TEACHERS DAY

ENERGETIC MANIPULATORS

MASTER BANDWIDTHS AND FREQUENCIES

Greetings!

When you celebrate Teachers day, you do so for two primary reasons.

The first is, of course, to acknowledge, appreciate and be in gratitude to the external teachers in your life; but the second is to re-examine the inner teacher. Is it working to its fullest capacity? Are you listening to its sage words of wisdom, guidance and advice? Are you listening to your body, mind and spirit? Are you fully in sync with the self?

Let today be a day during which you remind yourself of the magnificent teacher that you are: to the self first; and then to your children, your family, your friends, your work colleagues, and your acquaintances.

Let us, today, examine some of the Master energies whom you so rightly deem your teachers, and examine them from a different perspective.

A Master energy is that which you have activated within the self, as you desire to vibrate at his frequency, for personal growth and expansion. The Master does not choose you; you choose the Master. Such is your power.

You are Master Energetic Manipulators. We use the word 'manipulator' in its most divine form: one who, in balance and magnificence, directs the flow of energy towards overall growth and expansion. An energy alchemist.

Isn't this exactly what you do when you build a dam across a river? You channel the water energy into more widespread and productive use. Isn't this what you do when you harness solar or water power to electrify a city? Two small examples of the manipulation of energy for the productive needs of the masses.

You are now all at an energy level where you generally activate, within your own structures, a minimum of 1001 Master energies that work simultaneously and concurrently.

Is this at all based upon our religion or community?

In general, the energy of your community or religion will be the central force with which your work, but sometimes this is not the case at all.

We will give you a few examples to help you understand this concept. Different masters have different kinds of energies. The High Lord Mitreya and the Maha Avatar Babaji, for example, are two Masters who work with extreme, intense energies.

People, who choose to activate these aspects of the self, do so to bring their own energies into a dramatic, musical crescendo. They may have assessed, at a higher level, that their energies were becoming rather placid and sluggish; and would therefore ally with these kinds of energies to create the necessary internal boost to take them to their next level of evolution.

In contrast to this, the Jesus and Mother Mary energies vibrate at softer, more loving and more nurturing levels. A person will activate these aspects within the self when he knows he needs a gentle touch, an energetic embrace and some tender, loving care.

Do we change these configurations all the time?

You do so moment to moment.

During the course of the night, you have pre-decided on the appropriate combination of energies for your very first waking moment. As you cross your bedroom, on the way to the bathroom, you add to this. Perhaps a little later, when you begin interacting with other family members over your morning cup of tea, you once again re-configure the combination. And this continues throughout the day.

This could be compared to writing your own music, moment to moment. You keep adding to the score as the day progresses. Imagine how tedious it would be if you only played one single note, over and over again, throughout your lifetime.

You are, in effect, the composer, the sheet music, the musical instrument and the symphony.

Do we only work with a combination of Master Energies with which we are familiar?

You use the familiar Master energies to attract to the self new and, as yet, unexplored Universal energies. These 'piggy-back' on more familiar ones, until they are assimilated into the structure.

Now, Master energies are a combination of energetic essences; but you only tune into the bandwidth or frequency with which you are comfortable, familiar and capable of receiving. As you evolve, you are able to increase this bandwidth.

Can you please explain this practically?

Of course. In general, on Earth, the Jesus is viewed as a warm, loving, compassionate, caring, and nurturing soul. You also see him as a gentle being in white robes, a beard, with kindly eyes. He is all this, and much more; but as this is your perception, this is what you generally receive when you tap into his energies.

Now, some other Universal societies view him as Lord Sannanda, the Ashtaar Commander. Their perception of him includes all his 'Earthly' attributes, but also a much higher level of command, power, forthrightness, focus, motivation, knowledge, wisdom, and leadership. A veritable warrior of the light. If you were to view him 'with their eyes', you would hardly recognise him. And yet it is the same Jesus that you love. It's all a question of your bandwidth capacity.

The Osho is a Universal mirror. He, more than all other Masters, acts like a chameleon; taking on the appearance, personality and function that any Universal society demands of him.

Examine this from his earthly avatar. Some found him wise and enchanting; others were revolted by his apparent extravagance. Some found his teaching methods stimulating; others were shocked by his practices. Some saw him as a deeply evolved Master; others called him a charlatan.

Who was he? All of this, and more. He gleefully played all the roles you wanted him to play, mirroring to you that which you refused to acknowledge within the self. His Mastery lay in his ability to be a mirror, and show you exactly who you were.

The Osho is not a singular entity, but a spiritual collective. And this collective offers this same service to any Universal society who calls upon its energies.

Now let us take this discussion further. You have understood that you have imbued the Jesus, the Osho and other Masters with certain qualities and characteristics, which are simply reflected back to you through a particular bandwidth. So the next question is: who then is the real Master?

A combination of his pure essence and mine.

Exactly!

If, from childhood, you have been repeatedly told by your parents and all others around you that you are stupid and ugly, you will, in all likelihood, manifest exactly this. So this becomes a part of you. But it is not the whole you.

A true Master is one who, in his supreme magnificence, can retain his essence in an alternate dimension, and reflect back to you that with which you choose to interact for your own growth and development. His true essence naturally filters into your dimension, but he does not allow you to access more than you are capable of receiving.

The Kali, from an earthly perspective, is one who has been labelled 'the destroyer'. The less enlightened see her as a punishing force; the more enlightened see her as 'the destroyer of evil'. Now let us tell you that, in an alternative dimension, the Kali's purest essence is even more gentle and loving than that of the Jesus.

If she allowed this aspect to flow fully on Earth, it would not serve you at all; as you have given her a role vital for the evolution of mankind, and she joyously plays just that.

Are the new energies coming to Earth urging us to change our perspectives and 'widen our bandwidth'?

Indeed they are. The first set of changes must come from self-reviewal. All your old pre-conceived notions about the self must now be examined afresh, fine-tuned, and re-adjusted. You have all been subjected to the opinions, attitudes and beliefs of others, to such a degree, that you don't even know what yours are. You are still more comfortable playing the role of the 'you' that has been created by parents, authority figures and society; rather than seeking to find out who you really are.

The current solar flares and the energies drawn to earth during the equinoxes are beginning to throw your facades askew. Some are cracking, others are falling down. This leaves you feeling very vulnerable, like a naked man on a public street. Use this to your advantage: review the facades that are cracking, and find out what is behind them.

How does this now change our relationship with the Masters?

As you grow and evolve, you are able to connect with wider bandwidths of the Masters. We urge you to explore their undiscovered aspects: in doing so, you will be tuning into their vastness.

If you choose to continue to follow rituals in a blind and limited manner, you will be the loser. Create them, and yourselves, in a limitless form. Embrace every facet of the self without discrimination.

(At this point, the taping failed. However, there was a further discourse on ways to work with various Masters in the now. This has been briefly reconstructed below)

Sai Baba – The Sai's energies are completely extra-terrestrial. He works with hundreds of thousands of Universal societies. The Sai has begun working with a new Universal crystalline grid. Tap into this, and you will benefit. Do not keep seeing him in his earthly form, but instead view him as a Universal force.

St. Anthony – He continues to offer you healing and solace. Call upon his energy every day for next 3 weeks to work specifically for India. Ask that India be offered healing, alignment and stability. You can also direct his energies to the economic and political arenas of India.

St. Germain – Command that you become the 'walking St. Germain'. He will live in you. If you choose to do so, you will find yourself assimilating and embracing all aspects of the self, and start seeing them as equally magnificent. Do this with inner integrity, and in a year's time you will complete this union successfully.

Archangel Michael – Should you choose to activate his energies within the self, you will unearth deeply buried issues that need to be brought to the surface for reviewal and assimilation. Call on him for clearance, assimilation and release.

Mohammed – These energies will facilitate inter-dimensional travel, and an examination (and integration) of the various incarnated aspects of the self. This will take your inner "Universal Brotherhood" to the next level.

The Ganesh – This year, the Ganesh energies still offer you abundance in every aspect of your life; but they will stress on the concept of acceptance. Accepting that which was intolerable in the past, accepting that which has been judged harshly by you...people, concepts, beliefs and ideas.

They will only work with the truth, and magnify it. If you play the external game of worshipping the Ganesh, but your heart is filled with bitterness and lack, these qualities will be heightened. If, however, you first appreciate all that you already have, and then invite them in, you will truly multiply your existing abundance.

Note: At the end of the meeting, the Masters fervently requested all lightworkers to concentrate on the energies of India over the next three weeks. They were requested to work for India on a daily basis, urging the country towards balance, alignment and stability.
