

Sohrab's Channeling

15th August 2013

EARTH ENTERING A NEW ENERGETIC WORMHOLE

STRIPPING AWAY OLD LAYERS OF CONSCIOUSNESS

NEW HUMAN PROTOTYPES

PROJECTED CHANGES BY 2015

INDIA'S ROOT ISSUE: SEPARATION

Greetings!

For those of you who enjoy reading, we suggest that you pull out your old copy of "Alice in Wonderland" and read it again, this time from your current energetic perspective.

Alice's journey down the rabbit hole has been considered a child's fantasy, or by some intellectuals as 'a drug trip'. It is neither.

The story actually refers to an adult who is young at heart; a person open to accessing new knowledge and wisdom, open to his or her feminine creativity, and open to Universal wonderment.

Her journey 'through the rabbit hole' describes a person entering an energetic wormhole, and visiting undiscovered and unassimilated aspects of the self in different timelines and dimensions. Through this process, she learns to befriend aspects of her rejected self, conquer her fears, and eventually return a more complete human being.

Each and every one of you on Earth is currently going through the rabbit hole.

Planet Earth has recently entered a gigantic Universal wormhole. She is currently rushing through it at great speed. And each one of you is not only on this particular roller-coaster ride, but also opening up individual wormholes within the larger one, to enter and explore.

This process is stripping you bare, layer after layer. You are peeling off old debris, old habits and patterns and old thought processes; and allowing the new 'you' to emerge. It is a process of re-birthing.

You have, in the past, been accustomed to re-birthing from within. You have experienced constant inner change and growth. This process is one of external re-birthing, which you have now added to the earlier procedure.

This process of being stripped, layer by layer, can affect the body and mind. Many of you are experiencing both physical and mental fatigue. A sense of not feeling motivated to do anything. Feeling reclusive and isolated. Not really wanting to socialize too much. Not quite knowing who you are. Being in limbo.

This fallout process can be made smoother and easier if you address it. The first step is to understand what is happening to you. Acknowledging that you are actually moving at great speed, and are allowing the various unwanted layers to be peeled away.

The moment you experience this lethargy, instantly open a dialogue with the body. Ask what layer is being peeled away. And find out what is arising in its place.

This layer could be a mental, physical or emotional aspect. An issue. A stubborn, repetitive situation. A specific block from a moment in your life. An unresolved aspect stemming from childhood. Anything.

The moment you get your answers, acknowledge that you are moving away from an old aspect, and begin to embrace the new, surfacing you. You will then find the body easing up instantly, and you will experience an inner surge of energy. Of pleasure. Of fulfillment. Of satisfaction. Of triumph.

Let us give you a practical example of this process. As you well know, the victim/tyrant game is extremely common, and is played by almost every single human being, to some degree in his life.

This aspect is being ruthlessly stripped away from many people right now. Therefore, those who habitually play this game will find two things happening in their lives.

The first: an apparent increase in tyranny surrounding them. Oppressive husbands 'acting up', stubborn children or domestics behaving in annoying and disrespectful ways, court cases, police cases, and so on.

If these people acknowledge that their habitual aspect of victimhood is being stripped away, and they recognize and begin to act upon the newly emerging skin of self-empowerment, then they will experience an inner triumph and begin to appreciate the newly-emerging sense of self.

Conversely, if they refuse to acknowledge this, and try to live in their old skin of victimhood, the self-created circumstances will only intensify, leaving them panic-stricken, helpless, hopeless and depressive.

There are 7 billion people on earth. I assume all are going through this strip process?

Each and every one. In his or her own way.

Surely this will cause chaos? It will take thousands of years for all of us to come into equilibrium!

Not at all. It is a time of ruthless energetic assimilation. Ruthless. Sink or swim.

Where does one sink to?

Those who are on earth right now must keep pace with the speed and intensity of this wormhole, or else choose to exit the planet. There is no other choice.

If a person chooses to exit, as he decides that he cannot keep pace, then the same energies will propel him further into the spirit realm, offering him the opportunity to grow and evolve there, at lightning speed.

Many will actually choose this option, as it may be more suitable to their structures. They will move across in self-absorption. We use this word in its highest meaning: they will focus entirely on the evolution of the self, in a dedicated and single-minded manner, celebrating who they are.

Many of these people will not go through the usual steps of death, but will instead instantly enter an energetic chamber of personal evolution. Under the guidance of many Masters, they will then begin the process of self-acknowledgment and self-appreciation. After this process, they will continue their spirit journey.

While they are in this chamber (and the length of time will entirely depend on their choice) they will not communicate with those on earth. It is time for them and them alone.

What of those of us who choose to remain on Earth? How long will this process take?

It will depend entirely on the human race. Planet Earth has chosen a policy of NO MERCY. No mercy, when it comes to keeping up with her energies. She is exercising her right as the Divine Mother to take all kingdoms forward at breakneck speed.

It is also your divine right to refuse; but if you do, you will have to exit the planet and then work as you so choose.

Everything that you have just outlined seems to be happening to me, but nothing seems to be clear! Nothing seems to be falling into place.

The processes have only just begun. You are a courageous soul, and you wish to remain here and work at Earth's pace. The conflict that you feel is because you want to take the easy way out, and yet you want to remain here and evolve.

For you, taking an exit at this point is not an option. So put those thoughts aside and enjoy your choice of remaining here to learn and grow.

I feel that I am on the precipice...I, too, feel like exiting. I have been diagnosed with a chemical imbalance, but do not want to take the prescribed medication. I find myself waking up each morning not wanting to live, not wanting to breathe, and not wanting to be here.

You do have an energetic structure that is teetering on the edge. However, you made a choice some time ago not to exit, but to also remain here for personal growth and evolution.

Since this is the case, temporary medication will help and support you, till such times as you can do it on your own. We suggest the minimum dosage of allopathy. Supplement this with natural remedies.

Dear friend, you are in a state of depression. We understand your plight: it is like trying to move ahead while treading air. But the worst is behind you. The depression is lightening; so do not believe that you are still trapped in it. You are not.

Your energies are now beginning to flow more freely and strongly. Trust in the self, and in your powers of self-transformation.

What of those on earth who are not consciously aware that this wormhole process is happening?

This process is affecting every single person on earth: some prefer to work at the conscious level, and others prefer to only work at a higher-conscious level. The appropriate information will be revealed to the former group in different ways: through channelings such as this one, through books, through the media, or through conversation with friends.

The latter group will be guided by their higher souls, without any conscious knowledge of the event.

Will there now be mass exits?

Indeed there will, during 2013 and 2014. This has already begun. Many people will also move across in groups.

Like Uttarakhand?

Yes. But a group exit does not only refer to people in one singular location, due to a tsunami or a disaster. Many seemingly unrelated people worldwide, all sharing a victim issue (for example) may choose to exit at virtually the same time. They will then band together in the ether, support one another, and choose to work and grow together in the spirit realm.

Through we are being 'stripped' here on earth, won't our cells still remember who we were, and keep trying to recreate old patterns? How do we neutralize the memory?

Who is the Master? You or the mind? You now have to learn to teach the self that old echoes must be released. You have to live in the now, not in the past. Dear friends, as lightworkers, you now have to move beyond belief and faith in the self. You now have to live in KNOWINGNESS and CERTAINTY. The energies are yours to command. As is your life course and your future.

What about those in the spirit realm who were previously on Earth? Are they also entering this wormhole?

That is an individual choice, which many in the spirit realm are making. Many are accompanying their Earthly loved ones on this journey; not only as fellow companions, but to grow and evolve personally as well.

What are we going to do with ourselves in this wormhole, after the stripping process is complete?

As you proceed through this wormhole, and allow the stripping to take place, you grow more and more accepting of the self, self-aware and self-enlightened. You then begin to create prototypes of the self in different dimensions.

Planet Earth herself has already begun to create hundreds of such prototypes of herself, and you have begun to populate these with prototypes of yourselves.

When we speak of your prototypes, we are not referring to your past, present, future, parallel and simultaneous selves. This goes beyond that. You are now becoming creators in human form.

These prototypes are new creations of yours: they embody the best in you, as well as your aspirations, that you desire to create, nurture and cultivate for future existence. They will start leading a life of their own, and follows missions that you have allocated to them.

Let us illustrate this with an example. An individual lives on earth, with good points and bad points, strengths and weaknesses. In short, a normal person. Now this person may not be very evolved in the area of emotional relationships, but he may be scientifically and technologically brilliant. Let us suppose that he wishes to further this.

As he moves further and further through the wormhole, he may choose to create a prototype of himself on a particular Earth prototype that is, in itself, evolving in the area of science and technology. By doing so, this aspect of himself will shine, and take that earth forward in leaps and bounds.

Will these prototypes have a physical form similar to ours?

On some of these earths, they may; but on others, they may simply take a loose energetic form.

Do these prototypes benefit us in any way?

They multiply aspects of the self, and therefore help you grow and evolve at a more rapid rate. Each time you create a prototype in another realm, you create a feedback loop to the self. So, as that part grows and shines, so do you. And as you grow and evolve, so does that.

Many of us are currently experiencing light-headedness. Is this related to the stripping process?

Yes, but there are several reasons for this. As we said earlier, many are currently experiencing memory loss and moments of blankness.

The brain, and the pituitary and pineal glands are areas being the most affected in the wormhole. It is a natural process whereby old information is being replaced with new, updated information.

Accept what is taking place, and instead of worrying about what you have forgotten, focus on what you have gained. You have not even turned your attention to what has expanded in the brain. Because you are focusing on the old ending, instead of the new beginning.

Can you give us a vision of what we will be like by 2015?

We will give you a vision of what we would like you to be by 2015. It is what we realistically anticipate that you can create for yourselves.

Humankind's awareness is currently on an upswing. This could increase, or it could plateau out: it all depends on you.

There is an energetic battle taking place in the collective consciousness. Awareness and expansion are at odds with a collective desire to hold onto old ways, old familiar patterns and comfortable structures.

Take yourselves: you are all spiritually, politically, sociologically and environmentally conscious. You are aware of the damage that has already been done to your planet by careless, greedy, irresponsible and corrupt citizens and corporations. Your seas are over-polluted. Your natural resources are being plundered and over-mined. The mass use of non-biodegradable materials and artificial pesticides and drugs has caused worldwide havoc. The ecological balance is now dangerously askew.

Yet how many of you contribute to all of this? Are you as responsible as you could be? Do you make an attempt to live in harmony with Planet Earth? Are you doing anything productive to make a difference?

Do you refuse to eat fish during the breeding season? Have you eschewed harmful plastics, in favour of more eco-friendly options? These questions, and many more, are ones you must ask yourselves, before pointing fingers at others. These are but a few examples of the 'battle' of which we speak.

As you grow and evolve, you will feel urged to practice what you preach. As more and more humans do so, we hope that by 2015, the collective consciousness will begin to tilt in favour of awareness, responsibility and expansion. We hope that by then, you will not just think of the needs of the self, but also of the needs of the collective.

This does not mean that you play the self-sacrificing martyr. Not at all. It simply means that you must understand, at your very core, that the two are one.

We do hope that in the area of finance, business and technology; individuals and corporations will begin to work towards generating profits as well as benefiting mankind and serving Planet Earth. Ecologically-friendly products are now essential.

We do hope that by 2015, some governments will start thinking of their people, instead of focusing on the joys of power and ill-gotten gains.

So one should become the frequency one wants to see externally?

Exactly! Right now several frequencies co-exist in the very same space. Your mission is to attempt to raise all the various frequencies, so that they eventually merge into one magnificent symphony.

Look around you. The super-rich inhabit the very same city that the beggars on the street do. Yet their lives, their experiences and therefore their perspectives of the same city differ widely. The same city, but completely different existences. A streamlining of this needs to take place. The overall standard of living needs to rise.

You spoke of forgetfulness. But what of us who are vividly remembering aspects of the past, and re-living them again?

You are stripping off aspects of the self. That acute memory is an old skin, which needs to be examined, assimilated and released. There is something there that you have not seen or acknowledged.

You spoke of how governments and enterprises need to start valuing the individual. I believe that we have to completely shift to a new monetary system, a new form of governance. Is this possible?

Many, many eons in the future, dear friend. Earth is indeed moving towards a world government. One which is comprised of leaders who see the world as one entity, with collective needs and rights. One which equitably distributes food, water, technology, medicine, and takes care of the needs of all. One which sees all people as brothers, rather than focusing on their differences. Yes, eventually there will also be one world currency. All of this exists in your distant future, given your current rate of evolution. Could this happen much sooner? Indeed it could. But it all depends on you.

Why is there so much disparity in India, as compared to other countries?

Each country has its own root issue: India's is separation. This is its greatest challenge to overcome. You have the richest of the rich and the poorest of the poor. The most educated, and the least educated. People living in utter luxury, next to people living on the street. You keep your homes clean, but throw your garbage out on the street. You break traffic rules so that you can get ahead, with no thought for others on the road.

No concept of the collective. Separation. Till you awaken to this, the disparity will continue to exist.

Yet so many spiritual Masters say that oneness will arise from India?

Do you ever wonder how, in spite of the terrible chaos, corruption and greed, this city functions so effectively?

The current energies under India, the spiritual vortex energies, are still the strongest in the world. It is these energies that keep your chaotic cities functioning. If these energies were removed, this city, and many others like it, would collapse.

Energetic vortexes do move from time to time. In the future, when they move away from India, and if you have not addressed your root issue sufficiently, your entire country could collapse. You are currently being kept afloat artificially.

We must leave you now. Blessings!

The meeting today has been held by a collective, led by the energies of THE GURU NANAK, THE HIGH LORD MITREYA, THE SAI AND THE ARCTURIANS.
