

21st January, 2010
THE ASHTAR COMMAND
Channeled by Sohrab

Earth's Depleting Resources and Financial Condition

[Prior to the meeting, there was a general discussion about the amount of suicide cases, particularly among children, taking place.]

Trance Channeling begins

 : Ahhhh!!!.....I am one... of the... friends...you just mentioned. I don't quite know what happened. I know I was feeling very, very pressured and then it is not clear to me why I did it. I am not feeling any pain right now or any emotional confusion. I am in a very nice space of light. I can not even see any people around me but I can see and feel lots of comforting white light, so I am just here and I am okay with that...I am not even sure how I am here today, but it feels okay...BYE.

[Sohrab shifts energies]

Dear Friends, we permitted this energy to speak briefly just now, since this group wished to know a little more about these cases. Each one is unique and has his or her life-path to follow, for personal growth.

This particular soul is in what you would call 'limbo'. But not in discomfort, as he is being flooded with light.

We will speak of him, as he is rather a unique case, not at all the norm.

When this young child passed over, his energies were so very fragmented that he wasn't even a total soul anymore. He had gone to the point, where, if we had not intervened, as friends and guides, his own energies would have fragmented beyond repair. In other words, he would not have been able to retain his 'essence', even in the Spirit realm. These are rare cases; he was one of them.

He has been placed in an energized chamber of light. Now when we say 'chamber', it is obviously not a physical chamber, but an energy chamber of light. This light is being generated by energetically compatible friends, Masters and guides; as his own light is too fragmented to create this chamber on its own.

He is being cocooned in light that is facilitating an 'energetic re-creation of self'. He will not be permitted, as yet, to touch any issues, to re-evaluate his life, or to enter the Akashic record chamber, till his own energetic quotient has risen to a certain level of health and expansion.

He is therefore, currently, not very coherent, and could not have answered any of your questions. He could not have shared much more than he did with you, as he is in a process of soul recovery.

We now welcome your questions.

Group Member: Could you please explain 'limbo'?

■: Some of your faiths have concepts of 'heaven, hell and purgatory'. None of these are generally understood by you correctly. Limbo, here, would roughly correspond to your concept of purgatory.

His experience of 'limbo' is disjointed in the best possible manner...so detached that nothing really affects him. He is not permitted, at this point in time, to even touch residual energies that he brought with him, through this trauma. If, for example, he was allowed to resonate with the pain that he experienced before and during his passage, his energies would once again fragment. It is his soul's wish to become cohesive again and his wish is the Universe's command.

So all of this has been separated from him: he is truly floating here, without any desire, feeling, emotion or trauma; neither happiness nor sadness, it just...

Group Member: Is! ?

■: Is ness....As his energies get cohesive [and they will], he will be introduced to aspects of his existences, bit by bit, for him to come back into the sense of Who He Is. As of now, he cannot even experience who he is.

Your group has met so many souls in the past: we simply wished you to have yet another experience. This is a rare case, and yet it is simply another aspect of evolution.

Group Member: Can you explain how his energies became so very fragmented?

■: A good question. When you drop a vase, if it cracks into a few pieces, you can use glue and put it back together, in a semblance of its original self; but if it smashes to smithereens, it is almost impossible to do so...it is precisely like that with soul energy. How does this happen?

The vastness of the Soul simply IS, spread across time/space, dimensions and lifetimes; and parts, aspects of it choose to undergo experiences in various incarnations, so that those experiences can be assimilated and add to the richness of your IS-NESS.

Now, it doesn't matter what experiences you have chosen in a particular lifetime: you may have chosen to come as a murderess, in which case you need to experience that aspect of Self and assimilate it; but let us say you have chosen to come as a murderess and instead you have become a 'good' person, you are then going against your life grain, your course, and your growth pattern. When you get re-absorbed into your IS-NESS, a small vibration of imbalance, for want of a better word, is released into your structure, as you were not in alignment with what you had planned for Self.

Similarly, had you chosen to come and experience the life of a quintessential saint, and then had you repeatedly strayed from this path, you would once again be out of sync with self. So you can now see how this has nothing to do with your views of 'right' and 'wrong', but has everything to do with aligning with your chosen path.

Group Member: Integration!

: Integration.....Now if you repeatedly stray from the path of your choice, that which you wish to assimilate in an incarnation, you send shockwaves and tremors into your Is-ness, and little by little, the Is-ness begins to fragment.

If you fragment beyond a certain degree, beyond reclaim, then your essence starts to disintegrate.

Please understand that this very rarely happens, but we thought this extreme case would be one of interest to your group.

So this wonderful friend's IS NESS is at a point of disintegration. However, there is an energy thread running through it, declaring "I do not wish to disintegrate; I wish to come together, and to rediscover Who I Really Am." That is the process that we are helping kick-start, through an energy cocoon.

Group Member: So when you Masters and Guides saw that his Isness was disintegrating, did you 'induce' thoughts of suicide, or was it a free will choice?

: We never 'induce' anything.

Group Member: I know...I mean...

■: As we said before, this is a unique case: this particular soul wished to experience suicide. It is one of the few things he did on Earth, which was in perfect alignment with Self. See how you can never judge?

Group Member: He did this while he was integrated, in complete balance?

■: The actual act of suicide, in this case, was his ultimate act of bringing Self together. It is this act that put out the call to us to say 'I am ready to be served and cocooned'. As we say, this was an extremely rare case and that is why it is so unique and beautiful for you to examine.

Group Member: [?...]is the world out there, today, kind of moving away from its lessons and that is why more children are experiencing it? Our world is not in alignment of how is it meant to be?

■: The two questions you asked are not quite inter-related. Let us speak now, in general, of the spate of young suicides that you have been experiencing.

A lot of souls have chosen to come at this moment in 'energetic time,' which corresponds to Earth time 2009 and 2010, to use the energies around planet Earth, for extremely rapid personal issue resolution. You yourselves know how fast your issues are coming up for reviewal and assimilation.

These particular souls, even if they are only a few years 'old' in earth years, are working very rapidly, partly physically, and partly at a higher conscious level. Some choose this method of exit for personal experience, to make it a part of who they are, and to understand what it means, experientially. Not all, but some.

Others are deliberately testing themselves, by bringing themselves to great trauma, at a very young age, to test their soul strength. To test whether or not they have the power to overcome adverse circumstances and trauma, even at that young age. By the way, many have triumphed over this 'test of fire' ...else you would have heard of even more cases being reported in the media.

Now, to answer your other question, 'Is the world going astray?': your own energies should be able to answer that. Why are you experiencing so much dissatisfaction? How do you feel about the over-use of pesticides in your food? About cloning? About animal testing? About plastics? About the pollution in your oceans, and the death of marine life? About deforestation?

The fact that you feel this way means that you are collectively being provoked to awaken, and to take responsibility for self and for your home planet.

Your own Beingness is showing you that you are going astray. Some of it has to happen for your growth and development and to awaken you, because that is the way planet Earth often chooses to work: through pain, through trauma, and through deprivation. But it doesn't have to be so!

You do not need to experience huge pain before you start looking at your floundering marriage. You ocean resources do not need to be completely depleted before you realize that you need to change your ways. Why go to rock-bottom, before you learn and start picking yourselves up? But that is your choice.

Group Member: I have never had the feeling of the 'tipping of the balance', but this time, it's a lot more serious than it was before. I really feel that somehow, all of us need to be committed and responsible citizens of earth, and that we need to actively participate in this.

🔴: You are so correct: in some areas you have already reached the critical point, and in others, you are nearing it. The ecological balance has been seriously impaired. Some species are about to die out, and pollution in the oceans is about to reach critical mass, beyond which you will not be able to reclaim it. Areas of the land are being so over-developed and over-polluted, that if you do not check this and work hand in hand with ecology and technology, you will not be able to reverse these aspects. You will create those cataclysmic events you foresee occurring in 2012. WAKE UP.

Now, is this 'wrong'? No. It is simply a course that planet Earth is choosing to take. Was it wrong for the dinosaurs to die out? No, it was a choice Planet Earth and the collective consciousness at that point made, allowing for a new set of species to evolve and emerge. Earth could have well have take a different course, where dinosaurs ruled and evolved in their own evolutionary manner.

There is no technical 'right' and 'wrong', but you do have to be guided by your inner urgings. We do, constantly, urge you to suspend judgment. Why do you thing we brought in this young soul today?

Group Member: According to my perspective, we are 'so far gone': now how do we reverse it?

🔴: There are areas which are now irreversible, but you still can change the course of others.

Group Member: Which areas?

Group Member: You can still change the pollution levels in your water bodies; but they are close to critical mass. If you allow them to tilt beyond that critical mass, then no matter what you do, you will poison the water system of the world. Then what will you drink?

Are you aware that you are already beginning to mutate, due to the chemicals you ingest through your polluted waters? Even 'pure water', such as your rainwater, contains the energy of chemicals, which is beginning to cause mutation in your cells.

At the same time, a level of awareness and enlightenment, motivating you to shift, change and take responsibility for your future actions, can keep these chemical imbalances in check, to a certain degree. But further irresponsibility will simply reactivate the processes.

You are creating for yourselves a situation in which you have to live moment to moment: if you let your guard down, you will slip. This has not been imposed by us; this has been created by the irresponsibility of the human consciousness and here we speak predominantly of human consciousness, not that of the consciousness of the animal, plant or the mineral kingdoms.

So YES, you are at critical mass or very close to it, when it comes to water. Wake up: you have very little time to correct this.

Group Member: [inaudible]...over-population...poor countries...

👉: Yes! At one level, a lot of souls are choosing to incarnate very rapidly at this point in earth's time, for rapid assimilation and speedy etheric growth. There are periods of 'energetic earth time' when souls flood in, as they deem it the most appropriate for their soul growth.

Remember, time in the ether is not linear: certain souls may have already experienced incarnation in the 24th century, and then may decide to next incarnate in the 20th century, as it would be appropriate for their evolutionary processes. They are not bound by a time-line, or space, or dimension.

Many souls are choosing the current earth time-line, and a third-world country in which to incarnate, for their evolution. They deem this rigorous training ground perfect for self. So from your perspective, these countries seem unusually over-populated, as compared to more 'advanced' ones.

Another reason souls are currently flooding your particular country has to do with its energetic theme, which we spoke of at an earlier session: Unity through Diversity.

The more diverse the element, the more rigorous is the training, in which to see unity. For example, it is very easy for wealthy and comfortable tenants in a fancy apartment building to be relatively united; but much harder for differing communities living together in a chawl, where there is a shortage of food and water, to rise above this and to still experience unity.

Group Member: IPL...Pakistan [?]

■: So you are speeding up your own processes by calling for more souls in this moment in time, to 'up the stakes', and to experience unity in this diversity.

A third reason is the irresponsibility and the lack of education among the people. It does not require 'book learning' for the soul in incarnation to understand that, if he cannot feed himself, he should not have so many children. His soul is attempting to teach him responsibility.

The 'separation' issue of India leads him down another path instead, where he reasons that, the more he has, the better he will be taken care of in his old age. He once again faultily thinks of himself, and not of the general good.

There are many more reasons; these three will suffice for the moment.

Group Member: Will these Universal friends help us with the water issue?

■: You must understand Universal Help. Universal help and Universal Abundance are your birthright.

Not just yours, but the birthright of every citizen of the Universe. The Universe is not a harsh, unforgiving, punishing one; it is one that naturally desires Abundance, Plentitude, Equality, and Balance: these are the cornerstones of the Universe. When you go into imbalance, when you go into lack, you are creating ripples in the Universe.

Now: the collective consciousness of every civilization or society has predominance over the consciousness of the Masters and Guides attached to that society.

In other words, there are a host of energies that help align Earth, work with her, work with all of you, but YOUR CONSCIOUSNESS SUPERSEDES THEIRS.

So, you may call upon Sai Baba and Jesus and Mohammed to help you; but your consciousness supercedes theirs. So shift your collective consciousness, and we will be right there to aid you. But till that call is made, we cannot interfere.

Energetically, like attracts like, and opposites repel one another. Right now you are putting out a conflicted vibration; therefore you are receiving conflicted energies. Put out a cohesive, joyous, unified vibration, and that that is what you will draw to self.

Have you not observed this? When you are feeling 'top of the world', everything goes well for you that day, you see smiling faces around you and all the traffic lights are green. But when you are in disarray, you only attract angry words, physical injuries and misunderstandings.

Any other questions?

Group Member: To go back to the suicide case: you said that his Is-ness is fragmented...but what about his parallel existences?

🔴: A Wonderful question. If you Is-ness is fragmented, this has to be a predominant theme in most of your parallel existences.

Let us take a hypothetical example: If Me 1, Me 2 and Me 3 are experiencing extreme fragmentation; Me 4, Me 5 and Me 6 will attempt to compensate for this, in an attempt to bring the first three back into balance.

But often a chain reaction takes place, throwing most of the Me's into imbalance.

So if there are [hypothetically, again] 1000 total parallel Me's; and if 999 of these are in imbalance, you still can reverse this with the single-minded focus, strength and intent of the very last Me.

That single Me, shining like a beacon, can set off an illuminated stream of vibration that affects one aspect of self, and now there are two that can set off another two, and so on, till all return to perfection. That is the strength and the magnificence of the Human Spirit.

BLESSINGS JOY, LOVE and LIGHT FROM THE ASHTAAR COMMAND.

[Sohrab shifts energies]

We wish to speak of Earth's current financial conditions. We have spoken of this before: you have understood how the energies of money themselves were being reevaluated by the collective consciousness. And we said to you last year that there would be a rise in the market worldwide, and that if you worked fluidly, without greed, but for the good of all, the rise would continue; but if you went back into old patterns of selfishness, 'me for me alone', and 'let me only feather my nest', the markets would crash even further than before. Do you recall this?

The energies of money have currently received an infusion from an external Universal source. This can be likened to one individual, institution or country offering a loan to another, to help keep it afloat for a temporary period of time, till it can 'find its feet'.

Right now there is a false economy on earth. In other words, money is not quite flowing and moving as it would on its own, without this infusion of energy that has recently been given as a support measure.

Do not be lulled into a false sense of security. These external energies have been offered temporarily to your money market, as a boost to keep it afloat, while the collective consciousness decides where it wishes to take money.

A decision was expected to be made by the end of the last financial year/ Calendar year, but this did not happen. You have therefore been given a brief grace period.

Group Member: What is this grace period?

■: It has not been fixed in earth time, but it cannot last endlessly. This is so that you can still keep your businesses afloat and the economy moving. But this energetic support will surely be removed, as you cannot 'walk on crutches' all your life.

So what can you do about this? Take responsibility for your personal finances. It does not matter whether you have one hundred rupees or one million rupees: start to view your wealth energetically, appreciate it as a portion of God on Earth, which is your divine right to nurture and expand.

- 1) Examine your patterns of spending.
- 2) Examine your patterns of saving.
- 3) Examine how you invest and why you invest the way you do.
- 4) Examine your patterns of Earning.
- 5) Examine what money means to you now. All of you were guided through this exercise last year (24:01:2008]
- 6) Ask yourself: Am I still a miser? Am I a spendthrift? Am I spending irresponsibly in one area and holding back in another?

Please re-examine your perspectives of Money. As at this moment in energetic time, the best service you can give to planet Earth is to work with self.

Group Member: Isn't this based on the need/greed within ones self...?

☐: Of course: need/greed, abundance/lack, 'do I deserve' and 'do I not deserve', and so on.

This is also a very important time to re-examine and re-evaluate all the documentation you have in your possession: your wills, your house deeds, and any other legal documentation you may have in your home or your bank.

Group Member: What about sharing?

☐: Indeed! Sharing in abundance is magnificent, but sharing out of lack is terrible. And many share out of lack.

Group Member: Could you please explain this?

☐: When you give a gift to a friend, do you give this from the fullness of self, in complete joy, because you see them as an extension of yourself? OR Are you giving this gift to earn their respect? To buy their love? To show how much you can afford? To prove a point? To compensate for the lack within you? To fill a void with you?

Are you giving the gift from a space of fullness, or emptiness?

These are the questions you must ask yourselves, and answer honestly.

Similarly, two people could be giving money to charity: the first could be doing so because he believes in the inflow/outflow of money as the most natural part of life; yet the second could be giving the same amount out of guilt, or lack.

The first is in balance, the second in imbalance.

BLESSINGS!!!
