THE ENERGIES OF THE EINSTEIN

Channeled by Sohrab

THE WORLD WIDE WEB
THE UNIVERSAL WEB
THE REALM OF INFINITE OPPORTUNITIES
THE REALM OF INFINITE POSSIBILITIES

Trance Channeling begins

 What is the most physical, yet spiritual, tool that you have on earth today?

The Internet!

Is that why it is called the World Wide Web?

(Another group member suggested it could also be referred to as What a Wonderful World.)

Most definitely! At a prior session, you had been told that the concept of the Internet was introduced to earth by a group of Universal Friends, when Earth's consciousness was judged to be ready for this tremendous upgrade. The seeds were planted in the appropriate scientific and technological brains and www was 'created'.

Now let us take this further.

You now take for granted that when you wish to research a subject, you simply type it into Google, and you receive reams of information that you then sift through.

What you receive is an 'earthified' aspect of Universal information: information that has been accessed and then uploaded by a person or a group who have certain knowledge of it, desire to share it and, in doing so, help others shift.

That person has energetically connected with higher levels of this knowledge, but has then 'earthified' it: put it into words, combining it with his particular energetic signature. In this process, the expanded consciousness of the information is lowered to a certain degree.

Now, when you are looking up a certain subject, thousands of options open up before you. You choose a selection to study, and within those, some 'speak' to you, and others don't.

You intuitively resonate with those that are of a similar frequency to yours, and through them, you touch the consciousness of the person who has uploaded the information, and combine this with your own consciousness.

Now let us speak of a third layer: the energies that esoterically support, and give weightage to, the information you read. This comes not from the World Wide Web, but from the Universal Web.

The Universal Web is extremely energetically refined. Its energies cannot easily be harnessed by you, as it vibrates at a frequency far beyond yours; but it can be accessed through the energies of the words you read, and the information with which you connect. You must now learn to connect with this realm, by going beyond the words you read, and the information you digest.

The Universal Web is also the realm of Infinite Opportunities. This realm is not 'contained' in one space, nor one dimension. It flows throughout the Universe.

Let us examine this very practically. Let us say that you are getting a strong 'urge' to explore a new business venture, or a new hobby. This urge itself comes from your own higher aspects, which have merged with the realm of Infinite Opportunities, and are provoking you to explore this adventure.

However, as the energies are so rarified, and therefore so unfamiliar, you tend to often ignore these urges, or to avoid them, using earthly logic: "Yes, I really want to take up music lessons, but where am I going to find the time to fit this into my schedule?"

Now what we are urging you to do is not just heed the call, but to actually enter this realm directly, moment to moment, using your free will choice, and to explore who you could be and what you could do. This would open up to you aspects you never dreamt possible.

When you start doing this, you will also discover aspects that you may not wish to exercise; you are not bound to explore each and every one. But do find out what you are attracted to and understand that it could be a possible opportunity.

Let us say that you are watching an undersea program on the television, and at the same time you connect to the realm of Infinite Opportunities. You may find that you are deeply attracted to this aspect of Planet Earth, and that you could have been an oceanographer. This may not be something you choose; but instead, you may decide to, on your next holiday, explore scuba diving, which may be an activity you have never before attempted. Understand your deep sea connection, without dismissing it as a 'flight of fancy'.

Can we also, at that moment, using the realm, 'enter the body' of the scuba diver we are watching on TV, and experience it through him?

■ Absolutely! And you can do the same with a dancer, or an athlete, or anyone to whom you are 'drawn'. You may actually be experiencing an alternate aspect of self, in another reality, at the same time.

In fact, this is to be encouraged in those who claim they have 'two left feet' or have 'a lack of coordination'. It would actually bring about a change in their physicality.

Many of us already do this: when we watch an uplifting film, we often 'become' the heroine and experience it with her....

■ As you should! Your society has unfortunately imposed upon you 'conditioning'. This conditioning blocks you from experiencing the exuberance of spirit, which is your natural state, and your divine right.

How often has your child just 'spoken his truth', and you have urged him not to do so, as what he has just said is socially unacceptable. And yet, his words have not come as criticism or judgment; they are simply wide-eyed observations.

Through conditioning, you are taught not to dream, not to fantasize, and not to be yourselves. We ask you now to consciously reverse the process. Visit the realm of infinite possibilities. Nothing is impossible.

What is the difference between the realm of Infinite Opportunities, and the Realm of Infinite Possibilities?

■ Through the realm of Infinite Opportunities, you explore actual opportunities that you might choose to integrate into your earthly life: for example, learning a new skill or taking up a new hobby. These would be very tangible and do-able opportunities.

Let us suppose that a person is severely injured, and is bed-ridden. If he first touches this realm, and wanted to be a marathon runner, this is not, at that moment, feasible, given his condition.

However, by touching that realm, he would begin to change his energetic structure, which would lead him into the Realm of Infinite Possibilities. Through this, he might be able, at a future date, to heal sufficiently to become the runner he desires to be.

So basically you are saying that we can always change our outcome?

■ Yes, but you need to go into it, desiring to experience the exuberance of self.

Now let us look at these realms from a different perspective. A human being, whose path is not to be a murderer, but who finds himself 'impelled' to act out these impulses, can actually enter these realms and experience this aspect of self there. By doing so, he can actually change his current life. He can actually remove his current desire to exercise these impulses.

By using the realm of Infinite Opportunities, you can make shifts in your past, present and future.

Let us say that you are currently an adult, but have always been labeled slow and stupid. You have now, due to this conditioning, internalized this.

You can visit the realm of Infinite Opportunities, and touch aspects of your brilliance. By exploring this repeatedly and by taking it further each time, you are simultaneously changing the energies of your past, your present and your future.

You will slowly start to acknowledge aspects of your brilliance that you had never before seen: for example, though you may not be a brilliant mathematician, you may be an expert in people management, or in languages, or in running a household.

This acknowledgement of brilliance automatically affects what we call your 'energetic stream'. And when you add this acknowledgment into the stream, it does not stay fixed at the point (in time) in which you add it in; it spreads both upstream and downstream.

I am suddenly reminded of a girl who recently carried the Olympic torch: she was, at one point, bed-ridden, and was told that she would never be a sportswoman again.

 Most humans, who have overcome physical or mental challenges, have been regular visitors to the Realm of Infinite Opportunities. They have clearly glimpsed future opportunities, and to this they have added to this their conscious will: "I refuse to see this as an obstacle in my future".

So could one retard the aging process?

 You can indeed. You can also cure yourselves of diseases, reverse failing eyesight, and do a number of other things as well.

Now let us look at this realm from an even wider perspective. As you can now understand, it flows free throughout the Universe, and is 'free for all'. Each entity and each society within the Universe has a divine right to use it.

Many evolved societies around the Universe touch it as a matter of course: it is simply natural to them. Though this is still unfamiliar to you at the conscious level, you are now at an energetic level where you wish to push your boundaries and make it inherent to self.

Each person on earth who has achieved great success in any field, be it business or the arts or simply nurturing self and others; has done so by constantly visiting the Realm of Infinite Opportunities.

When one single person does so (as in the example of a human who has overcome physical disability and has become an athlete), he creates a 'ripple effect': all in his ambit are provoked to follow suit. It takes one powerful book to affect the lives of people around the world; one person to speak out against oppression to shift the collective consciousness; and one dynamic and just leader to change around a country.

How does this happen? The maverick is, consciously or unconsciously, constantly visiting the Realm of Infinite Opportunities. In doing so, he emits an energy that you pick up, urging you to expand your boundaries and to do the same.

This discourse is timely, as planet Earth is currently emitting an impulse from her very core, urging all her inhabitants to touch this realm. It will be the strongest over the next three days, but will naturally continue far beyond that.

Why not ride the intensity of the wave? Spend time visiting the realm of Infinite Opportunities: do this in meditation, in a daydream or by simply willing it so. Explore all that you are, and all that you could be. Explore the aspects you might desire to incorporate into your earthly existence, as well as those that are so outlandish that you would not consider them. No matter, discover them all.

(Here the Master begins pointing at various group members, turn by turn) She, for example, has it within self to be a World Leader, though she chooses not to exercise that opportunity. She has the opportunity to be a matriarch and a female liberator. She has the opportunity to be a finance maverick.

Explore this realm, starting with aspects that already excite you: the concept, for example, of being a great dancer, singer or athlete. Then push your boundaries, and explore opportunities that you never believed were possible. You may surprise yourselves. You may find an innate ability to be a mathematician or an astronomer, even though you may not choose to exercise that aspect of self in this incarnation.

As you do this, you are altering your energetic stream. Soar, fly and imagine what opportunities you could take, or could have taken. Excite yourselves. Fall in love with yourselves all over again.

This seems so timely, when the world, in general, seems to be in a state of apathy!

 You are correct: that is why little impulses, like this gift from planet Earth, are being offered as an energetic 'incentive'. This was not 'pre-planned'; but Earth has decided this is the appropriate moment to offer her inhabitants this bounty.

I think She is just making sure that everyone moves forward at a rapid rate!

A gift is not always a 'happy' present; it may sometimes include a 'kick in the rear end'!
(all laugh)

Planet Earth is now moving at break-neck speed: there is no place on her anymore for those who do not keep pace. You may choose to see this as exciting, or as heartless: the choice is yours. No matter how you see it, she works with an embrace of all her inhabitants, urging them forward.

She now offers you many opportunities for self-awareness and growth: don't disregard them, explore them all. You will now find myriad opportunities flooding your homes, your personal and professional lives and yourselves. Explore them all, and take those which resonate with you.

Dormant parts of the physical brain are now beginning to awaken. For this group, for example, psychic activity is the norm; but for others it is not, and they may begin to awaken to it. You may begin to awaken to other, as yet unexplored, facets of life.

You must now merge the physical with the 'higher soul': you cannot continue to see these parts of self as separate. Learn to merge self with Self, so that you are in a continuous and joyous state of merger. Learn to 'flow' at all times.

BLESSINGS FROM A COLLECTIVE HEADED BY THE ENERGIES OF THE EINSTEIN.
