TACHYON ENERGY
NEW ENERGETIC SHIFTS IN THE UNIVERSE
PLASMA
HOW THE HUMAN RACE IS NOW SHIFTING BETWEEN DIMENSIONS AND REALITIES

Please close your eyes, and experience the energies in this room today. They are unusual, very light, yet extremely vibrant. As you begin to connect with them, see this room as having no boundaries. Breathe in these energies. (Pause)

Now breathe them in through the 3rd eye, and feel this area expand.

Now breathe them in through the heart chakra, and let this area expand.

Now through the tailbone.

Now breathe them in through the palms of your hands, and the soles of your feet. Experience an inner lightness, emptiness.

If anyone has aches, pains or physical discomfort, open these areas and bathe them in the energies.

Now take a moment and visualize yourselves in a four-sided energetic pyramid. Make this as high and wide as you want. Sit in this pyramid, and allow your bodies to disintegrate; become pure light. Merge with these energies.

And so it is, and so it is, and so it is. Return to consciousness.

You have just experienced tachyon energy. This energy has no frequency, no particular vibration, and cannot be contained. It can only be briefly experienced. Any tachyonized object therefore acts as a passageway, not a container, for the energy. If you could tune into tachyon energy, totally and completely, you would disintegrate into pure light.

(Indicating N) Dear friend, you have been working with this energy for a while now. Would you like to share your understanding of it with the group?

Tachyon energy is the first energy that differentiates itself from the SOURCE. It has no frequency; therefore it cannot be held or contained. It flows. Every living thing on planet earth uses tachyon energy, unconsciously, to heal, balance and maintain a state of equilibrium.

It is very light and highly intuitive. It has a consciousness of its own, so you can direct it with awareness, to perform whatever you so wish or desire. It is everywhere; it doesn't exist in special situations.

The more 'in balance' you are, the more access you have to it; and the more you access it, the more 'in balance' you become. So it is somewhat of a paradox. The key is to access it in full awareness, in order to reap the maximum benefit from it.

Thank you!

Planet Earth has, starting this week, placed herself in an energetic pyramid of pure consciousness, and is drawing to self high levels of tachyon energy. By doing the same just now, you have simply aligned yourselves with Her magnificence.

Tachyon energies are going to be easily accessible to the human race during this particular week. We urge you, during the next few days, to consciously choose to access these energies, and allow them to flow through you.

Should you choose to do so, simply invite them in. You cannot really direct them to work in a specific manner in your structure; they are highly sentient and will intuitively heal, balance and align the self.

What you can do, however, is make very definite commitments to self. If you do so, and then align with the tachyon energies, they will only further these personal commitments in the speediest and most effective manner.

What do you mean by ‘commitments to self’?

Commitments to self refer to any and everything that you wish to create or recreate in your lives. You could choose, for example, to dedicate your current self to the balancing and re-alignment of your physical, mental, emotional and spiritual bodies. You could choose to commit to assimilating a particularly stubborn issue, or to changing a particular relationship. You could also choose to open to new insights, knowledge, awareness and wisdom. You could choose to create an outcome that you have always desired.

There are two important points to note when making this commitment:

The first: Do not use ‘negative’ terminology. If you say “I want to lose 10 kgs”, you are implying that those excess kilos are evil and nasty. The tachyon energies may then facilitate this by helping you lose a leg in a car accident; thereby giving you your desired weight loss. They do not view a one-legged person as an abnormality.

Choose, instead, to frame the same desire in a positive manner, such as “I choose to be in perfect physical and energetic shape, form, balance and alignment.” The tachyon energies will then help bring this about.

The second: If you have already chosen growth through a situation or task that, from your perspective, appears to be painful or traumatic, the tachyon energies will not change this. They will, however, bring matters to a head, and help you work through them at an accelerated pace.

In either case, tachyon energies will help you effortlessly touch your power, increase your motivation and expand.

Do not ignore this wonderful window of opportunity, dear friends.

Each one in this room desires to work upon at least 10 areas of commitment. Go ahead. Shift, change, fine-tune and balance out your lives. Use these energies joyously.

Trust that, even though the outcome may not be instantaneous, by working with the energies you have put the commitments in motion, and you will speed up your own processes.

May we use this to serve others as well?

You may; but be aware that the flow may be accepted or rejected by the higher soul of the recipient, as is his level of readiness.

Here too, we urge you to use a positive affirmation. Direct tachyon energies to another with a statement like “May these energies flow through me to X, and do what is in perfection with her growth and evolution.”

Are tachyon energies going to be flowing through earth for only one week?

Not at all: once accessed, they are forever. But at your level of vibration, you will feel their effects the strongest this particular week.

Let us offer a gift to all those lightworkers and seekers who are not in the room today. Whenever a person reads the transcript of this meeting, or hears of this for the first time, he will have direct access to the same intense level of the energies for the next three days.

What of all the others, worldwide, who do not?

Let us assure you that they will not ‘lose out’. Every single person, worldwide, is currently experiencing a surge of energies. They are beginning to feel lighter, airier, more expanded. Their higher souls will access it, at an appropriate level, for the self.

Please connect with tachyon energies frequently: experience it flowing around and within the self. See how the skin absorbs it. Begin to breathe it in from every pore.

Where does this energy come from?

It has no one source or point of origin. It is comprised of layer upon layer of pure Universal consciousness.

A Universe-wide energetic shift has recently taken place. You could visualize this as a Universal earthquake. Through this process, a whole series of new energies have been birthed, and consciousness is being re-created, moment to moment. Energies are flowing one into another, exploding and imploding, and creating Universal waves.

Every single Universal society is therefore experience a major shift. Some are simply upgrading; others are collapsing, so that a new birthing of the self can take place. Tidal waves of light and consciousness are flowing throughout the cosmos. Some planets and star systems are shifting polarity or position.

It may interest you to know that Planet Earth has shifted her physical position in the Universe. She is not where she was last year. Your astronomers have begun to notice this, but are not yet able to understand the phenomenon. (Pointing to D) As our in-house scientific expert, what have you read about this?

Exactly what was just said. Scientists and astronomers have observed dramatic changes in the position of planet earth and her surrounding planetary bodies. They have also observed huge energetic shifts and movement in the Universe, but are unable to understand this. They are also talking about plasma: something in the Universe that seems to have no substance. It seems to be 'nothing', yet it exists.

Thank you.

When you move or turn around on earth, you are aware of this because you have another set of reference points around you that do not move. But if you were in complete darkness, and in a void, you would not be sure of your new direction. You would, however, know that 'something had changed', due to your internal compass.

When we speak of Earth having shifted position, we do not only refer to a third dimensional shift in a particular direction. She is beginning to move through plasma, shifting between different dimensions and realities. Technically, she could be in exactly the same physical position as she was a moment ago; and yet could have 'shifted'. This could be visualized by her 'fading in and out'.

Now, you are always reflections of your mother planet; if she is doing this, so are you. Many are experiences momentary dizziness and disorientation.

This often occurs when you have shifted from one experience or reality into another, and then back again. From your current perspective, you have been away a micro-second. But you may have visited another aspect of the self for the equivalent of an earth year.

You are now repeatedly moving through plasma, visiting other aspects of self, assimilating knowledge and experience, and then returning to the current self.

Now imagine that a person has made a plasma shift, visited another aspect of self for a year, and then returned to the current self the next split second. He has now, at a higher conscious level, imbibed a year's worth of experiences and gained a year's worth of self-awareness.

The aspect of self that you have just visited may have had no conscious awareness of this, but he will probably have felt secure in the presence of an energetic friend. You have grown vicariously through his experiences; and he has had support on his journey.

Now examine this from your current perspective. Many of you can sense presences around you at all times. Some of these are simply other aspects of you, from a different timeline or dimension, visiting you for a period of time, for exactly the same reason. And when they return to their realms, they will feel that they have only been away a second.

Is the Violet Flame composed of tachyon energies?

The violet flame of Saint Germain, just like the Germain/Shakespeare prose, can be accessed at many different levels, depending on the energetic level and the readiness of the person interpreting them.

Now that you are suddenly aware, at a conscious level, of tachyon energies, you will most certainly be able to access that aspect of the violet flame, which you might not have been able to a day ago. All Universal and Master energies are multi-layered.

You are all familiar with the energies of the Christ Office, from the various channelings you have attended over the years. And yet those who are (from your perspective) die-hard, bigoted Catholics, are also accessing a denser layer of the same energies. The two strata are completely different; almost unrecognizably so. Yet both are equally valid.

Never condemn the bigot, never condemn the Jihadi. He is simply accessing a different layer of the same energy that you so love.

Now that I know about these long visits that I make to different aspects of the self, how can I train myself to remember them when I return, so that I can consciously use the knowledge and wisdom that I have gained?

Sit quietly with the self and simply ASK for this to be revealed to you. Don't make this a 'mindless' meditation; demand a very active one.

The key is to be open and in awe of the magnificence of the self.

When we urge you to be awestruck, we mean filled with love, wonderment, and the joyous celebration of the magnificence of the self.

Doesn't this happen in life? You may be exhausted climbing a mountain, but suddenly a stunning vista opens up before you, and you are so overwhelmed by the beauty of your surroundings that you forget your fatigue and race up the path to the top.

These journeys must give us lots of unconscious inspiration...

Precisely! Many scientific, medical and other creative breakthroughs take place because of this.

Let us take the apocryphal story of Newton and the Apple. Newton is dozing under an apple tree. An apple begins to fall. Newton visits an alternative aspect of the self far in the future; a part that is working with high science. He assimilates various scientific truths, including that of the principle of gravity.

He then returns a micro-second later, the apple falls, and he has his A-Ha moment. Gravity!

Now although he may have learned much more than that, the appropriate aspect for revelation in his current reality is only gravity and its basic principles. The rest he stores up sub-consciously, for future use.

Now imagine if he had, hypothetically, also assimilated and shared with the world computer technology. It would simply not have been appropriate, given humanity's level of evolution at that time. A gun in the hands of a child is dangerous.

And you are now ready to begin working with tachyon energy. So you have created it in your reality.

Just now, when we were asked to take in the tachyon energy, I was told that as it had no frequency, I was to visualize it having a scent. This scent would lead me to other dimensions.

Excellent. Now use your intuition: will this be an effective method for others to use as well? (Pause)

Yes, but each person, if she chooses this method, will have to find her own unique fragrance. A strong fragrance, such as petrol or oil, will probably be easier. If a person finds a fragrance literally assaulting her, she should stop in her tracks at that moment and ask which dimension is opening up to her.

Well said. Friends, this is not the only way to connect with the energies, but it may be an easy route for some.

Recently, when I was in the shower, I got very dizzy, and had to go lie down for a bit. Was this related to what has just been said?

Yes, you are correct. You returned after making an extended and intensive visit to another aspect of the self. However, we do urge you to please take care of your physical body and your nutrition during this particular period in time.

Dear friends, this is a general statement for all of you. As you are now working with tachyon and plasma at an accelerated pace, we do urge you to listen very carefully to the needs and the demands of the body.

Many will find, on a particular day, an unusual desire for a larger-than-normal quantity of salt, or sugar. Listen to the body and give it what it needs, without guilt or fear.

You must, of course, learn to distinguish between personal greed and the actual call of the body. But this is much easier than you think. Just tune into the self, and you will know.

Is there any particular technique we can follow to access tachyon energy?

In the past, you were often taught techniques. The newer energies that you are now working with are, in general, so advanced that you will have to devise your own methodology for connection. Each person's will be different and unique. Just trust your self-guidance; you cannot 'go wrong'.

Having said that, you might find the ‘energetic pyramid’ exercise an easy way to first connect with these energies. Or, as these energies are limitless, you might choose to visualize yourselves floating in deep space, with no boundaries around you. Then access the energies.

Are there any limits to it?

None whatsoever. Tachyon energies are limitless and boundless. They cannot be contained. They are a Universal medium. They go beyond what you call ‘dark matter’. They are the non-fabric of the Universe.

When an aspect of the self comes to visit me, does it affect my current choices or my free will?

Not at all.

Does it affect my karma? Could I be influenced by another aspect to do something, or behave in a manner that I usually wouldn’t?

(Laughing) Not at all. Though that would be such a convenient excuse to console yourself for having, once again, given away your power and responsibility, wouldn’t it?

There is no interference whatsoever from your visiting aspect of the self. He simply learns from you vicariously.

What you will experience, however, is a sense of companionship. A feeling of wellbeing, of support, of “I am not alone”.

I have recently been feeling that I have three energies within me. Are these my visiting selves?

These visiting aspects of the self are never ‘within’ you; they are around you. We will speak to you privately, after this session, about the three energies you are sensing within the self.

Currently, you have 37 aspects of the self visiting you, accompanying you everywhere and learning through you. It's party time! (All laugh)

I spoke to S earlier about a very definite UFO sighting that I recently had, along with my family. Could you please verify this?

You saw a Universal space station. The beings in it were energetically mapping portions of the Universe. We must leave you now.
