The Energy of Money

[Various group members were discussing, prior to the meeting, the recent stock market fluctuations, and the recent fall of the Sensex.]

Trance Channeling begins

🌈 Stocks and Shares, bonds, bank accounts! (Sohrab amused). Let us talk today about the Energy Of Money.

Why are some so successful with their management of money, and others seemingly at a disadvantage? Only one reason. Those who are successful have a true respect for money: not greed, not desire, not lack; but a respect, a healthy respect for the aspect that money must play in your lives.

- 1) How many of you view money with disdain?
- 2) How many of you view money with urgency? A sense of “If I do not have it, how will I survive?”
- 3) How many of you view money as an unattainable goal?
- 4) How many of you view money with a cavalier attitude? “It’s there, it will always be there. I don’t have to bother with it.”

All are imbalanced.

There are many societies around this Universe, which are not of this Earth planet, which do not use money as a means of physical or energetic exchange.

Some use energy, pure energy, as a means of exchange, of growth, and of personal security. Others use knowledge, Oh yes; there are societies that have knowledge as their particular currency. Others use their skill, their own energetic ability to grow and develop and offer their skill, and this is the yardstick of money for them. There are societies that use pure sunlight. But the collective on planet Earth has chosen money and finance to be the personal yardstick of energetic exchange, and as such, it must be respected for this.

It is easy for you to respect those who sit in prayers, who meditate, who work upon Self, who resolve issues. Oh yes, these are easy to respect, but there are very few who respect those who have a healthy respect for money and it these few, beautiful individuals, who have understood the Godliness of the Currency.

They are the great generators of wealth, because they don't hold onto wealth. They know from within (Sohrab touching his heart), not from here (Sohrab touching his head) that more the money energy flows through them, the more they are in harmony with the Universe, and the more they have to give back. Do they choose to do charity out of a sense of obligation? Not at all. They do it because it is apart of a cycle. It is a part of the flow. It is not a magnanimous gesture on their part. It is what must be, with the energy exchange of money.

The more you make, the more you give. AND THE MORE YOU CAN USE FOR SELF, JOYOUSLY, WITH NO GUILT, SHAME OR EMBARRASSMENT.

Money Deserves Respect.

- 1) Question your own attitudes towards money.
- 2) Question your beliefs about money: that you will always be poor; that you will never have enough; "easy come, easy go". Question all these.
- 3) Question how your parents viewed money: this is a very very strong indicator, as you have picked up their scripts.
 - a) What was your father's attitude to money?
 - b) What was your mother's attitude to money?
 - c) How did the home function, when it came to the disbursement and the receipt of money?

And you will find a tapestry unfolding before you, helping you evaluate why you feel the way, and helping you see the blocks that you possibly have with money.

- 4) Examine the attitude towards money in your immediate environment: how do your extended family, your friends, your business associates view and function with money?
- 5) What is your community/religion's attitude towards money?
- 6) What is your country's perception of money?

Group Member: I have 2 questions...1)... You told us the imbalances, now tell us about balance? 2) Is...What's the significance of 'savings'?

🌈 Good questions, both of them. How do you balance this issue? It is a process. It is indeed a process, the one we have just urged you to start evaluating for Self.

First study your own plan. The plan you have created. After all, YOU have created your parents, you have created their imbalances, you have placed yourself in a country that has certain money values, or the lack thereof.

In the society that you live, there are money imbalances. Are you, for example, surrounded by corruption, surrounded by generosity, surrounded by constant financial drain, and imbalanced inflows? Examine this closely. And start finding what your true beliefs about money are. Do this very honestly. It doesn't matter whether these beliefs have come from a father, or a mother; but it will help you find what your current belief is about finance and money.

When you have done this, you can begin to look at those areas in your life where you are in relative balance and those where you perceive yourself to be in imbalance. Once again this is a personal assessment.

Two people, with the same income and the same outlay, can do charity: one out of complete balance, one out of complete imbalance. The one who does charity in balance, is one who knows from within, that it is simply a flow and the more that is given joyously, without a doubt, will be replenished ten-fold, but that must be an internal certainty.

And the other could be giving to charity out of imbalance. "I have so much, I do not deserve so much, I must rescue those around me, I am not entitled to this glorious space I inhabit, I feel guilty and therefore I must give. Look at that poor person, who has so much less than me." All of these are imbalanced actions. Does this mean that you should stop doing charity? Of course not. But start to evaluate your processes, and begin to bring yourself into balance.

Savings. "Save for a rainy day." It is indeed wise. It is not an incorrect thing to do. But only you can evaluate your need for and desire to save. How imperative it is for you to keep adding to and hoarding the savings? Are you truly secure with your savings? Or does the process add to your anxieties?

All in this room have different levels of savings. . But do you hang onto them? Do you get upset, when you have to use a small portion of the savings, from time to time? Do you get upset when there's a drain on the finances?

Listen to the words, "drain on the finances." Is that how you perceive your expenses? Do you feel unworthy of your savings? Are you entitled to them? Do you feel a desire to have to keep supplementing your savings, at the cost of enjoying your life? Ask yourself these kinds of questions. And you may be saving in complete balance, or you may be saving in complete imbalance. Only you will know.

Let us now speak of Investments. Let us understand this for a moment. Just as money has an energy of its own, each form of investment: hard cash, diamonds, gold, stocks and shares, mutual funds, savings accounts, loans etc...Each one of these, even gambling and speculation, has a specific energy of its own; that is a sub-set of the overall energy of Investments and Money.

Each person's personal rhythms flow best with certain avenues within this sub-set. Some of you, for example, seem to do extremely well on the stock market, in shares, but are constantly losing money when gambling. Others can invest very wisely in gold and jewelry, but have no aptitude when it comes to stocks and shares.

It is up to each of you to recognize what flows best within you and to put your focus there. Now, not all of you are limited to one aspect; many of you will have vast aspects of money investment, to merge with and get into sync with. But it is best for you to find what works for you. That is why so many lose money, even when they have been so well advised by a large financial institution. The institution does not take into account your energetic stream, and only you can know that.

That is why it is best, when you are investing money, to get the advice and recommendations of experts: but eventually merge it with your own rhythms, and your own inner intuition will guide you. You are surrendered not to the Universe; you are surrendered to your own energies and You are demanding of self--- Guide Me.

Let us say an investment company has offered you 5 different ways in which to invest your wealth. Sit with them privately; you will feel a tug in certain directions. Your own inner intuition will guide you. Then instruct your investors, 'I choose these two options, out of the five'.

And this will change from time to time. Two months down the line, your options may shift. Each person's energies grow at a different level, that is why some must buy in a recession, and some must sell. It is appropriate for different people to do opposing things at a same given moment in time. Only you can know what is right for you.

You get certain inner urges: the market is low, let me buy now. If that comes - risk exactly how much your Beingness tells you. I have 1 lakh of rupees, how much does my Beingness urge me to risk right now? And if your Beingness urges you to risk I full lakh out of 1 lakh – do so. This is how you merge Self with practical aspects of money.

Go ahead and study the market, the newspapers, the TV, the Sensex, and allow yourself to FLOW IN RESPECT WITH THE ENERGIES OF MONEY. When you are in alignment with money, you are affirming to the Universe, "I respect Self, as this is our Earthly form of energetic exchange, and I believe in energy. I believe that I am a mass of energies and I wish to be in full alignment with all energies around me. I wish to embrace them, not separate self from them."

Group Member: Is 2008 going to have upheavals in the money markets?

🌈 Yes, indeed, but do not view it in a linear manner. These upheavals that you are foreseeing will not last just for 2008, but the thrust will come in this financial year. At the same time, these upheavals are urging all to question their views and perception of money, and to examine their attitudes. If certain people need to be kicked in the pants, by losing all their money, so be it, they will be kicked in the pants by Self. And for others it will be a confidence booster to see their money growing in leaps and bounds, and to question Self and to say “how come this has happened this year, what am I doing right?” The search must continue in either direction.

Most people will find, in their lives, pockets of money imbalances: for example, you will be balanced in your own financial status, but one child will be constantly draining you of money. One elderly person in the family will have constant illnesses and you will have to shell out for large medical bills. One persistent person in your life will keep demanding huge amounts from you for loans--- that is a pocket.

You will then have to narrow down your search, look at that aspect and say “what is my imbalance, (not the other person’s), what is MY imbalance in this particular area?” Even when it seems to be “I cannot help it, I love this person and the medical bills must be paid. I am doing this joyously, in fullness and in abundance; I must care for the elderly.” There is an imbalance on your part; else it would not be happening. The same situation may occur, but you will not feel the financial burden. Why are you experiencing the financial burden? That is for you to view.

Group Member: So all imbalances connect?

🌈 Of course....if you look at the larger picture, the imbalances that are taking place during 2008, are also reflections of the country ethos in which they are taking place. Each country is being shaken up. People must examine their views as individuals, and as a collective. To do this, they must unite.

The United States (U.S.) is going through a powerful shake-up right now. The people of the United States must now examine their aspects of sharing with others, of giving financial aid to others. They need to question why they perceive others NOT as them, why they discriminate between class, culture and background. You think your country is disparate? The perception of discrimination and inequality is greater in the United States than it is in your country. The perception.

They are also questioning their elements of gratitude, or the lack thereof, to the Universe, to the country, and to Self, for all that they have been given over the years. They are also demanding as a collective, a new unified system of money management, (and we are not speaking of politics, but of money management) and you will see after 2 years, the entire fiscal policy of the U.S. will change. It has already begun. Examine it. It has already begun. But the entire collective fiscal policy will change in 2 years.

Group Member:...but that will reflect...reverberate all over the world...?

🌈 And that will reflect all around the world and that will affect other countries, and others will be forced to re-evaluate their systems. Some will grow and change, some will not. And so it is with energies.

Group Member: (Inaudible) ..positive once more in the U.S. than what is at the moment...

🌈 That is not yet been decided yet. The outcome of the change has not been decided. But the process has been decided. We will explain this. Government policies, when it comes to viewing the populace as a whole, will undergo great changes. The medical system will be re-evaluated: distribution of wealth will be re-evaluated: earning structures will be re-accessed: bonuses will be changed, adjusted, and brought into balance: there is a huge imbalance in the bonus structure throughout the U.S.

Tax laws will be a primary focus for change. It is from the tax law aspect that all the others will branch out. Those of your friends who are involved in taxation, will find themselves on quicksand. They will not be able to keep up with the new taxation laws. And all of this will be for the betterment of the country and the World. This does not mean that the U.S. is the spearhead for the world, but it is one of the points of illumination that will take place over the next 2 years.

A second point will be Japan and a third point will be South America. That will go into complete flux. The South Americans will find the rug being pulled out from under their feet. There will be utter chaos for an extended period.

Others around the world will also re-evaluate self. You will find the African system, which are already riddled with corruption, coming into a new level of balance. This does not mean everything will be sorted out, but a new level of balance will be found and that will radiate outward and affect the Far East.

Australia is undecided, there will be huge upheavals, either in the positive frame or the negative, but that has not been decided yet. The country has not yet made a choice.

Group Member: Can you tell us about India?

🌈 When speaking about India, we must tie the fiscal aspect into others. We do not wish to limit it to money. The markets will continue to be volatile for awhile, but there will be rises over the next 2 years. Political threat will come in. There will be pockets where there is political unrest around the country, not just your city, and not just the capital, but around the country.

As we said before, the youth of India will rise up very strongly. You will see new and powerfully implemented aspects coming through your youth. They will stand up, they will speak out, they will declare what must be and they will work fearlessly, in balance, towards this goal.

If you watch your own children, those who are under the age of 18, if you watch your own children very carefully over the next 2 years, you will see a tremendous energetic surge in them. They will become defined, they will have strong opinions, they will speak these out clearly and fearlessly, they will not accept your discipline easily, they will fight you, they will fight you quite consciously, all to establish their personal authority and to prove, not to you, but to self and to the world, that the power of the youth must now be heard.

So this youth power, along with financial instability, along with political instability, will bring about glorious new changes for your country, but the road will not always be smooth.

You will also find over the next 2 years, physical upheavals happening once again in India- Earthquakes, floods, a few areas of destruction, re-alignment and re- adjustment of Earth energies. Nothing will be insurmountable. Nothing will be too major. But this must happen. We urge you, as light workers, not to stop them, but in fact to provoke them. When you hear of one such an event, add your energies to it, so that you merge, you become one with the energies, you are not separating yourself from them and at the same time you are permitting them to occur and work, as they must, in the smoothest and most effective manner. You are not causing more turbulence: on the contrary, you are spreading it out with your energy, permitting a smooth and easy occurrence.

Group Member: How do you send your energy out?

🌈 You will find your own unique way to do it. But we will give you a generalization. Let us say you hear of an earthquake in a part of your country, instantly link with the earthquake, visualize it happening, add your energies to it, and see it occurring, don't stop it, but see it occurring smoothly, so only that aspect that needs to be destroyed, or removed is affected.

Let us explain this: you are all aware when any natural disaster takes place, that those who die in it, and those who are injured in it, have all contracted to go through this experience. That is a generalization.

Now let us look at this more closely: yes, those who have contracted to go through a violence experience and exit the earth plane will do so. Those who have chosen to be untouched, but just witness it and learn personal lessons through the experience, will do just that.

But there is an in-between category, those who are unsure, energetically, whether they wish to participate, grow and develop through the experience or not. These people sometimes vacillate till the last minute, and they can actually 'tilt' into one side of the experience, when they actually prefer the other. It is like not being able to save yourself falling off the cliff at that last moment when you have decided to live. But by then the physical event is so far gone, that they are swept away by the tide.

If you add your energies to an event such as this, you will be serving these wonderful people. Helping them gain clarity, so they can choose definitely what they wish to experience. And for the others, you are just facilitating a smooth and easy personal process.

Group Member: If you are giving energies to the earthquake, the earthquake has already happened, so people who tilt and choose to pass on, how do they choose....?

🌈 The best would be, while the event is happening, the best would be, the instant you hear of the event taking place, add your energies to it. If in linear time, you have heard about it after it has happened, you can still add your energies to it; because time is not linear, past, present and future exist together. You know that, and this goes for all of you.

Let us assume that you have sat for an examination and you have come out and are worried about the results the next day, and you say 'I could have done better yesterday', you can instantly energize the examination as it is still occurring, even though, in your time-frame, it is over. You can energize it with your highest potential. This does not mean that you will instantly stand first in class! What you have done is to align it with your own energies, to ensure the best possible outcome for YOU. You are empowering that aspect of you that is sitting at that instant in time, writing the paper.

If you have had a fight with someone, and you look back in hindsight and say "I wish I had not said those words to my husband or wife" you can also go back and energize the event and align it with Self, so that the best aspects have been picked up by the other, and those aspects that you are not comfortable with, are now even picked up by them. Why? Because you have learnt your lesson!

Group Member: How do you that practically?

🌈 By believing in it and by just doing it.

You do have the right and the power to move across time and energize any aspect, even your own birth, to facilitate the most expanded manner of energetic involvement between Self and the event, which could mean, in moving back in time, you are actually increasing the fight, rather than reducing it, because that may be most perfect for you and the husband. And what will happen, is that his perception of the fight, will then be bigger or smaller, depending what is best for you. Now is the time not to wonder how to it, it is just the time to do it.

Group Member: Reverting back to the money question. I consider Bill Gates, Donald Trump and Dhirubhai Ambani, Masters of Money. Can you give us a little insight on how their energies play....?

🌈 A beautiful question. Let us examine each one:

Bill Gates is indeed a Money Master, because his internal focus has nothing to do with money. He internally wished an energetic flow to commence between the Universe and Self. It was completely selfish. Let us not look at him now from the view point of being this magnificent Earth mover. That occurred later. But his own personal belief in Self and the Universe and the power to generate, and maintain an energetic circle (what you would call the 'OM') is so strong and has been with him through so many lifetimes, that he simply arrived and re-created it. He did this for many reasons. We will not go into his personal growth reasons as they are private to him. But we will look at the Universal reasons.

He has served

- 1) To help others see that they can generate cash and enterprise, easily and smoothly, if they choose.
- 2) He has financially empowered others to empower Self.
- 3) He has taught others the joy of sharing.
- 4) He has taught others the joy of charity in its most balanced form. Bill Gates does approximately 100 times more charity than any of you are aware of, and we are not only speaking of financial charity. He does energetic charity. He does this not for self-glorification, but because IT IS THE ONLY WAY HE CAN BE.

If we were to ask you to only breathe in, and not breathe out, could you? Of course not! For him, the generation and re-distribution of wealth is as natural as the breathe in-breathe out process.

- 5) His energetic view, his example and his leadership have taught almost the entire world to RESPECT that aspect that you perceive as money.

We will now speak of Donald Trump. His is a parallel energy. (Sohrab putting right palm over the left palm in a clasp).

There is an energy within him that is in perfect balance and abundance and there is a 'piggyback' energy that is everything that you do not wish to be: Ostentatious, arrogant, opinionated, dismissive of others, self for self alone, greed, and vulgarity. And the beauty is that he has embraced the two aspects of self, fully and joyously!

He does not perceive his greed as greed. He perceives it as the most beautiful bounty the Universe has given him. He does not perceive his vulgarity as vulgarity, he see it as beauty. And the opinions the Donald Trump generates are extreme. People hate him, despise him, loathe him, find him vulgar, distasteful, and look at the beautiful global mirror he is showing you.

Look at these aspects in Self. And at the same time, he is a Master of Money. He is a true Master of Money, as he has embraced every aspect of Self with no judgment. How many of you can say that you have done that?

Group Member: Dhirubhai Ambani...

🌈 You wish us to speak about Dhirubhai or of the collective?

Group Member: Both...

🌈 Let us speak of the Dhirubhai...What do you think of him?

Group Member: Well I read his book and I am pretty confused, but whatever he has done, he's done and he has been very successful and I think he is a Master and at par with the Indian economy...and why not?

🌈 Let us hear some general views...

Group Member: He will not stop at anything, to get his money and his thing, whatever he wants...

Group Member: I'd say hats off to him, he beat the system...something I would love to do..

Group Member: Single focus...

Group Member: He enriched many people...

Group Member: Ruthless...

Group Member: He broke the tradition...inaudible...he believed in the common man...and come up so big...industrialist....

🌈 All of this is true, but why? He respected his energy, because he did not see himself as different from other people, and HIS SINGULAR FOCUS HAS BEEN TO TEACH OTHERS

TO RESPECT SELF AS MUCH AS HE RESPECTS SELF, WHICH INCLUDES EVERY ASPECT OF ABUNDANCE.

He never doubted he could do it. Even in poverty, he knew he was fully abundant within. So the trappings of external poverty had no bearing on his life. He believed he was fully abundant and he simply manifested exactly what HE KNEW HE WAS.

In doing this, he was able to work for people and with people. His focus was not money. It was not even the energy of money. IT WAS THE ENERGY OF PEOPLE. His singular focus was to acknowledge to the world and to Self, a collective energy of the people, knowing that when you see each other as One, nothing is impossible.

Three different perspectives of Money:

The Ambani Group

As a whole has many energetic aspects to it. Let us assure you that the wives, who many not play a direct part in the business, are equally important, energetically.

The group, though it has been doing miraculously well, is likely to undergo shakeups. There is personal growth needed now by individual members within the group, including the shareholders. All will now be asked to question the power of the group collective.

Group Member: I am already questioning it

🌈 Not many of the shareholders see it as an energetic collective of which they are a vital part; they still see it as an 'outside aspect' that is earning income for them. They do not see themselves as participators in a group collective, generating wealth, finance and abundance for Self and others. So the group must be shaken up, till even the shareholders see themselves as one united front, when it will once again expand.

Group Member: Is the divided family is good...?

🌈 Those were for completely different reasons and in fact was the best gift that he could give his own family. They were not for the business. They were predominantly for family personal growth. Indirectly, it of course affected the business, but the ripple effect is minimal.

Group Member: ...So the volatile status of the money markets is coinciding with Pluto transiting from Sagittarius to Capricorn, I need to know the astrological....

🌈 Please describe to the group, the effects that Pluto and Capricorn have on financial abundance.

Group Member: Pluto is the planet of Death and Rebirth. So there definitely will be an upheaval in the consciousness of human kind, to let go of old beliefs, and develop new beliefs. And Capricorn is an earth sign, and represents tangible assets, and physical wealth.

🌈 Need we say more?

The Earth, as a collective, over the next 2 years, will indeed re-evaluate its concepts and beliefs in money, finance and abundance, and you will find, slowly emerging from this, a new and joyous understanding of the flow. The flow that must exist. Money is not “a means to an end”. Money is an energy, a tangible energy. The notes and coins you hold in your hands MUST NOW be respected as AN ENERGETIC ENTITY, just as you would respect a friend.

Respect your wealth. Find out what the word ‘respect’ means to you, and each will have different definitions. And find your way of respecting money in general, and your personal wealth specifically.

You may think it strange that we are urging you to go the financial root, rather than an emotional one.

Energetically, the power of Money is at its peak. It is ONLY BECAUSE it is at its peak, that it is permitted to be volatile on earth. It is only when you are physically strong that you CAN run a marathon. If the energy of money is weak, Earth stabilizes, comes into a state of dormancy, where nothing very much happens financially till the power once again rises.

The consciousness of humans on Earth, along with the power of money, then starts changing and evolving, and people’s perception change, grow and develop. Money must be respected.

Note on Manifestation.

Dear Friends, as you will remember, at each meeting we are going to discuss a different aspect of manifestation, because this is the Year of Manifestation.

Two things are being very strongly manifest by many humans on Earth, this year.

- 1) The change in exit points.
- 2) Change in life-threatening diseases.

You will see this happening more and more around you this year. Watch for it. These are people who have been told by astrologers that 'their time is up', and even when they are very sick, they seem to miraculously recover and live on.

The image I am being given, to describe to you, is this: you are in a room, and it has three doors. In the past, these would have been your various exit points, and you would have HAD to leave the room through one of the three.

Now our energetic power is so strong that we have the tools within us to carve several other doors in the walls. We are no longer limited to three exit points, or even to time frames. We decide as we go along.

Similarly, humanity's power is so great, that even the cancers and debilitating diseases can be changed in an instant. An inner realization is needed for this. The lessons the disease has been manifested for can be learned at a quicker pace now, and the moment this is done, the person can instantly transmute his physical state into wellness.

Watch for this, you'll see it happening around you, and you must know that you have the same power.

Thank You.
