingness and ask to be bathed and massaged overnight. Then RELEASE the intent: KNOW it is done, and go to sleep.

Tomorrow, when you wake up, before you leave the physical bed, take a moment and just open up to the energies around: your city will be bathed in magnificent energies. Just lie in expansion.

Then after you have arisen and when you take your shower, very consciously bathe in the water energies. They will feel more refreshing, more vibrant, and more powerful. You will sense an actual physical cleansing when you are in the shower: enjoy all of this, it is your gift to yourself, but these aspects must be done consciously.

Tomorrow, EAT WHATEVER YOU WANT. AS MANY SWEETS AS YOU WANT. Eat in JOY.

Nan: – Thank you – Yay! Yummy, yummy

■ – Although she has a sugar problem, she may do the same. But it must be eaten in joy and light.

Nan: – Done!

■ – You will visualize all food that enters you, in form of the most powerful, magnificent light and enjoy it. Eat, chew, swallow, feel it going within you, and enjoy the sweets or what ever else you wish to enjoy. No guilt – you may eat as much as you wish tomorrow with NO GUILT OR FEAR.

Nan:– Thank you, - no fear.

■ – And during the course of the day, be conscious of these shafts of light. Draw upon them, allow them to enter and exit the heart and make an intent - whatever you wish, do this a thousand times if you wish with a thousand different aspects of your life and release them, do not hold on to them.

GI: – We cannot direct them to someone?

■ – With joy! Of course!

Sohrab changes energies, and points to 'Ang'

The Living Buddha is requested to harness His power and Bless the group. You will arise – you will do this in full power – you are the living Buddha – you will harness your power and you will joyously offer it to all in this room.

['Ang' blesses the sitters in silence]

■: She has full faith in her inner power and NO FAITH in her ability to communicate this to others! Do you see why we forced her to do this?

Dear One, you have full faith in your inner strength, your abilities, your power, and yet you have no faith that you DESERVE to be acknowledged for this by others.

You must now speak out, touch, heal, counsel, shatter misconceptions and ignorance, and enlighten all. You will do what is needed: the Living Buddha must walk, you have contained this power too long, you must consciously share it. Create the opportunities with your own power to be able to share it. Our light is within you.

Sohrab changes Energies to the Meher Baba

■ – Kem mai – ai badhu Diwali-Diwali soo che?

All laughing

Nan: Welcome , Meher baba!!!

■ – So you came to see me? What an honor!

Nan: – Yes - I'm coming again.

■ – Did you see me?

'Nan' – I felt you! You came through that stray dog and stayed with me so long! Thank you!

■ – I often come through animals.

Nan: – No, you were speaking to me then and those two students

■ – I was not speaking to you, I was sniffing at your skirt! (much laughter) Of course I was speaking to you.

[At this moment, Sohrab's dog suddenly came across the room and began licking GI, who was sitting next to Sohrab and 'Nan']

■ – I speak through animals, -- waat karni, --- kem mai ?–

Group Member:– kem cho?

■ – soo chalech?

Group Member:– Mane bolaota nahi? (inaudible)

■ – I keep coming to you through your husband but you keep slapping me (all laugh) how many times have you hit me with a danda? Next time I will hit you back ha? She knows I'm joking... I think? (all laugh)

To another Group Member – kem mai? Avhe mane chocolate cake joyej bus. – Chocolate cake, bus, biju mane nathi foutu.

To 'Del' Kem mai, mane malva ao ni? Poona... Come and have a sweet at my house, we will give you mints. (To 'Nan') You must bring her!

Nan: – I'm coming with her!

Sohrab changes energies

■ – May there be dance and music in your life. Why do you all resist the dance (clap, clap, clap) so much resistance, let it flow – call on me, I will break those blocks –

Sohrab changes energies again

■ – I'm a stranger to most of you....

I have not come to impart any wisdom; I have only come to visit, and to touch the beautiful energies generated here. Thank you!

GI: – We'd like to know who you are, stranger?

■ – You knew me once as Sarojini Naidu.

Thank you.
