WORKING WITH THE COLLECTIVE CONSCIOUSNESS OF INDIA

INDIA'S NEW ENERGETIC VORTICES

THE ENERGIES OF NEHRU SPEAK

THE ENERGIES OF BAL THAKERAY SPEAK

THE ENERGIES OF ROXAN SPEAK

Greetings!

Today your country needs your help. Before we explain why, we ask you to work very briefly with the collective consciousness. We will give you a very simple and joyous method of cleaning it, vibrating it and energizing it. You can use this method, if it works for you, any time in the future.

First, connect with the collective consciousness. Experience it like an energy field flowing within and around you. This is the collective field of not just the human race, but also of animals, birds, insects, plants, and minerals.

Now think of any joyous incident in your life, and replay it for a few moments in your head. The only criterion is that this thought, event, or incident should have taken place while you were physically in India. (Pause)

Enjoy the film playing in your head, and add it to the collective consciousness. Let your joy flow through it, enlivening and enriching this country with your happiness.

You often have moments wherein you recall happy memories of the past, but just doing so does not directly affect the collective consciousness, unless you connect with it and offer it to this energy field. When you do, however, it becomes an energy common to all, and can be accessed by the entire planet. How easy it is to do this!

So why not help your country in this manner, while you are daydreaming, sitting in a car or walking upon the street? Offer your joy to the collective...it does work.

The reason we asked for this help today is because India is currently undergoing a very big energetic change, shift and upgrade; a process that will take months. What is happening is this: new energy vortices are being released in various parts of your country.

You may recall that last week we spoke of a new vortex of awareness, that was being released from within the Himalayan Mountains. Other such vortices, major and minor, are being activated in phases across the country. Once again, the exact locations are not going to be disclosed, as you would inadvertently contaminate the energy being released if you focused upon its exact entry point. It is best, instead, that you simply connect with the energies that are beginning to surface and spread around the country.

The problem that these vortices are facing is this: there is a dense layer of energetic smog blocking the smooth and effective release of the new energies. This is comprised of greed, selfishness, one-upmanship, suppression, and separation; all of which are so abundant in this country. These energies are not yet strong enough to combat this density. Therefore, even though they are emerging, they are being pressed back into the earth.

By adding your joy into the collective consciousness, you are refining this dense layer, and are giving these energies the opportunity to arise and spread, serving the planet as they should.

One of these many vortices does indeed lie below your city. Therefore, if you are energetically sensitive and choose to connect with it, you will feel it very strongly from now onwards.

These are energies of love, compassion, understanding, acceptance, and joy. Five vital aspects for the inhabitants of your city.

Dear friends, I will identify myself in a moment, and I joyously state that these India-wide vortices are under my personal purview. On earth, and as part of this country, I made many 'mistakes' in incarnated form. I am, however, in a space of energy where I have grown beyond regrets. I have understood that some of the 'mistakes' were, in fact, necessary for the evolution and growth of India and its people. Others were genuine errors on my part.

However, I have worked through the energy space of regrets. I now choose to serve this magnificent country and its people in this way. I am the Master coordinator of these energies in India; and I will do my utmost to see that they are released and directed in a smooth and focused manner, working where they must, offering India and her inhabitants the opportunity to arise, awaken, grow and evolve.

My primary focus, with these vortices, is to explode the political system. I shall continue to work, helping it grow and evolve, so that greed is replaced with the joy of sharing; so that power-hungry aspects are transmuted into benefits for all; so that self-serving motives become service to the self and all others. This will take time. I am facing blocks and resistance, but I have made a soul-level vow to work ceaselessly, till this task is accomplished. No matter how many years, decades or centuries it takes. This will be my mission, and my growth.

It is my joy and privilege to be in direct contact with energy workers of this caliber. Blessings.

You are in presence of the energies of the JAWAHARLAL NEHRU.

(Sohrab shifts energies)

He resists my energies; and yet he calls himself a non-judgmental, open medium!

I, too, have spoken to you before; and I too have made 'errors' when I was on the planet. My energies are in a space of rebirth, recreation and regeneration. These energies have been committed, by the Self and the Higher soul, to work for this particular city.

I choose to work with peace and harmony, sometimes going against my earth family and my clan. I shall lend my aid to the political and business spheres. I now choose to offer my energies to those who courageously desire changes in the self, in their personal environment (family and work), and to those who wish to serve the greater good.

My energies are potent, powerful, and no-nonsense. They will help you cut through the debris and get to the point. Should you courageously choose to connect with my energies, you will no longer find them biased or bigoted. You will, instead, experience focus, awareness, strength and gain a better understanding of who you are, what you are, and how you need to shift.

The energies that speak to you today are those of the BAL THACKERAY. Blessings.

(Sohrab shifts energies. These new energies smile broadly, wave and greet several group members individually)

Greetings from THE ROXAN!

For the benefit of those who do not know me, I am a personal friend of many in this room, and a group member as well. And a healer, a psychic, a friend of crystals, a mischief-maker, and a humorist. I passed over a while ago from cancer. The Roxan comes to bless you all and to share with you her growth and evolution.

(Pointing to D) No rings on my fingers today! You can wear them for me from now on!

(Laughter) The Roxan is in a joyous space of growth, evolution, expansion and emotion!

Emotion?

Oh yes, emotion; but not earthly emotion at all! The joyous flow of Universal Emotion. The Roxan has been playing in the Universe. She has been visiting star systems, meeting different Universal friends, causing havoc when she wants to (laughter), flitting about here and there, and playing, playing, playing among the Stars.

It is indescribably beautiful! The experience of being pure light and energy is so far beyond the comprehension of an earthly being. You must know that you are never, ever 'dead'! You are much more alive than you have ever been on Earth.

I remember my days on Earth; I have not erased those memories. But they now seem like a distant holiday. Even my loved ones, with whom I still feel very connected, have been put into a joyous space of love and understanding. I now do not experience loss, sorrow, regret or separation. I can only celebrate who they are, who you are, and who I am!

From the spirit realm, one can connect with a friend, and see her inside-out. (Smiling at K) Yes, you are transparent! I can instantly share your experiences of pain, sorrow, joy and happiness. And none of it is binding; it is only expansive. It is with full understanding and acceptance that I am able to view you now. Judgment is no longer even possible. And most of you know how judgmental I was, when I was on earth! (Laughter) I was and I wasn't.

Dear friends, I am in the most magnificent space imaginable. I do undertake missions from time to time, which I carry out with friends here. Sometimes Universal ones; and at other times Earthly missions. But most of the time I choose to play among the stars.

The energies are beyond belief! Oh, that you could experience them with me right now. Of course you will one day! (Laughter) And then I will be your tour guide, taking you on a journey through magnificence.

Do you have questions for me? I, of course, have nothing to say, having always been so shy, quiet and reticent (All laugh uproariously, then go silent)

Come on, don't my friends want to talk to me????

(Various group members) Yes, yes, yes!

Can you tell us why you contracted Cancer?

Yes, the cancer experience that I underwent was for several reasons, not just one or two. As I have explained in the past, I am, at core, a scientific soul, and it was my desire to experience cancer personally, so that I could work better, in different timelines and existences, with cancer itself and with others who have this disease.

Even though you are communicating with my spirit essence, many parts of me are still incarnated; and many of my aspects are working with cancer and similar issues. Sometimes as a doctor or healer, sometimes as a research scientist, and sometimes as a person learning to live with it.

This personal experience filled, fuelled, enriched and taught all incarnated aspects of the self; taking them further on their growth and evolutionary processes. All of them will now work more fully and joyously, and with greater awareness, in their various timelines. Each has grown significantly through my experience.

The second reason was to offer this experience as a gift to family and friends. In some cases, it was to urge them on, in their own growth and evolution. In other cases, it was to help them tap into love and compassion. In many cases it was to offer people an understanding that life is fleeting: be in the moment, live life fully, without regret. A few of my friends also benefitted by reevaluating their entire lives, and began to give more importance to the ‘things that really matter’: perhaps loved ones and children, rather than focusing on business problems and trivial day-to-day issues.

A third reason I chose this experience (and this may sound odd to you) was to challenge the self. I wanted to see if I could contract this disease and combat it, by touching my earthly power, and putting in practice all that I had studied as a healer, a naturopath, a crystal healer and as a human being. Understand that I was fully accepting, at a higher soul level, of losing or winning this challenge. The outcome was not as important to me as the journey of self-exploration.

Had I ‘won the battle’; I would still have passed over, within two earth years, in some way or another. I was impatient to continue my journey in the spirit realm, and amongst the stars.

Yet another reason was because I interacted too enthusiastically and too eagerly with diverse energies. I overloaded the system. This also taught me to be more responsible with both crystalline energies, and those of people with whom I interacted. I always laid myself wide open, and welcomed all energies that came my way.

Please know that I am certainly NOT recommending that you live in fear of external energies, or attempt to continually shield yourselves! Not at all. I simply overdosed on them. This was a contributing factor to the creation of the disease.

I will stop here, but there are about 16 more reasons I chose to undergo this experience.

Love you, sweetheart!

Thanks for everything!

We miss you.

Have fun! Remember to live each day NOT as if it is your last day on earth; but instead as if it is your first! Be in awe, joy and continual wonderment. Laugh at life’s problems. Honour and respect yourselves. Be kind to yourselves.

You said that you took this up as a challenge. Do you think that, in the future, alternative therapies will be able to conquer this disease, or at least bring it under control?

Oh yes indeed! It is very close at hand.

I have sensed you at the meetings so many times, and even seen you here. Yet every time I have wanted to say you were here, you have stopped me from doing so. Why was this?

Because I don't like you! (Laughter) Never, never. You are never rejected. It is not possible for me, in my current energetic state, to reject anyone at all. I always had the greatest respect for who you are. I have even more respect for you, now that I can see you so clearly. Chat with me directly; why do you need an outside medium? And to answer your question: I was not ready to speak out. Intricate work was taking place in my structure.

Rox, was your husband with you when you moved across?

He was waiting patiently at my bedside for several days before I passed over. And from time to time I was aware of his presence; he would drift in and out of my consciousness. It was he, energetically, who 'carried me across the threshold', all over again. It was a re-marriage. (To Si) and yours will be there for you, when the time is right. Have no doubt about this!

(Su) I miss you!

Nonsense! You talk to me all the time, so how can you miss me? I eavesdrop on you a lot, and I hear all that you say to me.

(Sohrab's note: I spoke to Su after the meeting was over, and she told me she had been incessantly 'talking to Rox' the day before)

How many astral bodies do you have?

Countless. Countless. Let me try and explain this. When you are in energy form, you can interact with numerous astral bodies. Some are parts of your own energetic structure, and others are not; but you can still merge with them at will. They then become a part of you.

So I could say hundreds of thousands. Right now, as I glance at you, or at her, or her (indicating various group members), I can choose to merge with all of you; and your astral bodies then become mine, and mine yours.

I have played this game, extending the self outwards to merge with other wonderful beings, with stars, with asteroids, with meteors and Universal tracts of energy. I am a true star child.

I have two questions. Though I never knew you in human form, on the rare and brief occasions that you spoke through S, I always felt I knew you. So what was our relationship? Because I know there is one. I can feel it strongly.

My second question is this: is Roshan with you? Are you by chance her guide? (Note: R was a friend of the questioner, who had recently passed over)

No, dear friend, I am not her guide, even though I have interacted with her. She is not ready to communicate. She is in a healing space of energy. This is not the 'healing sleep'; it is a space of rest and recuperation. She is not yet quite ready to accept that she has passed over. She is not totally resistant, but she is still unclear where she is. At times she believes that she is asleep in her earthly body and dreaming.

Yes, that is exactly what I get when I attempt to connect with her.

She has been placed in energetic stasis. She is surrounded by Masters, Guides and loved ones. Many of her spirit family members are with her. It may interest you to know that her two sons energetically visit her all the time and are acting as guides for her, even though they are still in physical form, and have no conscious knowledge of this. They are with her, in the astral, 24 hours a day; and will only detach from her when she has come to a level of acceptance of her new state of beingness. You may tell them this, and you may bless them for what they are doing for their mother; even though they have no conscious knowledge of this.

I am with her, hovering around, reaching her through her dream state, and continue to talk to her, council her and even play with her.

You haven't answered my other question...

See, she is greedy like I was! I sometimes used to ask several questions, saying they were only one question, with parts a), b), c) and d)! (Laughter)

So our connection? Soul sisters. Had we met in this lifetime, we would have been good friends, but would have fought a lot of the time. We would have argued, got extremely irritated with one another, and yet loved each other dearly.

We have, over lifetimes, constantly pushed the other to grow and evolve. We have always supported each other, but not necessarily harmoniously. I have, for example, played the role of a dominating, demanding teacher in your life. I pushed you incessantly, knowing that you had the ability to shine, and go beyond your expectations of the self. You resented that at the time, but later on in life thanked me for what I had done for you.

It was not necessary for us to meet in person this time around; but here I am!

You used to smoke a lot: did that have anything to do with the cancer?

It was a catalyst to create the cancer. But now I speak of myself, and myself alone: Because I so firmly believed that it would not harm me, it wouldn't have; had I not desired to contract the disease for personal growth. I therefore, later on, permitted it to be a catalyst.

The Meher (Baba) is very present in my spirit life: we are friends, and laugh and joke together. He is a magnificent Master, and I have chosen to ally my energies with his, for a period of time, for my growth and evolution.

I now bid you farewell. Now, when you have your tea and eat your snacks, I ask you to do so in celebration of who I was, and who I am.

And have a smoke as well?

Of course! He and you will do that, whether or not I ask you to!

Please come again soon!

Give my blessings to all those who know me and love me: to my family and to those friends who are not present here today. I love you all!

(Sohrab shifts energies)

During this particular month, we urge you to be extremely responsible with your thoughts, even more than your words and actions; though naturally all three fit seamlessly one into the other.

We do not expect you to live the life of a saint, but we do ask you to be very aware of repeated thoughts, in particular. If, for example, you find that you are repeatedly thinking of someone in anger, hatred or even just annoyance; take a moment and choose to think about this person, or situation, in a more expansive manner. Do not chastise yourself for the past repetitive thoughts; change them now.

Ask why you are so angry or irritated with this person. Get an answer. Then ask why you have created this situation, what you need to learn from it, and how you can best shift course. Keep demanding a view of the bigger picture. If you find that most of your repetitive negative thoughts are self-directed, we ask you to be very firm with yourself. Say to the self, "Enough! I choose to shift this pattern instantly!" And then do so.

Let us say, for example, that you find that you constantly think of yourself as fat and ugly: shift these thoughts consciously, and replace them with at least two attributes of the self that please you. Keep focusing on those.

We do not speak randomly: the energies of this month will be working strongly with your thought patterns; helping create a prototype image of them, into which you will be stepping for the rest of the year.

If you keep thinking of yourself as fat and ugly, you are creating an energetic pathway to this outcome. You will then enter it, and create it during the rest of 2014. Similarly, vicious thoughts about another will create a monster in him; and he will increasingly direct these energies towards you during the rest of the year. Be responsible, live joyously, and choose what to think.
