Trance Channeling begins

 (Laughing) I humbly request your permission to conduct the session today. My energies are primarily scientific; and therefore, without your express permission, I cannot speak today! (All laugh and agree)

Greetings from the energies of Dr. Lang.

Healing, as you know it, is now taking yet another turn. Let us look at healing with a simple analogy: giving someone an injection.

The syringe itself is your offering of light and the desire to assist another.

The serum in the syringe is comprised of the various Universal energies and learnt techniques that you harness.

But the hand that guides the syringe is representative of your own power.

Quite obviously, without the guiding hand, both the syringe and the serum are useless.

From 2012 onwards, if you do not acknowledge your power and your abilities, the light, healing and blessings that you offer another are non-effective.

However much Universal energy you harness, and however much you use a tried and tested technique, this mix now has to contain at least 80% of your personal power.

This holds good for all kinds of healers: medical practitioners, homeopaths, therapists, counselors, and so on.

This deliberate shift has been orchestrated by your own higher souls, for your personal growth and evolution. Now, if you do not believe and trust in your own power, if you do not deem self worthwhile and worthy, you will not be able to function effectively, for self and for others.

Use the Dr. Lang energies today, for a small experiment:

Close your eyes and take a moment to tell yourself you are worth it.....acknowledge to self that you do have the ability, wherewithal and desire to offer light and assistance to all those whose names have been mentioned before the meeting started. Add to these any other names you choose. Those on earth and those in the spirit realm.

Now start to flow with light generated from your structure. Use the 'injection syringe' visual for today's exercise, and start to fill it with your own power. You will intuitively know when you hit the 80% mark.

When this is achieved, add to this the Dr. Lang Universal light. When the syringe is full, energetically embrace all your friends in this unified light.

Offer this light to yourself as well. Experience it coursing through you. Experience the magnificence and the power of you. Of what you have generated. Allow this light to flow through your physical and etheric bodies.

And so it is, and so it is, and so it is.

Remember to always touch at least 80% of your power in any and every situation: a healing session, a chat with friends or business colleagues, or in a moment of personal doubt wherein you need clarity.

So what of the Master energies, which you now so rely upon? Of course they still continue to flow through you; but you can now only access them when you first hit the 80% mark. Till then, they remain relatively dormant.

Dear friends, acknowledge that this is ultimate freedom! Freedom of self expression, of your own magnificence. Have belief and faith in self: you are worth it!

When we now give healing to others, do we surround them with the light or work in any particular manner?

 Each case must be taken individual now. By all means use your techniques, but do not allow self to be rigidly bound by them. Evolve your own. On a certain day, a person's energies may ask you to cocoon them with light; and on another day, you may have to work entirely with the chakric system, or with a particular organ. Be flexible and 'open to the call'.

The more flexible and open you are, the faster you will touch your power, and the smoother will be the flow between you and the recipient.

Similarly, when you are working for a world event, such as an earthquake, do precisely the same. You may find yourself called upon to heal the event, or to facilitate it. Both are perfection, as long as you are in alignment with self and with the event.

This year, the energies are flowing very uniquely and very differently. If five people decide to study Reiki with a certain teacher, each will receive the instruction differently. An astute teacher will acknowledge this, and attempt to reach each person in the manner best suited to him. But the ultimate responsibility lies with you, and not with the teacher.

This year, you will also find a surge in the 'desire to heal' both self and others. Please do not hold back. Offer self and others the benefit of your healing, advice and guidance. You are now bursting with light: offer your power, in combination with this light, fully and freely.

I work with long-distance healing a lot. I often find myself guided to a part of the body that I know is not 'affected'. Why is this?

■ New energetic circuits are now being set up in the human body, and these are changing almost daily. For example, today itself, a circuit has been established in your bodies: the heart to the kidneys to the rectum. So today, if you were in tune with self and your patient, you might find yourself offering light to the rectal area of a heart patient. That would be perfect. Always trust your instinct, but always ensure that you are in sync with self and the patient.

Can we use the 'syringe' visual to heal the Earth?

■ The syringe was appropriate for today's session. You may certainly use it if it continues to serve you, but why now allow self to guide you further? Do not choose to remain 'fixed' on one methodology. Flow with the energies, moment-to-moment.

It is said that in the year 2012, mankind will learn how to re-grow limbs and organs. Can you please speak of this?

■ Baby steps are being taken in this area: mankind is a little late. Breakthroughs are underway: your scientists are experimenting with new replacement organs that are partly engineered and partly genetically-grown.

Unfortunately, the creativity of the scientists is offset by the greed of corporations funding the projects. At this moment, the balance has gone awry, and the corporations are winning. The moment all of you touch your power, as a collective, and right this imbalance, the breakthroughs will be made public.

Please understand that we are not speaking of the cloning humans or animals; but of physical and energetic enhancement of humanity. Similarly, humans will only be able to re-generate parts of self when they have achieved an inner level of personal balance, power, and expansion.

There have already been a few reported cases of rare humans being able to re-grow a portion of their limbs: these are forerunners of the experiment. To do this, you also need a deeper understanding of the Void.

Isn't this 'going against nature'?

Not at all, dear friend! Is it unnatural to heal after being wounded? Is it unnatural that you lungs self-repair constantly, with all the pollutants that you inhale? Is it unnatural that your bodies constantly produce anti-bodies to fight off diseases that would otherwise destroy you?

There is a big difference between perfection of health and wellbeing; and the desire to 'play God' by cloning entire beings.

It is your divine right to inhabit a healthy and vital physical body: it is only your conditioning that decides that you can live upto 100. Change that, and you can live much, much longer!

But how about over-population?

That is precisely because you have not yet achieved that level of responsibility. There are certain Universal societies that also inhabit relatively physical bodies like yours: they are so evolved, however, that that can choose to reproduce or not bear children, at will. They have learned how to take responsibility for their population, and for the planet that houses them. They joyously share of its bounty, but do not drain it of its resources.

Do we really need technology to help us regenerate our organs? Can't we learn to do it ourselves, naturally?

In the 'grander scheme of things', you most certainly can learn to spontaneously heal and self-repair. But humanity does need 'a little help' from time to time.

Your own health and well-being is most certainly in your own hands, but there is nothing wrong in going to a doctor from time to time, to avail of his skill and expertise.

With the rapidly changing energies this year, it is not 'just good enough' to watch your diet and to exercise. You now have to further listen to the body: you are working, on a daily basis, with very high-level, unfamiliar energies.

Here, a doctor or a nutritionist cannot help you. These energies may demand, on a certain day, a large infusion of nuts or berries, or a sudden increase in your liquid intake.

You now have to be able to intuit the levels of energies in your bodies, and what they need. Names or identities are unimportant; most of these you will never before have experienced.

You will have to learn to distinguish between the 'tricks of the mind' and what your bodies really need, at a certain moment in time.

Years ago, I was guided to ingest Neem and Tulsi leaves; yet at a recent treatment, I was told these were not necessary...what do I now do?

 What does your gut say?

Oh, I love them!

 Then enjoy them fully. You do not need the amounts you are ingesting, but you would still benefit from a lower dosage.

All plants, and particularly medicinal herbs, are upgrading very rapidly as well. The Neem and Tulsi plants are two prime examples of this, so enjoy their upgraded benefits. For this, however, they need to be in their natural form, and not pre-packaged.

Teams of Universal Medical Personnel now surround Planet Earth. These teams are very much like your teams of doctors who visit and work in rural areas for free.

These teams have been strategically placed around (and within) Earth, and have skills and expertise far beyond yours. They will now be needed by earth and all her inhabitants, during 2012.

It is the Dr. Lang energy that acts as a liaison for them, bridging the gap between their energies and yours.

Different groups have differing functions. Some, for example, will work exclusively with the animal or plant kingdoms, others for the Human race, and yet others for Planet Earth herself, quite exclusively.

As you well know, this year is going to have many major shifts, both physical and otherwise. These teams will be in place to ensure that all moves according to plan.

In some cases, when groups of people exit, the appropriate team will tend to their energetic transfer from matter to spirit. Now you may wonder why this is 'suddenly' necessary; when all this time there has been no need for 'outside assistance'.

Many now want to go an unusual route. Rather than moving through the 'tunnel of light' and into the spirit realm; many advanced souls wish, instead, to bypass this and move instantly into another state of non-physical yet incarnated existence.

Some groups will deliberately choose to move directly from an earthly form, onto another kind of planet, where they can continue to 'live', exist and evolve. The appropriate medical teams will ensure that their structures are readied for this 'instantaneous transfer'.

Many energetically evolved humans are now going to choose this kind of unusual passage.

Please define the energies of the medical teams!

 As there are hundreds of thousands of such teams, this will not be possible. Let us just speak of one such team today: one that comprises of only three entities. Yet this triumvirate vibrates at such intensity, that you could consider them 'only slightly removed from the Godhead'.

They have the ability to work with energies at any level of density or rarification. A single 'thought' of theirs could create or destroy a vast portion of the Universe. These friends are far above the planet, and have offered their services to her very core center.

Do they have a name?

 Just know them in here (pointing to his heart)

These magnificent friends are also helping re-align the Earth's magnetics, and are facilitating the merger of polar energies. They are helping change the crystalline grid of Planet Earth, and are bringing to her core new, inter-planetary knowledge.

They could be considered highly specialized Universal surgeons.

If we can now move directly from our existence here to another 'incarnated' existence, then how can we assimilate unresolved aspects of self?

Assimilation can take place in different ways. Those who choose to move directly to a new form of existence will carry with them a conscious recollection of unassimilated issues on Earth. They will contain the old and the new vibration within self. Through this process, they hope to be able to work on it from new, fresh and more vibrant levels.

(Inaudible question)

Human doctors, scientists and inventors are currently going through a rough patch. A part of self is urging them to push their boundaries, and to explore the unknown and untested. They can literally feel the big new break-through, just out of reach. Simultaneously, they are 'pulled back' by the energy of their fraternities, who choose the old, blocked, blinkered path.

The collective consciousness of these groups now has to choose to leap forward, and to joyously marry science with spirituality. They have to acknowledge that the power lies within self, and that the Universe itself is at their fingertips.

YOU HAVE THE BLESSINGS, JOY, LOVE AND LIGHT OF DOCTOR LANG.
