THE GANESH COLLECTIVE (Part 2)
THE EFFECT OF THE 2012 GANESH ENERGIES ON:

- BUSINESS AND FINANCE
- POLITICS
- MONEY
- CREATIVITY
- FUTURE PROJECTIONS

Trance Channeling begins

 Open to receiving a fragrance today. In some cases, the fragrance will be physical. In other cases, it may simply be intuited. (Pause)

Now allow self to show you an appropriate visual, in associating with this fragrance. (Pause)

Now bathe yourself in this fragrance. Inside and out. Ask self why you have been given this fragrance and this visual. Is there a message in it for you? Are you being urged to stimulate an aspect of self? Is it simply a blessing of the self?

Embrace this aspect. (Pause) And so it is, and so it is, and so it is.

(Various group members are now invited to share their experiences, which they do.)

BLESSINGS FROM THE LADY OF THE FLOWERS.

(Sohrab shifts energies)

 The Ganesh Collective greets you.

Let us speak now of another aspect that will be targeted during this period, and beyond it: that of business and finance. Ah Ha: you are all worrying about your portfolios now. (All laugh)

An 'energetic emetic' has been supplied to many who head corporations, businesses and other financial institutions. When you ingest an emetic, you are forced to vomit:

through this procedure, energetic debris that has been stored for a lifetime will now be forced out.

Not only corporate heads, but all those in the area of business and finance who hold positions of authority and decision-making will now be forced to regurgitate their greed, corruption and manipulation. This will then be 'on display' for the world to see.

Through this process, the person will be forced to face the open scandal; and through this, review self and his procedures. He now will have created, within self, an 'energetic space', which he can choose to fill differently, with more expansive energies. He will have the opportunity to truly make a shift, and to explore a new and more evolved path.

Simultaneously, as you, members of the public, are 'vomited upon'; you are urged to stand up and speak out for your rights and privileges.

How often have you grumbled to friends about the sad state of affairs in the world today? How often have you sighed and bemoaned the corruption and greed in your country? Yet you have done very little about it. You are now being urged to shoulder your part of the responsibility, and to do what you must.

Some may have to form (or join) anti-corruption committees, others may have to initiate law suits for personal matters, and yet others may feel impelled to work energetically for this procedure to take place. But 'speak up and speak out' you must.

During this process, companies, stocks and portfolios are going to go through a period of flux. Markets are going to zigzag: sometimes rising steeply, and then dropping thereafter. It is going to be very difficult for anyone to accurately predict any kind of market trend over the new few years.

In general, invest safely. Take occasional risks, when you feel urged to do so; and if your gut tells you to exit at a particular point in time, most certainly do so, without hesitation. Attempt to stay secure and balanced.

Are you making us purge? In short, are you officially 'whacking us'?

 No, we are not 'whacking you'; but we are offering you the opportunity to purge. And most of you will 'swallow the pill', so be alert to personal purging as well. Areas that you have stubbornly refused to address in the past will most certainly emerge with a force that may astound you.

Businesses and corporations that now refuse to acknowledge their debris will begin to spiral downward, hit rock-bottom, and explode. This explosion is their purge.

You spoke earlier of the root behind this being greed. Go further: where does greed come from? Insecurity. Where does insecurity come from? A lack of self-love and self-respect.

This is what the current Ganesh energies, in conjunction with those of the Mother Mary, the Lady Kwan Yin and the brother Joseph, are helping you touch.

Are you only speaking of those in 'a position of authority' in companies and corporations?

■ We actually refer to all those in positions of authority everywhere: teachers, lawmakers, politicians, parents and the like.

So now, when scams are made public, the question is: what are you going to do about them? If you love and respect self, you will feel urged to take a stand, and to initiate a change.

You earlier said that when a purge takes place, debris is removed, making space for the introduction of new energies. What happens when people simply fill the space with their old energies, patterns and structures?

■ Most do, as that is familiar to them, and their 'comfort zone'. Then the purge will be repeated, time and again; offering the person a repeated opportunity to re-evaluate self.

Isn't this what you do as well? You often 'make a mistake', and then repeatedly do so in the future. Each time the intensity grows, and the inner dissatisfaction grows, till you eventually are forced to learn your lesson.

Now let us look at politics.

It may interest you to know that many leaders from various Universal societies are currently visiting planet Earth, and are holding what might be termed 'celestial conferences'. These are being attended by the energies of many current world leaders and politicians.

Various Universal societies naturally have unusual and different perspectives to offer you. Many Universal 'political mavericks' are also in attendance. All these friends are offering you the benefit of their advice and guidance.

Though I am sure this is much needed, doesn't this seem a bit like external influence?

■ Not at all: no co-coercion is taking place, but energetic stimulus is certainly being offered to those who wish to receive it. You could liken this procedure to a ‘motivational seminar’, which inspires people to push their boundaries and move forward in an exciting new direction.

The political scenario is the one with the most blockages on planet Earth; therefore it is also the most fragile. The more rigid a structure becomes, the more danger there is of fragmentation.

Certain mavericks have already been placed in the political arena, in appropriate positions, to begin the necessary repair, restoration and upliftment; but this is going to take time.

These mavericks will take on two predominant roles: that of the extremist/ provocateur, or that of the ‘wise Universal being’. These two seemingly opposing forces are actually working together, to restore the political arena to one of equilibrium and expansion.

Now, since there are ‘celestial conferences’ taking place, and the political energetic grid is beginning to re-create itself, those in this field who are not specifically productive for the evolution of earth will begin to drop out of the political arena. Some will be removed from office; others will resign for personal reasons, and so on.

Even cities or areas that have a political stronghold will be affected: some may experience natural shifts, others demonstrations and strikes. Your own country’s capital city is likely, in the future, to experience this through the element of fire, and through mass uprising. For your whole country, Ray 4 is likely to make itself felt: Harmony through Conflict.

Certain appropriate ‘infusions’ will be gently offered from various parts of the world: these subtle offerings will at first be tentatively tried out, and finally implemented. Currently, for example, Scandinavia is offering the rest of the world the opportunity to examine money and monetary schemes from a fresh perspective.

The energy of money, which has been studied by you a few years ago, is once again undergoing an upgrade, and is therefore being reviewed afresh by the human consciousness.

You already know that money is ‘God’s energy’, as chosen by you, on Earth. It is time to re-examine, in minute detail, your relationship with money; just as you did in the past. If you are currently experiencing any kind of lack, inadequacy, financial instability, or insecurities of any kind; then it is vital that you once again sit with self and re-examine your relationship with money in the now. The Ganesh energies, in conjunction with those of the Laxmi, are currently facilitating this shift.

Dear friends: some good news! The Ganesh collective is now deliberately stimulating your creative centre. The physical area in the brain that taps into your higher-soul creativity is now beginning to access the Ganesh energies at an accelerated rate. This is being done by all humans, worldwide.

When your creative center is stimulated, you begin to get more creative about self. You start to review who you were, who you are, and who you can be. You also begin to tap into alternative, simultaneous aspects of self, in different time-lines and different incarnations, and combine these energies in any way pleasing to the self.

Many humans, for example, are currently feeling impelled to explore creative aspects of self that they may not have, in the past; such as music, dance, painting and writing. Self-expression is becoming a necessity, not a luxury.

Many are also touching and exploring both their masculine and feminine sides, and are discovering the potency of both, when they work fluidly together. Many, both men and women, are discovering the power of the feminine energy, which they have previously either dismissed or overlooked.

Through this process, for example, many previously suppressed, poor and uneducated women are suddenly finding the strength to speak up, speak out and demand their rightful place in society. They are touching a previously undiscovered streak of inner independence, courage and self-acknowledgment.

Use the Ganesh energies joyously in these areas. Discover your creative sides. Please remember that creativity does not only refer to 'the arts', but permeates every aspect of your lives. You can be a creative businessperson, a creative financier, a creative cook and a creative parent.

As this creativity is touched, over time, by more and more people, you will notice a new renaissance taking place the world over. New concepts, ideals and belief systems will give rise to vibrant, cutting-edge literature, film, drama, dance and music. Fusion forms will be more widely accepted.

Touching your creative center is the best form of purging: though this, you express self, release old debris, and smoothly give rise to the new self.

Can you give us a projection of what we can achieve, with our potential, over the next few decades?

 This projection would be very fluid, dear friend: what you can achieve, and what you will achieve, and quite different things.

Here are some likely projections:

Equality between the sexes is likely to reach new heights. Jobs which are still considered the stronghold of males will be taken over by women. Over the next two decades, more and more women will be heading corporations and even countries. They will also shine in the areas of technology, finance, astronomy and medicine.

Similarly, men will become more task-sharing at home. The rearing of children will become an evenly-divided task, and the concept of stay-at-home husbands with breadwinner wives will become completely acceptable.

With the rise of the creative force, both sexes will slowly experience both the masculine and the feminine within the self; therefore they will become more understanding and accepting of each other, as they begin to acknowledge and accept those aspects within the self.

What about the concept of religion?

■ Religion, per se, will never die out completely; but its imbalanced stranglehold on the populace will reduce drastically. It is indeed hoped that, within the next century, there will be the concept of a 'world religion', in which all peoples of the planet see themselves as just that, and more...as children of the Universe.

What about currency?

■ The collective consciousness is working towards a common, world currency. However, it is also tending towards a combination of a fiscal currency and a new barter system.

For example, in future deals, two mega-corporations may use a combination of an exchange of both currency and shared technology. On a smaller scale, many will barter their skills with another's; each would therefore benefit without any financial exchange.

Will there be boundaries between countries?

■ Dear one, it is our greatest desire that the human race evolves to a point where they don't require boundaries; but instead see themselves as one unified planet. Boundaries do serve a purpose in governance; but they are not intended to be areas that see themselves as different, or more entitled, than another.

Look at this practically: when you study for an examination, you do need to divide up your study course, and focus on different subjects, or topics within a certain subject, for your own understanding and clarity.

Similarly, a page needs to be divided into paragraphs for your convenience. But this does not make one paragraph better than another.

A unified world government is certainly in your distant future: one which views the world as a whole, but divides it into regions based on climatic differences and crop productivity; rather than religious or colour divisions.

Are you aware that your planet has enough food, water, and natural resources to feed, clothe, house and provide power to all, TEN TIMES OVER? And yet, there are constant shortages in certain areas, and unnecessary surpluses in others.

Energetically, you have to still 'earn the right' to a relatively boundary-less planet. It is only when you touch true compassion, for self and for all others, that you will be able to achieve this.

THE GANESH COLLECTIVE, ALONG WITH 101 ENERGIES, EMBRACE YOU.
