Blessings!!

You have heard and used the word Blessings so many times, but what does it really mean?

When you bless a person, you are offering him the opportunity to come into perfect energetic alignment and balance.

A genuine blessing works like this: you draw upon the core vibration of every cell in your body (which is pure), and direct this, in a series of energetic beams, into every cell in the other person's body. It is rather like shooting out millions of magnificent darts of light and energy into the other person.

The recipient then uses this 'feel-good boost' to raise his personal vibrations instantaneously. This naturally brings about expansion, balance and alignment.

Now comes the big BUT: when you offer your blessings with a specific outcome in mind, you instantly contaminate the energies. Let us explain this.

Let us say your child is about to sit for an examination, and you are very anxious and fearful that the child is not going to do well. You ostensibly bless the child with "please let him do well". What you are actually doing is simply infusing him with your vibrations of fear and anxiety.

Now, in all likelihood, he is nervous as well. Your blessings will now only serve to increase his own fears and anxiety, as those are the vibrations that you are shooting out, dart-like, into every cell in his body.

Do you now see that the words that you have used (“please let him do well”) may be, on the surface, altruistic and loving, but what is the energy with which you have imbued them?

Similarly, when you are in a difficult situation and you pray and bless the situation with “May the outcome be in my favour”, you may simply be energizing the situation with hopelessness, panic, anxiety and fear. Then, that is what you will get back from the situation.

Group Member: We are human, and these anxieties are bound to come up. How do you suggest that we go beyond them, when blessing a situation or a person?

▀ Having understood this, the only way to bless a situation is to bring yourself into balance, and then fill it with that energy, from deep within your core. Your focus should be to en-joy it: to fill it with joy from your own deep, wellspring of joy.

The very fact that you are sitting here and listening to these words means you are ready to shift, otherwise you will not be in this room today.

Awareness is the key. You are now aware. So the next time you think of someone, or bless them, or send a prayer or send them love or even a healing touch, simply be in awareness and choose to work from balance. It is as simple as that.

The same applies to the various anxious mothers in this room, who can now choose to work differently when the next examination comes around.

You may recall that we spoke of the ‘loop energies’ of a curse at an earlier session: the same applies to a blessing. What you put out, you get back. So if you put out fear and anxiety, it simply loops back to you.

This is equally applicable to those of you in the room who are healers: your touch is a blessing, your Reiki is a blessing, your tarot work is a blessing, your hypnotherapy is a blessing, and your counseling is a blessing. In fact, every single thing you do for another is a blessing; including feeding, clothing, and tending to others.

These blessings are offered to you, on this auspicious day, with ‘no strings attached’.

May your issues come up for reviewal and simultaneously may you have the strength and the wisdom to work with the issues that arise.

May you expand, grow and vibrate at a level of frequency pleasing to you.

May your lives be filled with wisdom, knowledge and the ability to use this wisdom and knowledge joyfully.

May you all find the stillness within self that you seek.

BLESSINGS FROM THE ENERGIES OF THE BUDDH.

[Sohrab shifts to energy of The Obama]

■ A call has come from across the world, requesting your energies today, for a specific task. You are to band together and send Buddhist wisdom to those around this planet who continue to be seduced by nuclear warfare.

You are to work for every part of the globe, to offer enlightenment to those who wish to push buttons and attack others, offering them the opportunity to shift course and push those same buttons to illuminate, energize and empower the world. (pause)

Let us ask you to go within and to send this energy out: a blessing to all, to find within themselves the desire to work for Earth as a collective, using nuclear power, using the tools at hand, to empower others, rather than to destroy them. (pause)

Send these energies around Planet Earth, in a wave of blue-green-aqua light. Visualize this light spreading throughout Planet Earth, filling every human being, every situation, every country, everything on and within her. Do it now. (Sohrab chants OM while the group works)

In gratitude to this group, and to all groups and individuals around the world, who have heeded the same call.

BLESSINGS FROM THE ENERGIES OF THE OBAMA.

[Sohrab shifts to the united energies of The German and the Zarathushtra]

Welcome, and a Happy New Year to all in this room!

Let us speak today of the Zoroastrian energies, and how they pertain to all, to all.

You are already aware that the energies of the Zarathustra offer you the opportunity to be the best you can be, at anything you choose.

To be the best and most skilled teacher, or to be the best and most skilled thief; the choice is entirely yours and the energies will flow through you joyously, no matter what you choose.

But how are these energies different in the current year? Let us speak of that today.

All on Planet Earth, who are associated with this community, are undergoing a rapid reviewal of self during the year 2010. The community, as a whole, is energetically upgrading self.

To facilitate this upgrade, all community members are now not being permitted to rest on their laurels; or to live in past glory with a smug, self-satisfied view of superiority, honesty and integrity.

These are indeed attributes of the community, but they have become excuses over the years, giving various members the license to do what they choose, with no thought of the consequences of their actions, to others or to self.

You have all noticed recent eruptions in the community, where dishonesty, disharmony and discord suddenly seem to be surfacing, jolting the sensibilities of many.

This is necessary. The debris has to rise to the surface, so that the community can take a closer look at itself, and begin to reinvent self with new energetic choices.

A celestial discussion is under way: does the community, for example, wish to push its scientific boundaries? Its commercial acumen? Its expertise in medicine? And so on.

Various 'sub-committees' are energetically forming within the community, to spearhead these possibilities. These extended boundaries are naturally meant for the betterment of the world, and not just for the community in isolation. Two areas of definite choice, already made, are in the areas of medicine and the arts.

Dear friend, we are not here to glorify one particular community, but to help you understand how any and every community works for self and for the world.

And for these breakthroughs to take place, the old, the stubborn, the bigots, and the corrupt need to be weeded out. Expect a few juicy scandals to surface. When they do, don't judge them; celebrate them. This is needed.

During this year, this community is choosing to work, very strongly, with the energies of personal endeavor. Community members have to get out there practically, get their hands dirty and their feet wet. They have to take action, take risks, speak up and speak out, and shake up the group energies. This community, in particular, has many who are content to sit back and 'let the world go by', without taking any initiative in their own lives. They will find themselves stagnating and sinking.

Now, how does this information apply to those present here, who are not of this community?

ALL are subject to this, but possibly to a slightly lesser degree than those of the community. But if you hear of this, or read this, then you are working at the same pace as the community members! So you can't afford to sit back!

Work with endeavor this year. Remember that you have the opportunity to 'be the best you can be' at anything you choose, if you only work towards it.

If you choose mediocrity or helplessness, for example, then that is what you will get, in plentitude. Naturally, as that is your declaration to the Universe, and it will help you be the best mediocre, helpless person you can be! But if you choose to be an expanded teacher, a vibrant friend or wife, or an innovative business-person, then that is what the energies will help you achieve. Choose wisely!

Any questions?

Group Member: What is the cosmic reason for the dwindling numbers of the community? What is its future?

■ You may have observed that, though the community is relatively small, its presence has been felt very strongly throughout your country and even the world. This is because of the high energy levels of its members. Not superior; high. There is a difference. They are intense energetic beings.

The community collective is in indecision at the moment; an outcome has not been decided. One option being 'discussed' is for the community, as it is known today, to die out; and for a fresher, more vital, yet similar community to 'rise from its ashes'. Zoroastrians, of a different energetic structure, with different goals, both individual and collective.

The second possibility being discussed is to allow the community to reach its 'bare minimum', and to re-invent itself from that point, once again rising up afresh.

Group Member: Who is involved in this decision making?

■ A good question. This is not lead by the energies of The Zarathustra- a seeming paradox. The energies of the Zarathustra simply support the decision of the energies of the community collective.

To give you a visual to understand this, imagine the Zarathushtra energies being an energetic 'council hall' in which the community energies reside, discuss the options, and then reach a decision.

Through the 'council hall' energies, other energies are filtered in to help at various points: Buddhist wisdom, the love of the Christ Office, the Ganesh inter-dimensional aspects, and so on. As you well know, in spirit there are no boundaries, no separation, and no 'one-upmanship'. All energies are joyously welcomed.

Group Member: What happens to other Zoroastrians like in Russia and other parts of the world? Do they meet the same fate?

Dear one, anyone who chooses to associate self with this community is energetically considered a community member!

Group Member: When will the collective take a decision? When will it manifest on Earth?

This is not being hurried. This is likely to take years, in Earth time.

Not because the community, as a collective, is unable to take a decision: not at all; but because the community wishes to work, beautifully and harmoniously, with new universal energies that are also being created at this moment in time.

For example, there will be a huge window of Universal energy that will open up, somewhere around 2014: a gigantic energetic portal.

Many communities and other groups are considering using that portal to shift aspects of bigotry, for example, within self. The energetic boost received at that time may be just what they need.

Group Member: What about responsibility? Each one of us has certain responsibilities towards each other, towards our family and our community. How can we better work together with these energies?

Every individual works primarily with the energies of the community into which he has chosen to incarnate.

You have all chosen your community in incarnation; it has never been thrust upon you, and you have chosen it, as explained before, for two predominant reasons: you either flow very strongly with the energies and you wish to share them with others, helping them empower themselves with it; or you lack the energies, and wish to imbibe them to a much greater degree.

Let us understand this better with the example of the Christ Office: the energies of love. Those who have incarnated into this community are people who either flow very strongly with the force of love; or those who lack it considerably, and wish to work with it further.

Now let us examine those who have incarnated into one particular community, and later in life, either convert to another, or simply begin following it of choice. (Please remember the documented conversion is unimportant, it is the energy of inner choice that matters).

If, for example, a person is born Christian, and then desires to follow or convert to Zoroastrianism, then he wishes to imbibe the energetic qualities of both religions: the foundation being, in this case, the force of love/the lack thereof; and the secondary one being “the best he can be/the lack thereof”. This person’s course may be to first learn to love self and others, and, having learned that, to follow it up with being the best he can be.

Now let us take a further example: a person who has incarnated in a certain community, but marries into another, without the desire to convert or to follow it actively. They are still influenced by the energies of the second community, but to a lesser degree than the first. However, they need it to be ‘a gentle part of their future life’.

Group Member: What about an atheist?

■ Yes, indeed, let us discuss a true atheist, and not a person who claims this for ‘effect’, as many do. Let us examine a person who truly believes that there is no greater force than life as he knows it; that death is simply a black void.

Atheism is as much a religion as any other religion, and an atheist is one who chooses to follow that community for one of two reasons: he has been totally blocked to his own energies over lifetimes, so much so that he cannot acknowledge that any form of power can exist; OR he has been a person who has constantly given away his power to others: to family members, to friends, to deities and to “God”. He has been a supreme victim.

In both extreme cases, they wish to touch and acknowledge their own power, and need to ‘pretend’ that nothing else exists, in case they fall into their old power patterns. This way they HAVE to look at and acknowledge the power of self, and only self.

Group Member: What about the energies of Islam, in the now?

■ The current Islamic energies are totally multi-dimensional, and actually have very little to do with planet Earth. They are liaison energies that ‘hook up’ the various societies and energies in the universe, offering them the opportunity to understand one another, experience one another, and though this, to experience Universal Brotherhood.

Now, doesn't this sound very paradoxical, considering what is currently happening on Planet earth? Yet the answer is so very apparent. One part of the community consists of wonderfully expanded, multi-dimensional, knowledgeable beings, who share their magnificence with others; and the other part consists of fanatics and bigots, who simply wish to experience multi-dimensionality and Universal brotherhood, which they lack.

It may interest you to know that it is the Islamic energies that are solely responsible for linking the Ashtaar energies, which you all love so much, to planet Earth. They have used the Islamic energies as an inter-galactic conduit, to attach themselves to planet earth, to facilitate Earth's shift into higher dimensions.

Look at the beauty of it. The Lord Sananda, who leads the Ashtaar, and whom you know better as the Jesus Christ, united with the Mohammed energies, to facilitate the Ashtaar link. An example to you of how all Universal energies work together harmoniously, with full respect for one another.

Group Member: I am certain that originally there were no communities or religious sects: why did this come about, and how does it help humankind progress?

■ All communities, be they religious, spiritual, or a school community, or an artistic one, or a family unit, serve a magnificent purpose, dear friend!

They offer people the opportunity to share their views, understand other points of view, grow, expand and communicate.

A community also offers you security, comfort, like-mindedness solidarity, support, and unity. It allows you to shine, and express who you are, without fear.

A religious community was intended to offer humanity the opportunity to learn, share and understand differing routes to the same goal...the God within self.

This, unfortunately, went awry with man's desire to exercise control over others, and to establish his imbalanced power over another.

Group Member: So these new energies are going to shatter this?

■ They are shattering these aspects in every community in existence.

Each community today is reevaluation self, is bringing to the surface debris, airing its dirty linen in public and offering the group as a whole, the opportunity to take the community in a completely new direction, based on its founding cornerstones.

Group Member: We don't see this!

Yes, dear friend, you don't see this clearly yet, because the old edifices are being razed to the ground right now, and you are only seeing the rubble.

The new 'building' is already there, in energy form; but it has not yet come into a physical structure.

Different communities are 'crashing' at different rates, and in different areas: imagine if everything came tumbling down all together. You would have nothing to 'hold onto', and the very process would then possibly stall, out of worldwide fear and confusion.

But the change is happening right here, around you! Look at this very room: it is filled with people of all religions, of differing social, financial and educational backgrounds, and yet you have managed to form a new 'community', based on spiritual growth, knowledge and self-development. This kind of change is taking place the world over.

Group Member: There is so much fear – it has come in the news even today.

Of course, dear one! Everyone's comfort zone and old ways are being shaken up, even destroyed. And it is human nature to resist change of any sort.

Group Member: The Islamic religious communities are trying to control the whole ---- But that is occurring in every community! It is always darkest before dawn's first light! Would you have any specific message for the teaching community? As a college professor, I feel that an interfaith dialog, initiated at every level, would help prevent youngsters from growing into bigots.

We consider each and every one of you a teacher; and indeed we do have a message for all of you. Start by examining your own bigotry. Your rigidity. Your communalism. Start by living Universality. Lead by example.

Of course, dear friend, you should stand up and address your students as well: share your strengths and your weaknesses with them. Help them understand your journey, your quest. Urge them on their personal journeys. Help them to think for themselves. This is your mission!

Group Member: I belong to the Aga Khani community and I would like to know a little more about it. Our leader, whom I respect greatly, is a religious man, yet he lives a very 'fancy' lifestyle. Isn't this an anomaly?

■ The Aga Khan teaches very much like The Germain: he urges you to understand that physical pleasures and the spiritual quest go hand in hand. You are here to live and experience life to the fullest.

He offers you the opportunity to marry matter and spirit; experiencing both together, in pure divinity.

BLESSINGS FROM THE UNITED ENERGIES OF
