EARTH'S NEW ENERGETIC GRID

THE EFFECT OF THE NEW ENERGIES OF 2017 ON THE BODY (PART 1)

...THE BRAIN, PITUITARY AND PINEAL GLANDS

...THE THIRD EYE

...THE THROAT CHAKRA

Greetings!

If you recollect your high school geography, you will remember that earth is surrounded by layers you have called the troposphere, stratosphere, ionosphere and exosphere.

If you tune into the exosphere, you will sense a hub of activity taking place there. This is a new energetic grid that is currently being set up around planet Earth by a group of Universal Masters, guides and celestial 'architects'.

This new grid, which is still under construction, is a magnificent new energetic structure; one which will be fully activated at the exact point when 2016 gives way to 2017. If you choose to tune into this process at that moment, you will experience a tremendous surge of energy in your physical structure.

It really doesn't matter whether or not your watch coincides with the actual time or not: your intent will be enough to make sure this happens 'at the right moment'. It also doesn't really matter whether or not you remember to tune in; these energies will still find their way into your physical and energetic structures.

This marvelous new grid will now offer the inhabitant of earth a level of consciousness they have never before experienced. But there is a 'catch'. The degree to which you can access this grid will depend entirely on your personal level of evolution, the degree to which you have worked on the self in the past, and the amount of cleansing you have done.

However, no one will 'lose out'. Once active, the emanations from this grid will be so powerful that even those who have not worked on themselves will find inner urgings to do so. Then they, too, will slowly grow, learn, evolve and eventually access the magnificence of this grid.

These energies are going to do several things for you. At first, they will offer you an accelerated level of knowledge, wisdom and awareness. This is because the very first area these new energies will target will be the brain, pituitary and pineal glands.

Let us hypothetically assume that on December 31st, you are worried and confused about a certain personal issue or relationship. If you open to these new frequencies at the stroke of midnight and then examine the very same issue on January 1st, you will find a difference in the way you perceive it, and you will be able to then work with it and through it more efficiently.

So, should you choose to consciously open to these energies on the stroke of midnight, make sure that you are physically secure, as you may experience a wave of dizziness or disorientation.

The effect of these energies on this area will offer you a tremendous surge in brain activity during the initial part of the year. But again, this depends on you. If you choose to remain trapped in a prior issue, and are unwilling to let go of the 'pleasure of past pain', you will not be able to use these energies to view the situation differently. Simplistically, you are being given fuel in the tank; but whether or not you choose to start the car and drive off is your choice.

The second area they will hit is the third eye chakra. Now, you are all so accustomed to believing that your third eye resides exclusively in this area (pointing to the forehead). Yes, the predominance of these energies still resides here. But now, your entire physical body is your third eye.

So the new energies will target the third eye and consciously distribute these energies throughout the physical, so that every part becomes psychically and physically aware. Don't resist this process.

You may wonder, "Why would I want my liver or kidney to be my third eye? I connect from the center of my forehead!"

Here are the advantages. These body parts are now less likely to go out of balance, as they will be vibrating with high-frequency, self-aware, self-healing energies. However, if there is a disturbance in that area, due to the surfacing of an emotional issue, you will be able to tune in directly to this area and instantly know what the issue is, and how to resolve it. In short, it's going to help you heal the self, and others, at an accelerated rate.

We remind you: this coming year brings you many magnificent energetic gifts, but the most powerful will be the ability to self-heal. If you dedicate yourself, with full certainty and conviction, to the self, you can be the healthiest you have ever been in your life. You can wipe out disease. You can bring your organs into balance. You can bring your own meridians in to full flow and balance. You can speedily heal broken bones. You can do virtually anything with your physical health and body, provided you tune into the new energies, and are certain that you can do so.

So now if there is discomfort in any body part, you can command the third eye that resides there to heal itself. You don't have to work from the forehead and transmit energies elsewhere. Instead, you work directly from the core of the organ.

Similarly, as your entire body is now your third eye, when offering healing to another, all parts of you are equally potent and powerful. Your palms, for example, carry third eye consciousness, so there is no need to 'activate' them anymore. Similarly, your thoughts, words and intent carry third eye consciousness.

When you walk on the road, and since the soles of your feet are your third eye, every step you take blesses and energizes Mother Earth. You don't even have to make an intent: it's just going to happen unconsciously. Every person you touch with love will be activated. Every mouthful you ingest is blessing your body: your hands energize the cutlery, which then energize the food itself. Wherever you go, your entire body will emanate energies which bless and heal those around you. Such is the power of the extended third eye.

When you enter a space of lower frequency, you will be urging the space itself to raise its vibrations. Similarly, you will be blessing your homes and offices at all times, by simply being present there. When you interact with friends or enemies, you will be energizing them, urging them into balance and alignment. And all of this will happen unconsciously.

Now understand what it means to be divinity itself. You are God.

However, this activation of the full-body third eye brings with it great energetic responsibility. If you allow yourself to direct anger, hatred, or envy towards another person, you will multiply that frequency and do them real harm.

We don't expect you to live like saints. But we do expect you to be alert. If you find repeated anger or hatred or jealousy arising about a certain person or situation, we do ask you to consciously choose to change the frequency. Even if you cannot find it in yourself to direct love or peace towards that person, at least disengage from them.

Remember, energies move in circles. When you put out that anger and hatred, it only loops back to you. And when you put out love and blessings, you get that back ten-fold.

Just examine your reactions to current situations like demonetization, or the election of the new president. The more you sit and stew in anger, hatred and frustration, the more it is going to loop back and multiply those aspects in the self.

If you are unhappy about a certain decision or situation, find a way to energize it so that it works in the smoothest and most efficient manner possible.

We continue to give you leeway in this area till the end of this month, but starting January, this responsibility is yours.

Supposing you have to stand up in court and accuse somebody, then what happens?

We are not urging you to sit back and give in to everything. If you feel the need to stand up and defend yourself and your rights, you MUST. Even more that you did in the past. But you must find a way to access these new energies and fill yourself to such a degree that you are vibrating at a very high level when you face the situation. And blaze the entire situation with the power of justice.

Similarly, if you feel the need to stand up publically and challenge a certain law or a governmental policy, please do so. That is productive. But sitting around with your friends and grumbling endlessly will not change the situation, it will only further the energy of frustration and helplessness in you.

Currently, the entire human race is being taught to take individual and collective responsibility for all that happens, rather than pointing fingers at others and conveniently apportioning blame to them.

I want to know about the new energies and different time zones. Will they enter earth at exactly the same 'time', or will they correspond to 12 midnight in each a time zone?

A very good question!

Yes, and it comes from a Geography teacher! (Laughter)

In this case, the energies are going to be released in accordance with time-zones. So people worldwide will be activated at different times. This has no bearing on your nationality. It will depend on where you are physically on December 31st.

(Smiling) Visualize the illumination of the Earth: light after light after light, slowly encircling the entire planet.

How are we going to be meditative enough to receive these energies at the stroke of midnight, with all the noise and crackers going off? (Laughter)

Are you, a Lightworker, so weak that you cannot go beyond the noise and access these energies? (Laughter) We, in fact, suggest that you use the cacophony to expand your structure, so that you open even wider to these frequencies. Make what you perceive as your disadvantage, your advantage!

Could these new energies be Source-Consciousness?

Yes, they are.

Many of us consume a lot of alcohol on the 31st. Will this affect our connection with these new energies? (Laughter)

Consume as much alcohol as you want. Bless it, and say to the self, "This is the nectar of the Gods! I am imbibing pure consciousness!" Make it fuel for your all-body third eye. (Laughter)

I am a flight attendant. I will be flying from Japan to Abu Dhabi on the 31st night. So how many times will I be activated?? (Laughter)

When it happens to be 12 midnight the very first time, by your watch, you will be activated!

Friends, the same activation will also take place for those who are unconscious, in a coma or mentally non-functional. But by choosing to consciously merge with the new energies, you will not only speed up the process, but also make it more exciting and intense for the self.

How would this affect the terrorist? A murderer? Or others like that?

An excellent question! Thank you.

These energies will do exactly the same for all people who are going to create 'waves', be it a terrorist or a head of state who may be about to introduce a new policy. However, the energies will urge the individual to assess whether or not he is in keeping with his soul mission.

If his soul mission is to perpetrate an act of terror, then he will be able to do so in a seamless manner. But if his mission is not to do it, then the energies will urge him to awaken and 'not do it'.

I wonder if I have been unconsciously resisting these new energies. I can already feel their power, but I find a lot of awful stuff has been coming up for me recently.

We had warned all of you that, during the current period, a lot of debris would be arising: crying fits, depression, loneliness, anger, irritability, and so on. It's all part of the last phase of the cleanse. Let it surface. Don't block or deny it.

What if a lot of emotional abuse is being directed at you?

First acknowledge how it makes you feel. Find out what it is bringing up in you. Once again, make your disadvantage your advantage. Allow it to help you acknowledge aspects of the self that you wouldn't otherwise have examined. And then discover how you can touch your power and act in the given situation.

Now that everything is fluid, even a terrorist whose mission might have been to perpetrate terror, can surely chose to shift course of his own free will?

This new grid is erasing Earth's karmic trend and patterns, and allowing all her inhabitants a blank canvas on which to paint their future. Nothing... not even that which you had pre-planned before you incarnated...is necessarily going to hold good any longer, unless you choose to continue the same life-plan.

These are the 'twists and turns' you are likely to encounter this year. There will be numerous unexpected events created this year, due to sudden changes in the courses of lives around you. And in the same way, you will make astounding changes in your own lives, which will then affect others. Now very little can be predicted or foretold, even by us. It will all depend on you.

How is Mother Earth going to use these energies?

She is welcoming these new energies. This shift, from 2016 to 2017, is the largest energetic shift anyone in this lifetime will have ever experienced.

Mother Gaia is welcoming in these new energies as she truly desires to recreate the self: with joy, enthusiasm and vigor.

Tremendous changes are going to take place in her structure: earth shifts and movements, changes in the pH balance of her soil, changes in the content of all her liquids from water to oil, and so on. Wind patterns and tides are going to change. Weather is going to change even more rapidly than it already has. Certain farmlands are going to turn barren, whereas other areas will suddenly turn fertile.

You will have to keep pace with her. But in general she is going to radiate such joy that you will be able to feel it, and connect with her even more strongly.

How can a volcanic eruption possibly be beneficial?

Don't you sometimes feel much better after you have verbally erupted and expressed your truth? (Laughter) Doesn't Mother Gaia have that permission as well?

We have spoken of the crown and third eye; now let us speak of the throat chakra. As you will have noticed, the energies are going to affect you sequentially, chakra by chakra.

The throat chakra will be gradually opened up over the course of the first few months of the year 2017. You will find, on a personal level, the urgent need to speak up and speak out. To speak your truth. To say things as they are. To stop mincing words. To stop hiding behind verbal facades.

This will happen over time, and you will start to enjoy the power of your own conviction. A beautiful shift: welcome it.

How you exercise this newfound openness is your choice. We certainly don't urge you to be harsh, acerbic or rude. But speak the truth, and speak up and speak out.

We will continue this discourse next week.

YOU ARE EMBRACED BY TWO ENERGIES TODAY; THOSE OF THE MAHA AVATAAR BAAJI AND THE HIGH LORD MITREYA.

BLESSINGS!
