Psychic Node Implants in Humans
Imagination Does Not Exist
The Future Creates the Present
The New Blueprint

Trance Channeling begins

A major world event is imminent and we ask you to lend your energies to this, in a very special way. We are deliberately not giving you details, as then your conditioned mind would come in and cause resistance within self. Do not simply lend your energies this time, we wish you to go a step further and be a part of this event, fully, totally and completely. This means that you will lend the event your energetic support, your non-judgmentalism, your wholehearted energetic passion, and your whole beingness.

Take a moment right her, right now, and transport yourselves in completeness: not only your energies, but your physical body, your physical mind, your consciousness, and let it be a part of this magnificent event. Expand yourself in joy - pledge from within that you choose, of your own volition, to be a complete part of this event. Infuse this event with your entire beingness, your energies, your consciousness, your physical body, your mind, your knowledge, your wisdom, your expansion. Become a part of it .

There are a very few amongst you who have consciously chosen not to be part of this, we respect your decision.

Thank you, you have now made the commitment and you will be and you are a part of it. Your support, your focus and your dedication, in complete faith and trust is commended. Your faith and trust in self.

BLESSINGS FROM THE COSMIC BOARD

A new series of PSYCHIC NODES have now been instilled in the human body. Yes, this has already taken place, and each one of you has now been imbued with these new psychic nodes. As of yet, they are not physical nodes, but in a few years, they will develop a physicality of their own, which will then be recognized by medical science.

These nodes are not placed in the third-eye area, but are equally distributed all over the physical body and each person's nodes are slightly differently placed, depending on their suitability for the individual. They are like a series of tiny star-like protrusions, and together will form a new neural network.

These nodes will facilitate the return of all the psychic faculties that you have lost over time. The ability to sense more clearly; the ability to communicate mentally with telepathy; the ability to see, to foretell, to predict; the ability to be more in tune with self and therefore to be more in tune with the world around you. The ability to communicate at a higher level with plants, animals and the earth herself. The ability to receive messages offered joyously by various beings that are not in physical form. The ability to appreciate self anew.

This is a process of metamorphosis, as demanded by the human race. An evolution of the species, just as you shed your unwanted tails in the past, just as certain sea creatures became amphibious.

We use the word “node” loosely, as there is no actual word to describe these points of energetic light. But we use the word ‘node’, as they are hubs or centers within you that will communicate freely and easily with one another, within the physical body. These nodes can never be ‘blocked’: a free flow of energies will take place simultaneously, like a magnificent circuit and they will work independent of the physical bodily functions. In other words, you may have disease or a blockage in a certain area, but the nodes, when fully installed, will work completely independently, with a circuitry of their own.

Group Member: Its not at work right now?

🌈 It has just being installed – let us say it is in the process of spreading itself through your physical body. All of you have a certain amount of nodes that are still being constructed and others which will be constructed over time, but the energies pathways are now flowing.

Group Member: When will it be fully active?

🌈 That is individual to each person. But to generalize, we would say these will be up and active for active use in about 5 years. But this does not mean you cannot harness the energies right now, and it does not mean you cannot be psychic without the nodes.

Now do not use this as a crutch once again, we are simply offering you this explanation, so that you are aware of what is happening within you and you are aware of heightened synchronicity that is taking place around you. Have you not all noticed, for example, that you now think of someone, and the phone rings, and that person is on the line? That more and more 'coincidental' occurrences are now taking place in your life? That you are contemplating a certain topic, and a book or film appears, dealing with just that? All of this is now getting heightened, as these nodes spread themselves through you and form the appropriate energetic pathway.

Group Member: Eventually will they connect to glands?

🌈 – Eventually they will connect to every single part of the physical human body, but that will occur in a phased manner.

The first step will be for them to connect with the brain pathways, the second step will be for them to forge links with the various glands in the human body, and the third step will be for them to forge relationships with the appropriate organs that they know, at that moment in time, are open and ripe for unification. There will be no strict pattern for human beings: each one will forge his own connections in his own manner and therefore human beings will become more and more expanded and more and more unique and in this uniqueness they will also appreciate their own power at greater and greater levels of understanding of self.

Group Member: Source is having fun!

🌈 – You are having fun! You are choosing to mutate and eventually these glands will be the most beautiful aspect of the physical human body, which will give you the ability to do as you wish, in your day to day life! Let us use our friend here as an example (indicating Sanjay). He is an airline pilot. When these glands are full active, he will not need instruments, he will be able to navigate on his own, with pure intuition and in full synchronicity with his craft, with the people within his craft and with the destination he is approaching!

The human body and the human beingness have chosen now to mutate and to advance in a manner most appropriate for them. Just as you shed your physical tails many billion years ago, as you had no more need for them, and just as you improved the power of your physical brain, many, many hundreds and thousands of years ago, because you had need for it, the call of the current time is for unification: not just on Earth, but unification of the universe. You have now all come, as a collective species, to desire a new level of growth and expansion. Hence you are creating within self, the appropriate tools to serve you in this collective desire.

Group Member: So we are becoming magicians?

🌈 You already ARE magicians! Let us remind you of some of the miracles you have already created for self: a heart that pumps blood around the body for an entire lifespan. A beautiful body that walks, talks, thinks, grows, and regenerates!

Group Member: Can I ask a question? Can you explain synchronicity, Vis-à-Vis critical mass?

🌈 That is not for today, dear friend. But we will touch upon synchronicity, if you wish, in relation to the current discussion.

Like attracts like:

As you evolve, little 'receptors' within the entire physical body start to grow and attract to self, aspects that they need for the development of the overall beingness. These receptors are actually not physical cellular structures at all; they are little open cones of energy that are attached to every single cell in your body.

These receptors hear and assimilate what is within the structure to which they are attached, and put out a call to the universe demanding further information, further growth, for the betterment of that organ, for that cell.

For example: as you grow in your spiritual quest, these receptors draw to you experiences that offer you every opportunity to expand in this area: books, conversations with like-minded individuals, meetings such as this one, and opportunities of all kinds, serving this quest. With this, you grow further, and the receptors put out a call for a higher level of events, offering you once again the opportunity to expand your boundaries.

This cellular-energetic process is what you term 'synchronicity'.

Group Member: Isn't everything synchronous?

🌈 Of course.

Group Member: How do you activate synchronicity?

🌈 Vibration - inner vibration. Synchronicity depends entirely on energetic vibration, because every single thing in the universe has a vibration of its own. Even anti-matter, even spaces that are energy-less, have a unique vibration of their own.

The OM has within itself every aspect of vibration that ever has been, ever is, and ever will be. Within the sound of 'OM' are gaps or spaces which have a vibration of energyless-ness, those you cannot pick up as they are not part of your stream, but a being-ness across the universe who is energyless, will only hear and vibrate with those aspects of the OM and he will not be affected by those that affect you.

Group Member: How does imagination work with synchronicity? And how does it increase the vibration?

🌈 Humans have a limited concept of imagination. You think that imagination comes from the mind, and in your case, for the most part, it does.

The mind has, within itself, liquid light (layer upon layer upon layer of consciousness) and therefore, the mind has within itself, experiences it has gained over every single lifetime ever experienced.

These layers of liquid light are not all active. It would be inappropriate for you to recollect every aspect of every life you have lived, while in 3rd-dimensional physical existence. If you could, the flood of memories would cause you to self-destruct, defeating the purpose of your current existence. However, your 'imagination' comes from this reservoir of experiences.

YOU CAN NEVER 'IMAGINE' SOMETHING THAT YOU HAVE NOT ALREADY 'EXPERIENCED'.

So, if you 'imagine' yourself on another planet, in a different physical form, is it something that you have dredged out from the dormant layers of your own liquid light.

Are you aware that everything in existence has some form of 'imagination'? Even a rock on your planet.

Group Member: Does imagination create the future? I mean it is all linear, simultaneous?

🌈 It's all simultaneous, dear one. Shall we confuse you even further? (All laugh)

The future, that is a probable future for you, sends back energies that provoke liquid light within your brain, permitting you to dredge up that which you wish to access from self to lead you back to that probable future. So it comes as a loop from your future, creating your present, creating your future.

Group Member: Oops, so the future is creating the present?

🌈 The future is creating the present; the present doesn't create the future. And because you have so many probabilities in your future, the streams of light come back to you activate those aspects within self that give you alternatives you can decide to choose.

Let us understand this with a hypothetical example: you are a young student, you have just finished college and you do not know what to do with your life. You narrow it down to three possibilities: a doctor, a natural healer or ...an actor.

These three 'energetic probabilities' in your future start feeding back energies into your present brain, activating your liquid light, which in turn dredges up your past experiences in these fields. This you interpret as imagination or daydreaming about the future. Your entire beingness starts coming into play, urging you in the most appropriate direction for the experiences you wish to garner in this lifetime.

Sometimes, all three would be equally valid for different streams of growth and development. That is when the human being goes into an energetic 'tizzy'. They truly sometimes do not know where to go, because each of the three would offer them an experience they need on this Earth.

That is when genuine free will, coupled with a little nudging from the higher beingness, directs you on one of the paths and the other two return to being simple probabilities and when you take one path, then various experiences occur along that road, giving you fulfillment for your growth and development and you may differ the other two paths for another lifetime, or you may choose to undergo experiences from those paths within this one. It is highly complex.

Many of you have these thoughts:

"What if I had taken a different life course?"

"What if I had married somebody else? What if I hadn't married at all? What if I had?"

"What if I had studied further?"

"What if I had taken up that particular job?" And so on.

Let us assure you of two things:

- (1) That you made the right choice, because every choice is right.
- (2) You are now at an energetic level where you can shift paths if you choose, or remain on the same path and draw to this path the experiences from other life paths, and undergo them all simultaneously right here, right now.

Group Member: So the Blueprint is redundant?

🌈 Finished, over, and done with!

Group Member: Yes! I love it. Thank you (laughing)

🌈 That's why you are 'floating'. This is another reason why so many people are feeling directionless, rudder-less and confused right now.

The Blueprint is now done away with. You have emerged from your cocoon of security.

Group Member: So what happens to relationships, in the quivering ----

🌈 What will happen to relationships in the quivering?

Group Member: As far as I am concerned, it will only be the 'right human relationship' which is appropriate for me, that's it.

🌈 The board game of the blueprint is over. You have no path to follow blindly. No dice to roll. No secure game plan beneath your feet. So now what?

Group Member: 'I am'

🌈 So, you play the 'I am' and you play it at every instant. The game you wish to play today may not be the one you choose for tomorrow. And you can change the rules as well!

Group Member: Yes, everything is changing so fast.

🌈 And therefore, relationships will now undergo major changes, where energetic ties are over, they will simply fall apart. And where energies need to merge, they will merge to a level of merger you have never known before.

Group Member: Even Blood ties.

🌈 Blood ties actually have very little to do with this. Energetic ties are energetic ties, some will be blood, some will be friend ties, soul ties. But now cosmic ties take full precedence over blood ties, family ties, friendships or anything. Cosmic ties. Every human being is now in the process of fully reinventing self (due to the lack of a fall-back blueprint), and simultaneously forging new ties with the cosmos, and with energies never before experienced.

Everyone is on a journey of cosmic exploration. Explorers into the unknown.

Dear friends, it is a glorious time: do not get caught in the physical appearance of what is taking place around you...political, legal and governmental confusion. All of this must occur, as humanity sheds the old, and reinvents self. The NEW YOU must emerge, with limitless power, vision and self-awareness.

BLESSINGS FROM THE ENERGIES OF THE SOLAR SYSTEM.

BLESSINGS FROM THE MAYANS

A new set of our prophecies will shortly be discovered, these are now ready to be released to the peoples of Earth. Heed them well, but do not get bound by them.

THE KEY to these prophecies is to resonate with the word and to make it yours. That is the cipher. You cannot hang onto the words alone; you must add your power, your energies and YOUR INTERPRETATION to them. These prophecies are the most unique ever given to human kind, as they will be different and have a different meaning to every single human being.

BLESSINGS.
