Cosmic Reconstruction of Planet Earth The Aspect of Luck

Trance Channeling begins..

Please chant 36 OMS extremely rapidly. You are to visualize the OM starting at the base chakra and moving upward, along the chakric system, in an energy spiral. By the 36th OM, you should have reached the crown, after which you will visualize the energies bursting upward and outward.

(The group did so)

You will now allow the energies to fountain outward. Spread them far and wide. Well done! We will now explain.

This is a day of great energetic significance for your entire group, including those who are not in attendance today. As it is for all lightworkers in your country.

What you have just done is committed to taking self, the group, and the lightworkers of India, to a new level of personal and collective awareness. You have created, up the chakric system, a new set of cosmic chakras.

The old system will continue to function, as it must, to support the physical body. This new system, however, contains millions of energetic points, moving in a cosmic spiral around the older system, and opening into the Universe.

You have, in effect, created a cosmic 'black hole' within self. This black hole will act as a receptacle for those high-level cosmic energies that you now, individually, choose to access for self.

You have collectively decided to take your group to a new level of awareness, expansion, magnitude and vibrancy: and so it is. And when we refer to 'the group', we include the first-timers here today.

Just take a moment and familiarize yourself with this new structure that is now vibrating within self. As you draw in the new energies, they are processed by the black hole, and are irradiated outwards by the surrounding white hole. Each person will learn to use this structure in his or her own unique way.

Now, you will take a moment, join hands with the person on either side of you, and you will once again chant 36 rapid Oms: this time to create a unified black hole/white hole for the group.

(The group does so)

Thank you.

Now soundlessly please work with the unified black hole/white hole and spread this group's light throughout your country. Offer your country the energies of growth, expansion and upliftment. (pause) Fill your nation with your love, blessings and power.

And so it is, and so it is, and so it is.

BLESSINGS FROM THE SATYA SAI.

Do you have questions for me?

Group Member: How are you?

Very well indeed!

Group Member: I heard that you are critical!

Critical? From whose point of view? I am in the process of changing form rapidly. I am working with the physical, and am 'upgrading' it to a level almost impossible for a human body to contain. This does not make me 'superior', it only demonstrates my adventurous spirit.

I am drawing into the physical body, energies and vibrations far beyond the capacity of human organs. This is being done deliberately, and by personal choice, and it is the most ecstatic experience possible in a physical form.

Nothing is happening randomly: I have no need for your healing. However, I would welcome your support.

Group Member: Are you going to exit, are you going to come back to us? Will you pull through this?

Why do you lay so much importance on the physical, in comparison to spirit existence? It is unlikely that I will return to my physical body. I will take myself to a point of extreme vibration, and will then seamlessly exit.

(To Nina) I am joyous, why are you sad? Come, come to me! (Satya Sai blesses her) Face your group and spread my light through your highly upgraded chakric system. Combine it with yours. (Nina does so) Go forth and shine!

The Satya Sai blesses the group.

Sohrab changes energies

We are deliberately passing energy after energy through him (Sohrab) to all of you: you may experience flashes of your 'favorites' and 'not-so-favorites'; take them in joyously. (Pause)

Welcome, dear friends! Let us speak today of cosmic reconstruction, and also its effect on Planet Earth.

You already know that the Universe, as a whole, is currently upgrading self simultaneously. This phenomenon has never before occurred, quite in this manner. Let us explain this.

Of course the Universe is ever-growing and ever-changing: it always has been, and always will be. But, in the past, certain areas have gone through growth spurts while others have remained steady; then they, in turn, go through their processes of evolution while yet other areas remain relatively dormant.

This could be likened to a Universal symphony, with harmonious resonances, the rise and fall of celestial music, and an overall melodic experience.

Now, over the next two years, leading toward the end of 2012, the entire universe is going to upgrade simultaneously. This is going to generate a cacophony of sound, rather discordant at times: very loud, very vibrant, and very rapid. And the outcome of this experiment is not known, even by the Universe itself.

Now every being and every aspect in the Universe is working towards an incredible rise of personal consciousness and expansion.

So, as Earth, for example, evolves, there has to be a spill-over effect on the planets surrounding her. Just as their evolving energies are going to affect Earth. Each aspect of the Universe is going to 'bounce off' its neighbors, creating a tremendous, and unknown, new energetic symphony.

Through this every-increasing process, all aspects of the Universe are now moving into uncharted, unexpected territory. It is this 'unchartered, unknown territory' that your ancient Mayans foresaw, which is why they couldn't extend their calendar beyond 2012.

And yes, they were star-seeds themselves. The extra-terrestrial energies that you all carry within self come from them.

Let us now have your questions, before we move further on.

Group Member: So will this process be selfish or selfless?

Both: 'selfish' in the term of looking inward and deciding what is best for self. But you will also be doing this 'selflessly': in complete alignment and balance, no ego of self involved. Why else would this be "the year of oneness", dear friends?

Both the micro- and the macro- have to be served!

Group Member: You spoke of 'a cacophony of sound': so that means creations comes from chaos?

In a way: what you perceive as chaos is only an exceedingly intricate pattern that you cannot decipher, as you see only a tiny part of it.

Group Member: What about those who don't wish to participate in this event? Will they shed their physical bodies?

But spirit is also evolving, so how can they escape it? No, dear friends, this is a completely unified choice made by the Universe as a whole, and all its aspects.

Group Member: Will all aspects of the Universe grow at the same rate?

Not at all: each species and sub-species will make a collective choice for self. But all are participating in this 'leap'.

Group Member: This seems to be 'pre-ordained', in which case, where does free will come in?

A good question! This was not 'pre-ordained', but it was a possibility that the source would choose to undergo this leap at some moment in linear time.

Even though the Mayans foresaw this, the 'date' could have been delayed by several hundred years, had even one aspect of the Universe not agreed to this unified leap.

Now, with regard to 'free will', each species has the choice of the speed and intensity of the leap it wishes to take. Even individuals within that species have the choice of opting for a different vibrational leap. Let us give you an example.

Let us say, hypothetically, that humanity wishes to leap forward to a vibrational level 10 times greater than it has previously held. Let us now say that a certain individual does not wish for this particular growth spurt, and wishes for a '20 times' leap. He may then shed his body, and join a spirit group that is doing precisely that.

Group Member: Does free will also lie on the basis of religion of humanity, or is it in totality?

It is certainly influenced by it. Let us help you understand this practically. You have already learned that the energies of Islam are those of 'Universal Brotherhood'. So those who have incarnated into this religion are either those who are already flowing very strongly with this energy, and wish to share it with others; or those who had a complete lack of it, and wish to infuse it in self.

So, if this 'religion' makes a choice of a certain energetic leap level that does not suit you, you will either marry someone from another community to 'dilute' this, or you may convert or begin following the practice of another community. But, at the same time, the energetic 'desire' of your community will certainly influence you, and in all likelihood, you will simply align with it freely.

Group Member: Is that synchronicity or is it pre-ordained?

This is one level of divine synchronicity. Even the term "synchronicity", which means "the same", is not the same: there is layer upon layer upon layer upon layer of synchronicity, each vibrating at a different frequency, but working together seamlessly. In earthly terms, you may combine several colours to produce yet another, homogenous one; yet it is made up of so many elements that you cannot see at that time.

Group Member: Did you just tell us, in polite terms, that many humans are going to exit the planet during the next two years?

Yes.

Group Member: What effect is the musical cacophony going to have on Human consciousness and on Planet Earth?

What would happen if you were listening to a concert, and you suddenly found that the music was getting atonal and discordant? You would probably want to leave the room. But what if you found that you were locked into it? At first, you would try to block out the sound; but after a while, when that didn't work, you would find yourself making sense of the new resonances.

Imagine what happened when humanity, steeped in classical music, was suddenly exposed to the unfamiliar resonances of jazz? Many classicists cringed in horror at first, but slowly, over time, a new style and rhythm of music evolved, which was then appreciated by many.

Humanity learned not to reject classical music through this process, but to add to it yet another flavor, another experience of self and of the Universe.

What you perceive as 'discordant music' is simply another dimension of the Universe that you have not yet explored. It urges you to explore different dimensions of self, while you remain the physical form. Through this process, you become multi-dimensional beings.

Right now, for example, you are only aware of the 'you' sitting here, at this meeting, in this room. But very shortly you will start to get glimpses of parallel aspects of self. You will be aware of the 'you' here, and another 'you' elsewhere. And shortly after that, you will start to be aware of more and more simultaneous 'you's. This is a wonderful, exciting and expanding process for all of humanity.

Group Member: Is one of the by-products of this evolutionary process going to be longer human physical life?

In all likelihood physical longevity will increase, but what you are working on, which is far more important than the physical lifespan, is the energetic content of the cellular structure.

Your cells are now beginning to hold echoes of all different aspects of self: past, present, future, alternate realities and parallel existences. Though you receive 'flashes' of other aspects of self, you now want to be able to access them at will.

Group Member: What other changes are likely to take place in our bodies, with this energetic leap?

As it is an experiment, we can only offer you probabilities, such as an increase in your ESP senses, a desire to re-adjust your food and exercise patterns, and many "Ah-Ha" moments in the day.

Group Member: What will happen when we eventually grow accustomed to ESP?

Then you will discover another, even more advanced method of Universal communication and unification.

Group Member: Oh, all of us are going through it at different levels and it is shaking up our little worlds! Can you recommend any exercise to help us?

Keep extending your 'energetic tentacles' outward. Search. Seek. Enjoy the process. Think 'outside the box' at all times.

Let us give you a very practical example. His (Sohrab's) perception and your perception is that this home extends from here to here (Sohrab indicated the walls on either side of the room). Because your perception of this, and your belief in this, is so strong, it is so.

In truth, every time 70 people enter this room for a meeting, the walls expand, the dimensions of this room change, and when these people leave, the dimensions return to their original constraints. Do you ever wonder how all of you fit in here?

Group Member: You mean if we measure it, it will be different now?

No, because even your measurement will be based upon your preconceived notions. If you cannot see beyond it, then that is what it is for you.

Some of you who are energetically sensitive pick up the high vibrations in this home; others come to visit and just 'feel good', and yet others are oblivious to any particular energy at all. Yet all these people are visiting the same space. Perceptions.

Group Member: So is this sacred geometry?

Yes. If, as a group, you were all able to sit here and truly perceive this room to be several feet larger than its architectural floor plan, then it would be so. And your measuring tape would tell you the same.

This was the concept behind Jesus turning water into wine, and multiplying fish and loaves to be able to feed the masses. He actually could do it, because he believed he could.

Miracles are not God's gifts to you; miracles are created by your belief in self. They are your gifts to self.

There is no such thing as luck: it does not exist in the universe.

Luck is simply aligning self perfectly with the task at hand. The more in alignment you are, the 'luckier' you are.

Lucky in love. Lucky in relationships. Lucky with money. Lucky with friends. Why is one person lucky in love, but unlucky in money? It only reflects your alignment with that Universal aspect. It is your divine right to be 'lucky' all around.

Group Member: You said you were helping in the reconstruction of the Earth: in the next two years how are you going to reconstruct the Earth, what is going to happen?

As with Japan, the root issue of each country is going to be brought to the forefront. As you intuit the root issue of each country, examine that in self, as you contain aspects of all root issues, to differing degrees. As events play out in different countries, you will be forced to examine these in self.

Group Member: So ours is corruption?

Separation. Corruption is an off-shoot of separation; it is through the feelings of separation that you become corrupt. How can you be corrupt if you are in oneness? So when you perceive corruption as being one of your biggest issues, which it is, it comes from the root of separation. Now to deal with corruption and to shift that, you have to shift the root first, which is to address separation. This must be done at the individual level first.

Group Member: Was the Anna Hazare episode our way of rooting out corruption?

Remember that parts of your country work through Ray 4: Harmony through conflict; leading to Universal Beauty, Music and Art.

But often, through such events, including 26/11, you get appropriately stirred and motivated to shift for a brief period, and then lapse into inertia again. So, in all likelihood, you will keep creating such events till you flip the ray.

Group Member: If we were to send the 'energy of oneness' out into the universe, wouldn't it create a ripple effect?

It would, but how much oneness do you really contain? You have to live it to 'send it out'.

Group Member: You spoke of luck earlier: how do we realign those out-of-balance areas in our lives?

Everyone has at least 2 areas of 'great luck' within self: in other words, they are in balance and alignment with those aspects of self and the Universe.

No one is in 100% balance or alignment, that's just not possible for a human being; but if you are 80% or more in balance or alignment, it is considered beautifully acceptable on planet Earth.

You really cannot learn this from 'outside', but you can examine those aspects of self where you are 'flowing', and find out what you are doing right there. Then you can extend this outward to other areas of your life.

You can be 'lucky' in many areas outside the obvious ones of finance, love and relationships. For example, are you 'lucky' to have a good complexion? A sense of humour? Compassion?

Good Health!

Indeed! Luck could be the ability to joyously and freely help others, moment to moment. To have a stable and calm personality. And so on. This is what it means by the phrase 'count your blessings'.

Group Member: If someone has the minimum of 2 areas of 'luck', can this change?

Of course it can! You can extend it outward to as many as you so choose!

Group Member: I have been working with the aspect of 'oneness' this year, yet I find it very difficult to achieve. How can we do this, practically?

Don't attempt to feel oneness outside self: it is very hard to look at the beggar on the street and really feel 'one' with him. Some may be able to do this; but it is rare, and in general, you are fooling yourself with spiritual jargon.

Instead, look at the same beggar, experience whatever is coming up (perhaps separation), and then work on the separation within self. Work on the 'inner beggar'.

Similarly, if the same beggar is diseased, and this repulses you, then work on those aspects of self that you perceive as diseased. What repulses you about self?

Group Member: So there is really no such thing as an overall 'unlucky' person?

That is simply a person who is mis-aligned with most aspects of self. But he is not 'unlucky'.

The concept of being 'unlucky' has been created by you, as you often want to shift the blame outward, and cannot find a person or set of persons to very conveniently blame. So you create an abstract figure, "Lady Luck", who can then conveniently play the tyrant to your victimhood.

So, instead of saying that you are never lucky in relationships, why not take responsibility and look within self, to find out what patterns you are playing out to create this. Then begin to shift these.

BLESSINGS FROM THE ENERGIES OF THE GERMAIN.
