Sohrab's channeling:

A NEW UNIVERSAL 'MUSIC SOURCE'
THE SIGNATURE TUNE OF SELF

(Prior to the meeting, Sohrab had mentioned the names of several people who had requested healing, along with a special request made by a friend of a certain lady (S), who had been in a coma for 15 years. As the meeting started, Sohrab connected with S.)

S: (Speaking with great force) Do not offer me light! Do not interfere with the processes! The comatose state must be left undisturbed!
(Sohrab shifts energies)

Trance Channeling begins

 Greetings!

Kindly respect the wishes of that soul. The processes that she is undergoing are extremely complex and though, to you, the period of time seems 'unbearably long', they are necessary to her.

There are also lessons that her family is stubbornly refusing to learn and she must wait patiently for them to do so. She is an extremely strong soul; and one who has quite deliberately chosen this path, not only for her own growth, but also for the extended family. Please do not offer her pity or sympathy; instead offer her your respect.

(Pointing to a newcomer) Dear friend, though we rarely single out individuals in a group meeting, we must offer you a few words of guidance: that is why you are here today.

You are soon to be a practicing soul messenger: do not resist the process. We are aware that there is fear within you and you are still unsure how to work and how to interpret that which you receive. All will be made clear shortly: just do not resist the process.

Your visions will now increase. Some many continue to come through the dream state, others will come in the waking state as well. You are not to shy away from them. Use them in the fullness of self. Explore them further. Ask self what you are motivated to do with them.

Embrace your gift, and who you are. You will shortly be able to use them for self and for the benefit of many others as well. Your mission is now starting.

BLESSINGS FROM THE BEHRAM YAZAD

(Sohrab shifts energies)

Music! Yes, we have spoken of this many times in the past and yet we must speak of music again. A new rhythm is now emanating from deep within the Universe.

You are aware that with your limited tonal range on Earth, you vibrate with only an infinitesimal fraction of the full resonance of the OM. It is actually comprised of trillions of energetic notes, vibrations and resonances. Being the 'sound of creation', it is naturally ever-expanding.

It may interest you to know that there is now a new 'musical source' in the Universe.

For the convenience of your visualization, you could imagine this to be a vast planet, much larger than your sun, in the distant reaches of the Universe. Of course it is not a planetary body at all, but an energetic conglomeration of musical resonances emitted by different societies around the Universe.

Each society emits a 'signature tune': this tune, when interpreted, gives an exact blueprint of that society's evolution, in every sphere of its existence.

This new 'musical source' acts as a celestial musical library. However, this library is not dormant, but inter-active. As it collects the signature tunes of various societies, it merges them, creatively producing an ever-growing, complex symphony.

This ever-evolving symphony is then broadcast back into the Universe, offering each society the opportunity to benefit from the musicality of others. It acts as a giant amplifier for the growth of Universal consciousness.

On Earth, for example, as you receive the benefit of this new music, your cellular structure is urged to evolve, expand and subtly accept the magnificent influence of other societies.

Individually, each human has a particular, yet ever-evolving 'signature tune'. This is fed by the wisdom of your own higher soul, as well as by your creative thoughts, words and actions in this particular incarnation.

You are, therefore, a product of the Universal OM, the resonances of your higher soul, and the resonances of all your current, simultaneous existences. Now, you are also being influenced further by the new musical source.

The new musical influence is urging you to expand and move into uncharted territory. You will find this urging you to re-write your attitudes, belief structures, personality traits, moral codes, thought processes, moods and the like. You will also be urged to re-write the external circumstances that you had formerly chosen for growth and evolution. You have the divine right, and the divine inner tools, to do so.

This process has already begun. Most will find this intimidating, as the human race is not accustomed to this level of inner power. When you learn how big you can be, you generally hold back.

Many are currently experiencing emotional turmoil. Many are feeling stuck, trapped and 'in limbo'. Many feel that they do not have the 'energy' or inclination to initiate anything in their lives. Most of these feelings come from your resistance to the colossal energetic infusions that you are receiving. The cells are fighting this, fearing their destruction.

Let us offer you a few pointers to help alleviate the situation. Bear in mind, however, that each one must find his own, unique methodology.

Constantly relax the body. Talk to your cells, and gently urge them to open to the new, vibrant energies. Assure them that they will not be destroyed; only enhanced.

Get in touch with your body on a daily basis. Begin to listen to your own 'signature tune'. Sit quietly with yourself, preferably in the morning, and listen with the inner ear.

Do not pre-suppose what you are about to hear. On one day, it may simply be the sound of the Om. On another, it may simply be an energetic rhythm. On a third, you may actually find yourself listening to a piece of music with which you are familiar.

No matter what you 'hear', be with it. Acknowledge how it makes you feel. Is it vibrant and upbeat, or slow and melodious? Align with it. That is likely to be the best way for you to function that day.

Sometimes the musical rhythm will remain the same throughout the day. At other times it may change in a few hours. Keep listening. If you practice this, it will soon become 'second nature' to you.

Let us suppose that on a particular morning, the inner music seems to evoke a feeling of 'exploration' within you. Then consciously choose to explore your day very joyously. Explore your own home. See things about it that you hadn't noticed before. Explore your family members, pushing your boundaries to acknowledge aspects of them that you haven't explored. Get fascinated with the process of eating your breakfast. Live that day in wonderment, like a child.

As you familiarize yourselves with your inner music, you will find that you intuitively and instantly know when you are off-track. Your inner music, and your external behavior, will be at odds. You will then be able to correct this instantly.

Through these processes, you will discover a new inner balance and expansion taking place. You will be at peace with self and with the world around you. And yet you will be marvelously pro-active and alive.

So far, we have spoken only of the 'inner music', but what of external music? This is naturally upgrading as well. Musical fusion is taking place at a rapid rate. In this case, we are not referring to two genres being physically merged, but to the energetic mergers, even within an established piece of music.

A piece of music that you have listened to for years now contains, within itself, new and upgraded resonances and celestial coding. What you receive from it today, and how it affects your cellular composition, is now completely different.

Music now has even higher qualities of healing, alignment, balance and expansion. Some of you in this room, who practice healing, may even choose to work exclusively with music for a while. Try it, and see what you can do with it. Music is truly the foundation of the Universe.

So what of "the music of the spheres"?

■ That is precisely what we are speaking of. The music of the spheres is contributing to the new musical 'planet', which, in turn, is upgrading all that is.

For example, the orbits of all planets and other celestial bodies are now changing, and becoming far more complex. What appears to be a standard elliptical path is no longer just that: there are various complex shifts in it, and new elements of both rotation and revolution, which cannot yet be detected by your astronomical instruments. Orbits now move between dimensions as well, appearing and re-appearing in one or the other.

We can now actually listen to 'the song of the sun' on the net; yet it sounds awful!

It 'sounds awful' simply because your instruments, and your ear, only pick up a fraction of its symphony. Were you to fully hear the sun-song, it would be like a siren song to you: you would be unable to resist it, and your energies would expand so quickly that you would instantly implode, and become a black hole.

So, in this incarnation, that cannot be permitted, as you would not fulfill your chosen growth and evolution.

However, as you evolve, you are now ready to hear a little more Universal music that you could before, and you therefore generate a higher frequency, moment to moment.

As your music evolves, so do you. Not only physically (aren't you very different from your caveman ancestors?) but mentally, emotionally and spiritually. For this to take place, you have to rapidly shed all old structures that you cling to, so tenaciously!

Sometimes, when one is painting, one hears inner music. Is this the creative 'signature tune' of self?

Absolutely!

Earlier, you spoke of 'creative thoughts, words and actions'. Yet I am not a creative person at all.

There is not a soul in the Universe who is not creative! You may not be an 'official' artist, actor or musician, but every single human is deeply creative.

Doesn't your heart miraculously pump from the moment you are born to the moment you die? Don't your cells re-generate every single moment? Don't you live life, making creative, moment-to-moment choices? Aren't your thoughts creative? Can't you appreciate the joy of music, or a walk on the beach, or the beauty of a sunset? The very fact that you are living this particular incarnation, with all the various, multi-faceted experiences you have set down for self, proves your magnificent creativity.

You have a conscious block, and constantly deny your creativity. We suggest you sit down and list, for self, as many areas, both practical and esoteric, where you are creative.

Let us start you off with just three:

Aren't you an extremely creative cook? A wonderful, caring, thoughtful friend? Don't you have an exciting, inventive love of clothing and fashion?

Yes, to all three!

Creativity is the very core of energy, and of existence.

Is it possible for us to change or alter our blueprint?

Dear friend, this has been spoken of, in great detail, at a prior session. However, let us touch upon it again today.

In the past, prior to an upcoming incarnation, you would formulate a blueprint, a 'game plan' for self, with the help of various guides and Masters. You would then incarnate, and begin to play this out. Within this relatively fixed blueprint, you would have decided the issues that you wished to assimilate, and would have also set up the appropriate external circumstances to facilitate this. You would also have placed, within the blueprint, various 'cornerstone' events, which were inviolable. Come what may, you would encounter these and work with them.

Now, blueprints are fluid. In the past, there were a limited number of 'exit points', and if you didn't take the first few, you would have had to take the last one. Now, you are reviewing your exit option 20 to 30 times A DAY.

Now, you can also touch your power and change this already fluid blueprint, and work it any way you like. You are still likely to work on the issues that you had set out for self, but the methodology is entirely in your hands. In fact, you are now re-creating circumstances and 'game strategies' that you had never envisaged possible.

Is this why so many individuals and societies seem to be in chaos?

To a degree, yes. Many people are unaccustomed to the level of power they now wield, and do not know what to do with it. Just as a beggar, who wins a lottery, may sometimes hoard it all and continue to live in abject poverty.

So how can music help in this?

Music is the creative force of the Universe. Understand music, and you understand self and the Universe.

BLESSINGS FROM THE ENERGIES OF THE KRISHNA

(Sohrab shifts energies)

Why are you here today? Each and every one in this room has a very, very special internal relationship with music. Each one here has the power to align with his inner music, and to change self with it.

A karma yogi is a musician. A philosopher is a musician. A light worker is a musician. A housewife who cares for her family is a musician. Everyone is a musician.

What are the 'vibes' of your home, if not your inner music? What are your thoughts, words and deeds, if not your music?

Be the Universal musician that you already are.

SAI KA PRANAM.
