THE CURRENT INDIAN POLITICAL CLIMATE AND ITS ENERGIES

THE ENERGIES OF COMMUNITIES WITHIN INDIA

INDIA'S ROOT ISSUE: SEPARATION

SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY

Greetings:

Let us look at the energies of India, as they are today, in the here and now. Please understand that these can change with work, endeavor, intent and commitment on the part of lightworkers and the people of India.

Let us first examine the political climate. Energetically, India is currently feeling hopeful. But there is also fear, doubt and skepticism as to whether the new government will actually be effective and live up to its grandiose promises of commitment to prosperity.

Currently, the political energies are fence-sitting. This government could go towards the light, leading the people into security, financial abundance, a healthier job market and the like. But it could, as easily, take you into a downward spiral of further greed, separation, lack and instability.

This energetic fence-sitting is actually necessary for a little while longer, as the collective political energies are actually awaiting the decision of the human consciousness of India. You put in the work, and the political energies will follow your lead.

Rather than constantly worrying about what might happen, and repeatedly envisaging worst-case scenarios, we urge you to continue to work with the political collective as a whole. Urge it forward into abundance, prosperity, equality, understanding, unity and so on.

How should we do this?

Any way that works for you....through prayer, meditation, intent; or very practically, by spreading the word and getting involved in any way that pleases you.

Do this, and you will see a distinct rise in abundance and prosperity; BUT there will be constant checks on this implemented by the higher financial consciousness of India. Therefore, with this abundance, if greed, corruption and chicanery reappear, then the market will start to take a downward spiral.

The same applies to you as an individual. If you find yourself, as an individual or as a family, making good dividends, and you suddenly get trigger-happy and either become excessively greedy, or excessively reckless with your money, then your portfolio will start to de-stabilize, no matter what is happening to the market in general.

Dear friends, we urge you to be alert to this. These fluctuations will happen moment-to-moment. If you wake up one morning experiencing lack and worry, your portfolio will start to reflect this almost immediately. Therefore we urge you to keep re-evaluating your inner feelings of lack and abundance.

Interestingly enough, it is the higher collective energy of finance that will be governing your lack/abundance issues in all areas: physical, mental and emotional. So, if on a certain day you find yourself worrying about a possible future of poverty and ill-health, and you do not work towards correcting this imbalance, you will suddenly find yourself, later in the day, feeling overwhelming lack in love, friendship and appreciation as well. It will keep escalating, unless you address it immediately. All of this will be governed by the collective financial consciousness of India.

There are also going to be energetic shifts and eruptions in different communities in this country. These will also occur internationally; but in your country a new balance must be achieved by the end of 2014. Because of this energetic urgency, political bigotry and communal problems are going to arise, to 'clear the air'.

The Muslim community is going to lead the way in this process. Yes, there will be upheavals and unrest here, in an attempt to bring about nation-wide tolerance and awareness. Here, the energies of the Universal Mohammed come into play, which are those of Universal Brotherhood.

By the end of this year, you will see a rise in two aspects in this community. Members of this sect will facilitate breakthroughs and advancement in the fields of art, culture, literature, music, mathematics, science and technology.

At the same time, pockets of unrest will also be facilitated by group members who cannot align with its ultimate aim: that of Universal Brotherhood.

Through this process, the general consciousness of the whole has to awaken to the fact that they cannot 'label' a community because of a few of its members who cause unrest. They have to view it as a whole.

This process is going to provoke two other communities to begin to release energies. The Gujaratis are going to experience upheavals in the areas of finance, business and investments. Because of this, you should be cautious this year when choosing to invest in companies headed by members of this community.

They are being urged to go beyond the concept of just 'making money', so that they embrace wealth and abundance. They are being offered the opportunity to view the generation and distribution of wealth as a natural cycle of life, like an in-breath and an out-breath.

Their shifts will, in turn, energetically trigger the Sindhis. They will be predominantly re-evaluating family and inter-personal relationships.

They, in turn, will trigger the Punjabis. They will be examining their inherent and natural exuberance, and using it with focus and productivity. This is because many members of this community have inherent power and drive, but often scatter their energies unproductively.

In this way, one community after another is going to trigger off various energetic reactions. Do not think that what we have just described is limited to one community alone. Each one is simply acting as a catalyst to provoke every other community to examine all these aspects within the self.

Does this apply to all Indians?

Yes, it does. To all people of Indian origin, no matter what current nationality they hold, or which part of the world they inhabit. This also includes second-generation Indians.

You may now ask about other communities if you wish.

The Marwadis?

This community will be accessing energies from its own tremendous historic wealth, and offering India the opportunity to draw on the past in a productive manner, and using this as a pathway to the future. This community will urge self, and others, to re-visit ancient aspects of culture and behavior, and to draw upon them in creating a new and expansive future. A wonderful energy to draw upon, no matter what community you belong to.

Why is the energetic political collective 'sitting on the fence'?

It is simply waiting for a directive from the collective consciousness of the people. Collective awareness and responsibility has not yet been achieved. It is awaiting a rise in social awareness. Most Indians are only concerned about the self... Is my family secure? Is my business successful? Do I have all the comforts I desire? Very few consider the well-being of the country and its people. That is conveniently left to 'karma', 'what will be, will be' or 'What can I do about it?' Very few Indians take collective responsibility and choose to affect a change.

Start using your power and social awareness in any way that pleases you. Talk to people, and educate them. Start a blog. Share views with friends.

Why is it that we never think of others?

Dear friend, this has been spoken of in the past, but it bears repetition. India's root issue is separation. It is her greatest challenge to overcome; the richest and most educated and the poorest and most uneducated. My house must be clean; it doesn't matter if I throw my garbage out on the street. I must get ahead in life, so I must trample over everyone else. I must get ahead on the road, so why not disregard all other cars waiting in line. Separation, separation, separation.

Very few think as a collective. Very few care what happens to anyone outside their own family circle. Very few attempt to initiate, or practice, social responsibility. The political collective is awaiting a shift from complete separation to relative unity.

July and August are critical months in the energetic evolution of your country. The thoughts, deeds, actions and evolution of each individual are going to count, and are going to be absorbed into the collective consciousness. These ‘energetic votes’ are going to be carefully tallied, and will determine in which direction the country is headed.

If, for example, the maximum energies absorbed are those of greed, selfishness and corruption, then it will urge the government to simply magnify these aspects. But if there is a ‘majority vote’ for abundance, productivity and expansion; then that is where you will be led. Each ‘vote’ counts.

Why has India always been under attack, from the middle ages onwards?

Most countries have experienced being both the perpetrators and the recipients of attack. In the distant past, this ‘attack and be attacked’ pattern had been predominantly physical wars and conquest. Though this still continues, it is now far more subtle.

One country may ‘attack’ another in terms of financial and technological undercutting, thereby taking away the other’s jobs and earning capacity. One may gain dominance over the other by offering seductive job opportunities, thereby initiating a ‘brain drain’.

India has been physically attacked many times over, as she has, at her very core, a deep-rooted victim issue. As a collective, she feels like a ‘second-class citizen’ ....not quite intelligent enough, not quite abundant enough, not measuring up to International standards, and so on. This is naturally changing. She recently came into great empowerment in the areas of business, finance and investment. But her perennial root issue of separation once again came into play, and she crashed.

So do we 'score' in any particular area?

Yes...in the area of family ties and emotional relationships. India leads the world in this area. Her peoples really have a deep-rooted sense of family bonding and loyalty to friends. Though this may not always be apparent, it is a very powerful energy that flows through its people.

Getting back to the earlier set of questions, could you speak to us of the Zoroastrian community?

This community is undergoing a tremendous overhaul. You are already aware of its energetic signature, which is 'helping self and others be the best they can be'. During 2014, this particular community will be undergoing repair, regeneration and renewal.

Pockets of corruption will be exposed, in physical, mental and emotional areas. Old beliefs and outdated structures must be reviewed and upgraded. This must all be brought to the surface, as the community wishes to regenerate and reconstruct the self. It also desires to take all other communities forward in the area of transparency.

What of the Maharashtrians?

This group will be working, this year, to help self and others to stimulate endeavor and productivity. Many in this community tend to be laid-back and non-initiative. This is now changing.

Let us now speak of The Jewish community; one that is almost overlooked in this country, due to its very small numbers. This community is going to work in 2014, silently yet powerfully, to help self and others release the pain and trauma of the past, and to move joyously into a fresh new tomorrow.

Most of India holds so strongly to a belief in punishing past Karma. The Jewish community is going to help the people of India move beyond this, and start afresh. How perfect that a community that experiences this issue the most, is going to be the one that leads you out of this energetic bondage.

The last energetic aspect we wish to touch upon today is that of social responsibility. This is a new energy you are all seeding within your structure.

Please bear this in mind. This tiny seed will keep urging you forward in any manner you deem fit and appropriate.

In some cases, individuals will be urged to start public campaigns and to rally large groups of people towards a particular social cause. In other cases, people may simply be provoked to stand up for their rights by filing a police complaint, or initiating a court case against another.

Neighbourhood responsibility is also on the rise. People will start taking more care of their surroundings, and will feel urged to participate in this more actively. Healthy requests need to be made to the government and municipal corporations, and accountability must be demanded of them.

Let us end the meeting now by asking you to work for all the friends mentioned before the meeting, as well as for the collective consciousness. Urge it forward into the light. Urge individuals to begin to take social responsibility, and to think as a group, as a collective. Take your country into the light. (Pause)

YOU ARE BLESSED BY THE ENERGIES OF THE UNIVERSAL SAI.

SAI KA PRANAM.
