THE GANESH ENERGIES DURING 2015

TRANSFORMATION

Greetings!

Let us begin today's session by sending light and healing to all the names mentioned before the meeting. But let us guide you through a slightly different way of doing so today.

Please visualize all these people, and place them in your heart. You may, most certainly, add to the list; and even place any places or situations you wish to heal in your heart. Do this now, on this very powerful energetic day. (Pause)

You will feel warmth in the heart; relax and open to it. Now begin to fill your heart with the Cosmic Boom. This is an energetic rhythm coming towards Planet Earth right now. It sounds like a heart-beat. Listen to the boom with your inner ear.

We will chant this for you now. With each boom, visualize your heart expanding with tomato-red and golden light.

(The Master proceeds to chant for the group)

Now, from your heart chakra, send out love and light to the collective consciousness. (Here the Master chants OM repeatedly)

And so it is, and so it is, and so it is.

Dear Friends, what are the energetic attributes of the Ganesh?

(Various group members answer)

Prosperity...support...intelligence...art...remover of obstacles...compassion...a huge cosmic energy...cute...my pal...new beginnings...gentleness.

Yes, these are, most certainly, attributes of the Ganesh Collective. Let us remind you that every time a festival of any religion or community is celebrated on Planet Earth, the governing Collective takes it in a specific direction; one particular to that year.

During this, the year of Feminine Empowerment, the Ganesh Collective offers you the opportunity to use its energies for one very key aspect in your lives...TRANSFORMATION.

Use the upcoming 10 days to your benefit. Some will celebrate this festival with rituals and practices; others will simply find the period annoying, due to the chaos and confusion in the city. Either way, go beyond that. Use the frequencies to your benefit and work towards transforming the self.

The Ganesh energies are bathing planet earth right now in streaks of pure tomato-red and gold light. We are deliberately giving you a colour reference here, as if you visualize them this way, you will tune into them to the maximum.

These streaks of light are bathing the entire planet right now, but never forcing their way into anyone who does not desire transformation. So they are there for you to feast upon; but they will not invade your space unless you invite them in, either at a higher-conscious or at a conscious level.

Dear Lightworkers, you are being given this information so that you can choose, at the conscious level, to invite them in or refuse them admittance.

Transformation is such a wide concept, so try and be specific during this 10-day period. Don't use a statement like "I want my entire life transformed." Too unclear; and though the energies will aid you in this, they will be so scattered and diluted that nothing much will really happen.

We suggest that you choose one important aspect per day, and bathe it with the Ganesh energies. On one day, for example, you might choose to work on a health issue. On a second day you might choose to work with a tough physical situation in which you are trapped. On a third day you might choose to work on a specific relationship issue. And so on.

Now, when you have identified the issue for the day, work on it throughout the day... wherever you are, no matter what you are doing, whenever you think of it. Just keep bathing the person, issue or situation with these energies, and demand transformation.

Naturally, when you are doing this, you are also bathing yourself in the energies, as you are a vital part of the issue or situation. So you will also transform. Now here, be prepared. The situation will transform; but it may do so in a manner that your conscious mind didn't anticipate. But you must trust that the outcome is going to be the perfect one for all those involved.

In some cases, the results of the transformation will be seen almost immediately; but in other cases, the energies may take several weeks or months to fully show results. Once again, you must trust that the outcome will take place at the perfect time.

How do we use this to transform people? Look at what the human race is doing! Polluting Mother Earth's soil and water, killing her other inhabitants, and being so thoughtless in general.

Instead to directing these energies to individuals, why not use them to bathe the collective consciousness of the Human Race? And yes, dear friend, to answer your unspoken question, you may work for all the 10 days for the collective consciousness. That will naturally serve you as well.

We once again remind you that the Ganesh Collective is a very powerful Universal one. The form you use on Planet Earth is not at all his essence. If you could see this collective with the naked eye, it would like a super-nova: a series of explosions, one after another, filling the entire Universe.

Due to its transformative qualities this year, that which needs to be shattered will be shattered, that which needs to be re-adjusted will be re-adjusted; and that which needs to be enhanced will be bathed in its frequencies.

The Ganesh Collective is working with very complex mathematics. It is creating series after series of complex numbers, equations and sacred-geometrical symbols to literally recreate the Universe in an upgraded manner.

It may interest you know that this Collective has been requested by every single society in the Universe, to aid in helping them transform themselves, starting now. How magnificent is this!

The Ganesh Collective is also giving birth right now. It is birthing a magnificent new prototype of Planet Earth. This is being placed in a different dimension around your planet, and it will slowly begin to 'feed' earth with the Ganesh frequencies of transformation.

This transformation can occur smoothly and easily, or it can come with great resistance and upheaval. That is your choice. But transformation is now the order of the day for Planet Earth and all her kingdoms; there is no going back.

This energetic thrust, which has begun today, will last 5 earth years. And it offers everyone (individuals, groups, corporates, scientists, medical practitioners, Lightworkers, terrorists...everyone) the opportunity to transform in any way they deem appropriate for the self.

Your transformation is going to be guided at two levels: your conscious and your higher-conscious level. But this time, contrary to what you would expect, weightage will be given to the conscious level.

Why?

Because you have now evolved sufficiently to learn to take responsibility for yourselves. And to also take the consequence of your conscious actions. It's time to grow up.

Let us help you understand this with an example. Let us assume that there is a very bigoted group of people, who unconsciously harness these Ganesh energies. They now have the opportunity to transform by learning to embrace those whom they have previously hated, or to transform by furthering their destructive capabilities.

They will be working at two levels, as just described. Quite naturally, the higher-conscious level will guide them towards the light. But if their conscious energy is very strong, and the group decided to go down a path of further hatred, bigotry and destruction, then that is what they will create with the Ganesh energies. They will become a group of magnificent destroyers. But this will also lead them to very severe consequences, which they must then bear.

We gave you this example to reiterate the power and potency you now contain and to stress the importance of your conscious mind, thoughts and choices. Don't expect to now be hand-held by the Masters at all times. You will, of course, continue to receive our help and guidance; but you must exercise your free-will, make choices, and deal with the consequence of your choices and actions.

Take heart, dear Friends. The Ganesh frequencies of transformation are so glorious that, in general, most will feel urged to move towards the light. Some may take a detour down a darker path, but they will find this so uncomfortable that they are likely to make a course correction and turn, once again, towards the light.

We say to you: Make it easier for the self. Tune into the self and make choices that just fit with you. Your inner voice is now so strong: listen to it! Choose to grow through joy, rather than through pain and trauma. And then it is so!

Questions?

I am curious about the legend of Ganesh. He was birthed as a boy, beheaded, and then brought back to life when the head of an elephant was grafted onto his body. What is the symbolism of this? And how did this so-called transformation make him go the positive route, instead of the negative one?

These legends were necessary to teach people lessons during that era. The more colourful and visual they were, the greater was the impact. So now we ask you, what does an elephant signify to you? Give us at least 5 qualities of an elephant.

(Group members answer)

A superb memory...majestic...large ears (the ability to hear, listen and tune in)...a super-being...gentleness with strength.

Yes, the elephant is one of the largest and most powerful of the jungle creatures, and yet he is noted for his gentleness, strength, wisdom, kindness, love, family-bonding, caring and so on.

The symbolism is the transformation of a 'limited' child with a limited consciousness and a limited perspective of life into a magnificent being of wisdom, kindness, gentleness and strength. When the two merged, the unified entity contained the playfulness and innocence of the child, along with the wisdom, maturity and strength of the elephant.

It was also attempt to teach people to live in harmony with all the other kingdoms, with particular reference to the animal kingdom.

In truth, this merger was a sacred geometrical union between different frequencies, which then offered Planet Earth the opportunity to start vibrating with the energies of the Ganesh Collective.

As you may know, every Master in existence connects with differing Universal societies. Highly evolved, non-physical societies can access these energies at will, with no trouble at all. Lower-density societies like Earth require a 'hook' through which these energies can slowly be passed to her inhabitants.

The 'hook' was generally religious: a group of people coming together to acknowledge the magnificence of the deity or Master. This way, they harnessed and disseminated the requisite energy.

Another way the hook was established was through wonder, curiosity and story-telling. Do not discount the relevance of folklore. Through colourful stories and fables, each having potent visuals, the energies were also passed down through the people.

This is why, on Planet Earth, almost all Masters have a physical image. Even those who don't, like the Mohammed, have symbols that represent him.

We must leave you now.

YOU ARE IN THE LOVE, LIGHT AND EMBRACE OF 'THE PERFECT GANESH'

Take a moment and experience the red-gold light of the Ganesh collective flowing directly into your crown chakra. Allow it to fill your physical and energetic bodies with the magnificent energies of Transformation. (Pause)

If you have a body part in discomfort, direct the energies to it, and transform it.
(Pause)

Be playful with these energies! Through play comes the best growth and learning.
