Trance Channeling begins

Meher Baba: Baddhao kem che aaje? Kem mai, soo chalech, aah?

Group Member: – First class

Meher Baba: – 1st class, A1 –

Group Member: You haven't come for a long time!

Meher Baba: To a group member– Have you brought me cake? Aah, that's why I have come. (All laughing)

Meher Baba: To another group member – A blocked issue is coming up: you need to speak out; you need to speak your truth! Don't push it back, speak out with no fear, and confront the issue. What do you fear? I am with you. Within the next three days, you must confront the issue and you must speak out, aloud, verbally. It will go. You are so powerful, why are you holding back? You have the support of such a lot of friends. Please speak out, otherwise your knees will start to give you trouble next. Do not manifest that.

[MEHER BABA BLESSES THE GROUP]

The St. Germain: Good Evening, friends! Let us speak today of THE CHILD: we will speak not only of the physical child, but of your inner child as well.

2008 is the 'The year of the child' on Planet Earth and as such, you have already witnessed the child speaking up: groups of children establishing their power, other groups of children joyously proclaiming their strength and refusing to kowtow to the oppression of adults. You have also noticed your own inner child erupting from time to time!

Let us examine the child from birth to teenage-hood. You have now understood that the human blueprint has now dissolved; therefore the children being born today (and during the last two weeks) are arriving with no pre-planned strategy.

Does this mean they are 'floating free'? Not entirely. Before incarnating onto Planet Earth, these children (with the help of their guides, their friends, their masters and their own power) have set out a certain 'series of opportunities' that they may or may not choose, when they encounter them on Planet Earth.

This is completely different from a planned blueprint, with inviolable cornerstones and many 'must-do' circumstances. Instead of a clear map, they now choose to present self (when in this physical incarnation) with a series of opportunities, from time to time, which they may or may not choose to explore, depending on their level of growth at the time the opportunities appear. This assessment of self will therefore take place on a moment-to-moment basis!

Do you see how freeing this is? Let us understand this with an example: A child, only 18 months old, draws to self the opportunity to experience abuse from a parent. The child, even at that young age, has the power to choose to go through that experience, or to change it. If he wishes to change it, the parents will either move away or simply stop being abusive. The child might create a relative or social-worker, who will then appear to remove him from that environment.

We deliberately gave you this example to help you explode your belief systems about defenselessness, victimhood and abuse. This is the level of power of the child being born today.

Group Member: So it is synchronicity of evolution that is creation?

The St. Germain: Absolutely.

The difference between this child and you, when you were at the same age, is this: you had a fixed structure, this child does not; you did not have knowledge of your own power, this child does. It is an innate vibration within the physical structure of the child that resonates at all times and keeps that child in full contact with his highest beingness. The children of today will not lose connection with self, as you did.

Group Member: Good!

All of you, as you grew older, slowly pulled down the 'veils of forgetfulness'. Your conditioning served to aid you in this process. None of you severed all contact with self, but most reduced it to the bare minimum.

The child of today will hold onto his connections much longer than you did, and even when he does draw down this veil, it will be such a fine veil, that he will have access to self at all times, regardless of his age or mental development.

That is why we said, 'from now on, children will not listen to instructions'. These children can be guided but not lead. They can be taught structure, but they cannot be caged.

They will not be able to fit into your current educational system. Many will rebel in his or her own manner and as such, it is growth and development for you to learn to change your rigid structures. Teachers from now on who are not enlightened beings, will either have nervous breakdowns or will begin to look for other professions! They will not be able to handle the mass 'resistance' that they will face from the youngsters of today.

The beautiful part is, most of the youngsters will not be angst-ridden, as so many in the last generation were. The 'angst-ridden phase' was simply a bridge for the child to grow from the conformist to the non-conformist. But, a non-conformists in an expanded and divine manner.

If you do not heed the child's structure, his personal vibration, the music of his soul, you will never be able to guide him. In this process, the parents will grow: those who will have the most difficulty with their children will be the ones most stuck in their own structure. They will have deliberately chosen these children, to facilitate their own changes.

The children of today who are now born with any kind of physical or mental 'disability' are NOT choosing to experience this out of any resolution of past karma....they will choose this for tremendous future growth of self, and to be soul teachers to all those in their ambit: their immediate caretakers, their extended family, their friends and their acquaintances. Remember this well...they are teachers coming with and on a mission.

Group Member: Even the ones born in the 1990's?

The St.Germain: Some of the 'afflicted' children born in the 1990s were the forerunners of this generation, but not all. Many of these children were simply the bridge between older and newer energies.

Now, speaking in general about the 'new' breed of children: in their EARLY CHILDHOOD, many will have a 'rough time', as they are of a new structure, being born into a world that still contains old energies. You, the light workers of the world, who are in existence right now, are the path breakers, you have set the new energies in motion, but it is these children who must finish the process for you. So you and they together are needed for energy evolution to take place.

Between THE AGES OF 5 TO 8, they will start to 'blossom', and grow into a powerful awareness of themselves. Many parents will have also settled into degrees of appreciation of the individuality and power of the child and his soul. A Soul who has come through the parents, but not to the parents.

Many child prodigies will emerge. Some on a global scale, others prodigies in a more intimate manner...those who influence their immediate surroundings and personal circles with their light, power and innate gifts.

So can you see the beautiful light that will now flow onto Plant Earth through these beautiful youngsters? It may interest you to know that a lot of these youngsters will be the souls who were relatives of your, who were very rigid or stuck in their old beingness. They will deliberately choose to incarnate at this time, to burst out of their own shell.

Many will now say, 'I am sure this is my grandfather, my father, my mother, and my aunt' and they will be correct, as the old rigid structures remain rigid even on the other side, and they sometimes need a physical experience to shatter them completely. When these children reach their EARLY TEENS teens, many will once again go into a silent, introspective phase. Parents may wonder, "What has happened to my vibrant youngster? There is suddenly no communication with my son, why is my daughter so withdrawn? What have I done wrong?"

This phase will have little to do with the parent at all, it will simply be the child going inward, reconnecting with self, and assessing where and how he wishes to progress, and what new choices to now make.

Many early teens will make 'vigorous' choices which will puzzle and perhaps upset the parents: some will begin to lead very independent lives, some will suddenly switch educational streams and develop passionate likes and dislikes for certain subjects. New and outlandish hobbies and obsessions may emerge.

A child who has always shown an inclination for the sciences may suddenly lose all interest here, and switch to the arts. It may confuse you, as you still see things as separate, but they will only be able to see all fields and choices as extensions of each other. They will understand the inherent relationship between mathematics and art, between science and creativity, between art and commerce.

In their LATE TEENS, these children will have very, very definite goals in mind, and nothing that their parents or advisers say or do will shake their resolve. That is the level of inner confidence and power they will be able to touch. Parents who are not in sync with their children's rhythms may consider them mavericks, radicals or wastrels, but they are simply being directed by the flow of the inner voice.

These children will vibrate the earth at new levels, they will cause shifts and effect changes, they will speak up and speak out, and they will not blindly follow tradition and old ways. They will refuse to accept anything that is not for the unification of humanity.

Group Member: Will the children be able to cope academically? How will they meet their requirements there?

The St. Germain: They will not meet your requirements at all!

Group Member: Not mine, not mine, I don't expect it from!

The St. Germain: They will refuse to meet the requirements of the current educational system, they will rebel, and they will force the new structure to emerge. So you will have trouble.

Group Member: I feel that you have described my daughter! She writes some of her letters and numbers in reverse, mirror writing, now that's one of the symptoms of 'dyslexia', but it doesn't bother me at all, because I don't categorize it: that's just the way she sees the letters. On the other hand, she brings home a reading book, and only the teacher enters the title of the book into the diary and I have to sign it after reading it with her. The teacher forgot to write the title and the date, so she asked me the date, she filled in what the teacher should be filling in, in the teacher's column, the teacher didn't react badly, she just said, 'Oh my God just look at her' – the teacher didn't bother how she had written, what the teacher is focusing on, is that she can take on the responsibility of filling in the book.

The St. Germain: What is going on in a child who sees mirror images in pictures, numbers and letters? Would anyone like to hazard an opinion?

Group Member: Seeing self, a reflection of self?

The St. Germain: To a certain degree. This child, when she develops, will be able to see 'both sides of the picture' of any situation, fully and without judgment. It is a great strength. This child is also tapping into a parallel universe. The parallel universe stream is flowing as fluidly as the current universe stream and the child has not been able to segregate the two. This will happen in time and the reverse images will slow down and finally fade away. Do not hasten the process.

Group Member: No, neither are the teachers, they are very relaxed about it.

The St. Germain: The child is also a master at being able to access the masculine and feminine together, without seeing the separation of the two. You have already been told that the two sides of the human brain are now merging. Thus the child is already integrating aspects of the masculine and the feminine, smoothly and easily.

Group Member: There is this 4 year old kid in my nephew's class who paints beautifully, but leaving the picture out and colors the whole background.

The St. Germain: This child has such a magnificently expanded view of the universe, he cannot see the small picture, he can only see the larger picture. This child will have to learn in time that, in physical existence, one has to also incorporate the small picture. But as of now, his consciousness is so vast, his entire focus is in the vastness, he is not interested in the mundane aspects of third-dimensional human life. He is a great Master and he will be a radical in the future. He will teach the world in his own way, through art, through writing, through speaking out; he will show the world how to look at aspects they just do not acknowledge in self. The vastness of self. Mark these words well, pass on this information to the parents, if you wish.

Group Member: I know of just such a child, her brain is very large. She is brilliant, she has an IQ of about 190, and yet she is being treated for dyslexia, she is being treated for schizophrenic, and now, as she is a teenager, she is unable to cope with her sexual urges. How can one help her cope with all this?

The St. Germain: In this particular case, dear friend, this is not what you would call a greatly expanded soul. This is a soul who has caused great pain and confusion within self, over lifetimes. There has been self-sabotage and deliberate self-mutilation, lifetime after life time, and this particular soul has gone into a downward spiral. From time to time she has attempted to correct this, but has generally moved further into her own confusion. Do not judge this: it is this particular soul's manner of growth. By hitting 'rock bottom' and finally rising up, she will, in the future, be a magnificent counselor and healer, able to guide other through her own sheer experience.

You cannot take away her experience, but you can help her smoothen the rough path by teaching her how to 'compartmentalize'. You may wonder at this piece of advice, as we generally urge all of you to do just the opposite, and find the unity in all things!

But in this particular case, if the child is trained how to separate sections of her life (the family compartment, the friends compartment, the instructors' compartment, the self compartment etc), she will then have small 'retreats' she can go into, when things seem to get out of hand. It will help her find an internal structure, and give her a safety net.

Group Member: You said that many of the children born in the 90s are serving as a bridge between the old and the new. I am surrounded by children who ask me questions, because they know that I do a lot of psychic work, but there is such an element of disbelief in the children, they will listen, but at the end of it, it is like a 'ha, I don't believe you'.

The St. Germain: The children of the 90s, in general, need to affirm energies for self; they cannot take the word of any other, therefore they are open, and they are listening to a lot more than they let on.

A vast majority of them will suddenly draw experiences to self, which will validate your words and at a future growth date, they will come back and tell you this. Others will sever this portion from their lives. And those who cut it off, will cut it off so strongly, they will be even more resistance than their parents generation, but that is needed for their course of life. So, do what you must, and the fact that they have come into your ambit, means that you are responsible to open their doors, but you cannot push them through the doors. Just open the doors.

Group Member: When you say there is no blueprint, does that mean there is no distinct personality?

The St. Germain: Did we say that?

Group Member: No, I mean, when you say that 'there is no blueprint', are there now just infinite possibilities?

The St. Germain: How many in this room are unclear about the term 'blueprint'? (Several raised their hands)

Every soul takes various incarnations to grow and develop through experience. Before a soul takes an incarnation, he enters into a detailed discussion with his own self, with various masters and friends, and with loved ones, and plots a course for this upcoming 'life'.

Souls naturally choose several aspects of self to examine during a lifetime. Let us take just one, to understand this better.

A soul wishing to learn and grow through 'tolerance' may choose to incarnate into a family that is extremely intolerant, to once again 'set the stage'. He will, at the same time, place in his upcoming life, several opportunities to exercise his tolerance.

Let us suppose that he has come into a fanatical Hindu family, who cannot abide Muslims. He will naturally be raised with this belief, and at the same time, he will meet, along his life journey, several very loving and benevolent Muslims. He may even fall in love with a Muslim. This gives him an opportunity to re-assess his values. If he learns his lesson, his karma is over.

The same soul may have chosen other circumstances: he may have incarnated into a very open and loving family, to learn 'tolerance' through example instead. But remember, even in this case, his past urgings of intolerance will surface from within him!

Within the Blueprint, up to now, there have also been cornerstones. Inviolable aspects for personal growth that could not be shifted, come what may. Many marriages are cornerstone contracts. Poverty could be a cornerstone choice.

Now, there are no more Blueprints. Imagine your freedom! And all of you have chosen to incarnate at this time, so that you could go through both sets of experiences: having one, and then shedding it!

Now, your past karma, your past trauma, has no meaning anymore. You are in full power. Your life is now open-ended, and you can choose to undergo experiences, differ them or change them. You are now creating, moment to moment!

Group Member: So... infinite possibilities.

The St. Germain: Yes, Infinite possibilities and also, the opportunity to experience at any time, and at any level of intensity.

Let us use the prior example. If you have come to work with 'tolerance', and have been doing so upto now in this lifetime, you may now choose to continue the work, differ it or ignore it altogether. You can also increase or decrease the intensity of the life lessons you have chosen.

You have all grown into such a level of power that you are now ready to work it out yourself. You still have access to your friends and Masters, but now you go to them only for guidance, you cannot 'lean' on them anymore. You must make all your own decisions.

Group Member: So what happens to a child who is born on the 6th of July?

The St. Germain: The cut off point is not exactly that. Some children even being born at this moment, may still have a strong hangover with the Blueprint, but we are talking in general. Understand this, your Blueprint has gone, but there is an energetic hangover that you are still experiencing.

Let us try and help you understand this within Earth analogy. You have all been actors in a magnificent Bollywood film: so you have gone on a set and you have understood the role and you have put on your make-up on and you have gone before the camera and you have given a magnificent performance.

You have laughed and cried, you have been murdered and raped, you have run around trees singing, you have seduced a loved one....you have done it all.

Now you have gone home again with a DVD of that film in hand. The experience is over, but the memory of all of it is still very fresh.

Now you have a choice: You can lock yourself up at home and replay the old DVD again and again; or you can put the DVD away on a shelf, and go out and make a new and exciting movie, with a different story line, playing a very different role.

The soul who chooses the second option does not forget what has happened in the first film. It has simply become a part of his experience, internalized and put aside for the moment. He is now ready for a fresh look at things. He realizes that the past DVD is a part of self, but it is not who he is NOW.

Let us now examine the INNER CHILD. When we speak of the Inner child, we speak of these energies that permeate every single level of your growth, from the foetus to the adult.

If you scanned self energetically, you would not see one physical body. You would see a series of aspects of self, one inside the other, starting from the foetus, and encompassing every stage of your growth and development, upto your current body and age.

Therefore, you are actually hosting hundreds of thousands of versions of self within your body, each one in energetic contact and exchange with all the others. These are simultaneous, parallel existences of self.

You generally perceive yourself inhabiting your current age, your current physical body and your current state of health and emotions. But this is an illusion. It is like looking at a record being played, and only seeing where the stylus is. But you are, in fact, the whole record, and when you acknowledge this, you can move the stylus to any place on the record.

Therefore, you are concurrently experiencing every aspect that you ever have, from birth to this point in your life. You are experiencing the first moment of entry through the tunnel into the light. You are experiencing the first taste of the milk in your mother's breast. You are experiencing the first time you nappy was changed. You are experiencing the first time you were spanked, you are experiencing your first kiss, you are experiencing everything, simultaneously and concurrently.

Group Member: A kaleidoscope of chaos.

The St. Germain: A kaleidoscope of chaos. Beautifully put! But in chaos is ultimate perfection. In chaos is creation. Therefore, you are recreating every aspect of yourself as the world progresses; therefore you are also the new child born today. There is no difference between the two-week-old child and you.

Group Member: (inaudible) ..how do we make it with all our past baggage?

Sohrab – You have the baggage but you also have the new information, concurrently and simultaneously. So what you choose to dredge up out of your consciousness is your choice.

Let us give you a practical example – you have a certain set of beliefs that have been instilled into you by your parents; you have, concurrently, another set of structures that have been instilled in you by the experiences you have undergone over years; and you have concurrently another set of beliefs that you are existing in right now.

All are simultaneous – you choose which you wish to ‘dredge up’. Your mother or grandmother may have said ‘sex before marriage is unacceptable’; your belief structure is ‘sex before marriage is absolutely fine’: they both exist concurrently in you - your choice. Bring one up, bring the other up, you cannot ‘rid’ yourself of the other as it is part of the energetic structure and has been implanted in you, but you can change the balance, you can change your focus.

Group Member: So, the old beliefs will always exist.

The St. Germain: Of course! Like the DVD on your shelf, which is not playing right now.

Group Member: So you can make the DVD play a new belief.

The St. Germain: These new beliefs are the new Bollywood film in which you are currently acting.

Group Member: You mentioned that the new generation, when they reach their teens, will have strong goals. Why can't we have goals?

The St. Germain: You have them if you choose them! Remember, you are also, concurrently and simultaneously, that teenage child, right here and right now. So you too can experience the ‘effortlessness’ of being born without a blueprint! You can live the life of the pioneer, the maverick and the prodigy.

Group Member: Yo!

The St. Germain: Yo!

Group Member: Are our past memories dissolving?

The St. Germain: No. You are simply shifting focus and creating newer ones. If you recall, we spoke a while ago about all 'imagination' being experiences you have undergone at some point in your existences.

Once upon a time, you learned to focus on how to write individual letters like 'a' 'b' and 'c'. Now you write fluent and mellifluous sentences....your focus is not on single letters, but your memories of having learned how to spell are vital to you, even now.

And why would you wish to even contemplate erasing past memories? Every single experience you have undergone has contributed to making you the vibrant tapestry of self that you are today! Your memories are your flavours, your colours, your textures, your aromas.

Group Member: I just want to say this – that what we have been given today, is an extremely simple, easy, accessible instruction in divine alchemy and who ever can step into this very simple learning and teaching becomes the divine alchemist themselves, you don't even have to go (inaudible)

Group Member: You have been talking of this new generation, are they the same Indigo Children?

The St. Germain: No, they are now the next generation. You will find a term for them.

Group Member: Does the concept of karma still exist?

The St. Germain: No, not at all

Group Member: Not even of past life?

The St. Germain: Do you see how difficult you are finding it to release your old patterns, thought processes and beliefs? It is quite understandable.

Karma is 'action' and 'reaction'. As we explained earlier, if you have chosen to learn 'tolerance', the moment you understand and internalize the fact that Hindus and Muslims are the same human beings, the karma is over. Even if you have killed ten Muslims in your past, the karma is over. You don't have to be killed ten times over, yourself!

But now, even this concept of karma has changed, because you have the power to choose to learn the lesson, to differ it to another time, or to ignore it completely.

So, even though there is no Blueprint, IF YOU JOYOUSLY CHOOSE to learn tolerance, you will still create circumstances that will give you the opportunity to do so. And you will re-evaluate this choice from moment to moment, changing course at any point in time. Your divine will.

Group Member: How are the sciences of Numerology and Tarot affected by these new energies?)

The St. Germain: PLEASE REMEMBER, dear friends, that all these sciences are upgrading so rapidly that your old concepts of them are limited and often do not hold good. Your old concepts and study of these subjects are now only a basis upon which you must CREATE the new information.

You have understood that Planet Earth is currently at the center of the Universe, and that the entire Universe is in a process of upgrade and recreation. New energies are being emitted by each and every celestial body. Numbers are changing. The OM sound is mutating. How can the old information still be valid?

The key to this, as was revealed by the Mayans last week, is to USE YOUR NEW ENERGIES TO UNLOCK THE NEW INFORMATION. Without your power, the existing information is useless, and you will not be able to read further into things. YOU ARE THE KEY.

So now, when you pick up the tarot card, or you create a numerological reading, use your existing knowledge, and ADD TO IT YOUR DIVINE POWER. Ask the cards and the numbers to reveal to you their new information and energies. Ask the clients beingness to do the same for you.

Apply this to your day to day life. If you are going on a journey, for example, add your energies to every step of the process, from the planning of the trip, to the purchase of the tickets, to the flightpath of the plane, to the outcome of the journey!

Group Member: What if I don't believe that I am free of the blueprint and of karma?

The St. Germain: A good question. First of all, the concepts we are revealing now, are so new, they are still settling into human consciousness. Your group is one of the pioneer groups receiving this information.

If you choose to believe that you are still bound by a blueprint, by karma, and by suffering, you will be. BUT YOU WILL HAVE CREATED THAT, AT THAT MOMENT. And many will choose to continue in old, familiar ways. So be it. But slowly they will realize, by seeing others around them change, that they, too, have the power to shift focus.

Why not experiment for yourself? Make any choice you wish today, before leaving this room: I choose to be really happy all evening. I choose to be miserable today. I choose to be frivolous and mad today. I choose to be expanded today.

Don't tell anyone else your choice, just do it, live it for the remainder of the day, and see how well you can manifest it.

Have fun!
