UNIVERSAL PHEROMONES

PURE POTENTIAL

THOUGHT CREATION

HEALING WITH PHEROMONES

Greetings!

We ask you to take a moment and think of someone you love passionately: a human, a pet, a Master, a friend in the spirit realm, or even an object that you really love. Focus on this, and experience the flow of love.

May we choose ourselves?

Yes indeed, if you can really say (and mean) that you love yourself! (Pause)

As you keep doing this, observe the changes in sacred geometry taking place within your structure, and within this room. (Pause)

Observe the changes in colour, vibration and frequency, all getting more and more rarified. (Pause)

Be aware of how your body feels, as it generates this love. (Pause) Thank you.

You have all observed and experienced Universal Pheromones. This has been earlier discussed, but we wish to take it further today.

Your Universe is one of matter, vibration and frequency. At the earthly level, you have relatively dense matter, vibration and frequencies; and your quest is to keep rarifying these.

But even the most supreme aspects of your Universe, such as your Monads, the sound of Creation (the OM) or Universal Consciousness (God) has extremely rarified vibrations and frequencies. The very concept of consciousness implies a vibration.

When you talk of ‘touching nothingness’, you actually cannot in this Universe. Because even the source has a degree of vibration, frequency, colour and music.

But for this to exist, there has to be true nothingness. Just as, to develop a photograph the traditional way, there has to be a negative. This negative, when processed, becomes the positive image that you then place in a frame at home.

When you view the positive image, you are not really seeing the negative image which facilitated the creation of the picture; but nevertheless, it is there.

Universal Pheromones are ‘the negative’; but in their magnificence, they can take on a ‘positive’ image if need be. They are Universal shape-shifters. Though their essence is non-energy and non-frequency, they can assume a degree of vibration from time to time, to permit you to experience ‘the positive image’.

When Universal Pheromones flow through your Universe, which is one of matter, they give themselves a very refined frequency, but when they return home, they truly become nothingness. They are the ‘negative’ that supports and facilitates the very existence of your Universe of vibration. They are the dish, the base, within which the very concept of consciousness and vibration exist.

Is this what we term ‘pure potential’?

Yes. Pure potential. Pure potential is uncreated energy. In this initial stage, it has no frequency or vibration. But the moment you introduce into it your desire and direction, it becomes consciousness. And this consciousness is then given a form and shape by you. Pure Potential is a blank canvas. What you paint on it is your choice, and an artwork emerges. But without that blank canvas, the paint is useless.

We have been told that consciousness flows through us at all times; but now we are beginning to understand that even Universal Pheromones do the same. Are they really different then?

Universal Pheromones can be likened to the spaces between the words in a sentence. Without the spaces, the words would be an indecipherable mass of letters. The spaces are more important than the words themselves. Because these Universal Pheromones are not only the spaces between words, they are also the paper upon which you write.

So what you are saying is that Universal Pheromones have no inherent frequency, but the moment we connect with them, or even acknowledge their existence, we are the ones who give them a frequency. It is actually ours!

Yes, you are correct. As humans, you have a certain form. But every day you put on different clothes, which alter your appearance. Sometimes you dress for success, and at other times you down-dress. Then, on different days, you also play out different moods, attitudes and behave in a variety of ways.

When you strip off the clothing, make-up and assumed behavior, you reveal who you really are. But, in this existence, is it not appropriate that you present yourselves ‘naked to the world’. Energy clothing is necessary for your growth and development. It is through this that pure potential becomes pure creation.

Without this, there would be no want, no desire to evolve, no inner urging to create anything at all. Universal Pheromones are naked potential.

Let us examine this practically. You have a thought. You look at a beautiful flower, get mesmerized by it and think “How beautiful this flower is! It is full of colour, scent and vitality. I can really appreciate divinity at work here...”

This singular thought affects you at several levels.

It stimulates your physical body. Your heart-rate and pulses quicken, the blood courses through your veins at a stimulated rate, toxins are thereby released, new energies are introduced into the cells, your pores open up, your digestive process speeds up, energies are spread throughout the body, giving you a sense of well-being, the dopamine center of the brain is stimulated, giving you a newfound sense of pleasure and love, and making you feel better about who you are.

Now, your emotional, mental and spirit bodies are similarly affected, and they begin to expand and vibrate at a higher frequency. This facilitates an energy connect between this self, and all other simultaneous and concurrent selves, in different timelines and dimensions, giving each and every one of them an energetic boost.

All of this, from a single, joyous thought.

Universal Pheromones facilitate all of this. They have provided the blank canvas upon which you have just painted an upgraded version of all your selves in existence. And by doing so, you have also just given the entire Universe an energetic boost.

A single, powerful thought, supported by Universal Pheromones, can change the course of civilization. It can help the Universe grow and evolve.

Universal Pheromones are used equally joyously by all aspects of this Universe. You can use them as fully and easily as a highly evolved Universal being or Master.

This process, which happens all the time, sets off a ‘ping-pong ball effect’ throughout the Universe. Universal Pheromones are the basis of the Universal Grid. This is an energy flow that keeps the entire Universe cohesive, and allows every part of itself to grow, expand and evolve. Without this grid, your Universe would not exist.

What of those who do not hear of this information, or perhaps disregard it if they do?

That does not matter at all; every aspect of the universe rides upon Universal Pheromones, and acknowledges their existence at a higher level.

Let us say that you are sitting down to offer healing to a friend, to resolve a personality dispute, using this concept. Whether or not she accepts their existence at a conscious level is immaterial. Let us take an extreme example, and say that, even at a higher level, she rejects this offer on your part.

The Universal Pheromones will then work on numerous other lifetimes, in which you are interacting with her in different permutations and combinations, and will heal and benefit those.

As those get healed and resolved, a spill-over effect must be experienced by her in this lifetime, and your differences will be reduced.

So must this then change another person's cancer, for example?

Yes, it most certainly can; but it may not. If the other person has contracted cancer for personal growth reasons, he will not permit this to be energetically reduced or removed, till he has learned what he desires.

However, the Pheromones you have offered him will most certainly cure other aspects of himself, in this lifetime and others, where he deems it appropriate for a personal upgrade. So you act of healing is never wasted, even if you do not officially 'see results'.

So these changes, in other lifetimes, affect us here as well? Please explain this more clearly.

Let us take the example of two friends: one who is working to heal the other, mentally, physically and emotionally; and the other, who has categorically refused to accept this healing, at a conscious and higher-conscious level.

Using Universal Pheromones, you are reaching into various lifetimes in which you have some form of interaction with this friend. You begin to heal those areas. Let us assume that in one such lifetime, you were a very harsh teacher of hers; and she a very submissive pupil.

Through this process, you are actually changing that timeline and storyline. You will, in all probability, alter the self to a more understanding teacher; and she will then become a more courageous, yet willing pupil. In another lifetime, she is a cruel tyrant, and you are the victim. There, too, you alter the balance.

Since time is concurrent and simultaneous, when you alter other timelines, and loop this energy back 'into the now', the present has to change as well.

However, Human consciousness and awareness does not always keep pace with changes that occur. The change happens in an instant; but you may only grow to see or acknowledge it at a later date.

How few of you actually keep pace with your newfound heightened awareness, knowledge and wisdom, sensitivity, understanding, and magnificent. Most are still stuck in seeing the self as small and limited...now bring yourselves upto speed.

This means that if we perceive another as resistant to our healing work with Universal Pheromones, and we change this belief, then we instantly begin working together, 'as one'.

Thank you for that. Humans are now working with Universal Pheromones at the conscious level for the first time ever. Why? Because you are now ready to do so.

So when you work with them, using the simple exercise given to you during the last session, what you are really doing is merging the other person, or the situation, with your own energies, and becoming one. At a conscious level, you cannot fully 'become one'; but at a higher level you can.

Using our earlier example, this process is akin to merging the negatives of two portraits, so that the result is a complete merger of the two faces. This merger is not 'half you and half the other person'; it is a fusion of the two. Your joint features, qualities and energies are much more that the sum of one plus one. They birth a new, synergous entity.

Then, when you stop the exercise and return to the self, you separate the 'two portraits', but you now have an internal understanding and experience of the other, which you did not before. Therefore you are now a new, enhanced and evolved 'you'.

So if we choose to use this exercise, as a group, to work towards world peace, for example, we would simply be multiplying the intensity of the outcome?

That is exactly what we would like you to do in the future. But do not skip the steps: first work with the self and for the self. Right now, you will need to be one of the parties involved. You cannot, as yet, work for abstract external aspects such as world peace.

Practice it till it becomes second-nature. Then you will not need to create an external image, and separate the elements of sacred geometry. But till you are fluent with it, you will need to follows steps.

You said that this has been given to the Human Race for the first time. But there have been various Earthly Masters who have used this in the past. Does this mean that this was shown to a few at an earlier time?

Let us re-phrase this statement. This is the first time that this procedure has been offered to the Human Race in general. And not all Masters on earth could use this in the past. Those who did, did so, for the most part, unconsciously. Only a select few had access to this knowledge as clearly as you now have.

Masters like the Jesus and the Maha Avatar Babaji had conscious knowledge of this, while in physical form. They could willfully touch-heal, manifest objects, and even de-materialize the body.

Do all healing methods on Earth deal with the use and direction of Universal Pheromones?

Yes, indeed they do. Each one uses them, but in slightly different ways. When you work with the esoteric, you are always working with them. And the word ‘esoteric’ here does not only apply to light work; it equally applies to daily life and activities which are practiced ‘in flow’.

An accountant who really enjoys working with numbers, and uses his skills joyously, to benefit the self and his clients, will be able to harness Universal Pheromones and make his clients portfolios ‘sing’.

Because he is putting in his essence!

Exactly. In this case, the numbers are sacred geometrical symbols, and he is unconsciously re-creating them to his liking, and opening up spaces within them, for Universal Pheromones to flow. This is the meaning of creative accounting; not financial chicanery.

So whenever you are having fun, you automatically make space for these Pheromones.

Now you understand! Haven’t we repeatedly said to you in the past, “Have fun with Spirituality”? When growth, awareness, wisdom and knowledge is based on fun, joy and wonderment, it takes you to a new level. Laughter is not just the best medicine; it is also the speediest catalyst for growth and evolution.

(The energy then acknowledges several members individually, after which it smilingly embrace the entire group)

Yes, yes, these are the higher soul energies of your friend ROXAN.
