YOU ARE CREATED IN GOD'S IMAGE AND GOD IS CREATED IN YOUR IMAGE
HOW YOU CREATE YOUR MASTERS
A NEW ENERGETIC VORTEX THAT EARTH HAS JUST ENTERED

Greetings!

Many Holy Scriptures tell you that you are “created in God's image”. Pay attention to the word ‘image’. This implies a mirror-image of higher frequencies. Now that you also understand that you are co-creators of the Universe, the reverse is also true: God is created in your image.

Let us explain this technically, practically and scientifically. A question commonly asked is, “Do Gods and Masters actually exist; and if so, did they really incarnate on Planet Earth?” Yes, they do. Yes, they did. Some incarnated on Planet Earth; others chose a variety of Universal societies.

Let us now speak of Earth. No two people connect with a Master in the same way. This is not possible, as the Master is created by you, in your image, and conforms to your belief systems.

Let us better understand this with an example; that of the Jesus. Humanity generally views the Jesus as a gentle, loving, sacrificing, nurturing Master. Yes, this is the general image/reflection that an average person has of the Jesus. If this is a person's belief, then the Jesus will play that very role in his life.

If, however, another person also believes that the Jesus punishes people for their sins, then the Jesus will play that role in his life. This has to be; as the Jesus will conform to the individual's perception of his frequencies.

Why? Because that person will only open to the set of the Jesus' energetic strands that hold those frequencies. The Jesus naturally has billions of other strands, but that person is only choosing to tune into those which he perceives in the Jesus. He therefore 'creates' the Jesus in this image.

Be very responsible, therefore, for how you create your Masters. They are all magnificent beings of tremendous frequency. They have billions of strands: those which you may think are beautiful and those which you may think are despicable. The Master understands that every facet of the self is magnificent and valid; he embraces them all, equally.

So if you choose to view your Master as a harsh, punishing God; you will only open to those aspects of his energies that are harsh and punishing. And you will experience this and this alone. But if you change your perception of the Master, you open to his other, myriad strands of magnificence.

So it is true that you create "God in your image"; and if you continue to perceive the Universe as a harsh, vindictive, traumatic, karma-filled one, then that is all you will create and experience.

As above, so below. It is quite common, for example, to have a friend whom others label as harsh or rude; yet to you this person exhibits qualities of gentleness and caring. You are generally aware that these aspects do exist in the friend, yet they never touch you.

Why? Simply because you have chosen to tune into the 'good friend' aspect of the person. And that is then what you receive.

But if you change perception after a while, and start to view that person as being mean and nasty, then he or she will begin to play that role in your life as well.

It's time to take responsibility for all that you create.

Have you created a tyrant spouse, or a loving one? Have you created a vicious set of friends, or loyal ones? Have you created a loving, nurturing home; or one in which you feel uncomfortable? It's time to start taking responsibility for all that you have created, and re-creating all that you wish to change in your lives.

Let us view another Master: the Goddess Kali. On Earth, she is generally considered to be 'the destroyer', and she therefore functions this way, surgically removing debris to make space for the light.

Are you aware that in certain Universal societies, she exercises those qualities that you associate with the Mother Mary? There, she is the epitome of love, compassion, nurture, gentleness and embrace. Those societies do not even see her 'destructive' talents.

She, like all the other Masters, offers each society exactly what they desire to interact with. And the Kali Ma, in her magnificence, knows that her destructive qualities are as potent, valid and magnificent as her gentler ones.

On Earth, the energies of the Zarathustra are ones of support and encouragement. They help you be the best you can be. They are also energies of non-violence, tolerance and embrace. Yet, in several other Universal societies, the Zarathustra functions very much like the Shiva on earth. They have chosen to tap into his qualities of focus, power and strength; and have therefore created him in that form.

The Buddha, on earth, is considered to be the epitome of gentleness, serenity, balance and stability. In other societies he has been created as one who 'shakes them up', bringing about change in a vigorous and sometimes violent manner. And so on.

Dear friends, it is essential that you understand this now. Planet Earth has just entered a massive Universal vortex. This was not part of her plan; it is one she had drawn to herself now. This vortex/portal/wormhole is so vast that it embraces the entire planet with room to spare. And Earth has entered it just 24 hours ago, and will continue her journey through it for many years to come.

This energetic portal is one of pure creativity. It offers every being, in every kingdom, the opportunity to recreate the self in any way they choose. Here, the recreation is not collective; it is individual. Your individual choices will therefore re-shape the future of the human race.

Creativity is an energy that explodes into action when fed with a thought, idea, desire or an inclination. So let us say that one individual has a strong desire. This vortex will now cause their energies to burst into myriad points of light; ones which will surround them. This will give the person a magnified opportunity to create that which he desires.

So now, you can do anything with your creativity. You want to cure yourself of cancer? Put that thought into energetic action, and it will be so. You want to shift the course of your marriage or your relationships? Put that thought into energetic action, and opportunity after opportunity will present itself to you to create just that.

But this vortex of creativity does not distinguish between (what you term) 'good' and 'bad'. It is simply a source of amplification. So if a person wants to perpetuate terrorism or separation, he will equally easily be able to succeed at it. Yes, each individual is being given the opportunity to direct the course of the human race.

And yet, each one of you (as individuals) can make a difference, and can influence the outcome of the collective. Let us illustrate this with a practical example.

Many of the smaller streets in your suburbs have 'road committees', most of which are inactive and ineffective. But if you, as an individual, choose to go out onto the street every morning with a broom and sweep up the garbage, you are likely to set an example to others on the street. One person may feel inspired to follow your example and join you. Another may be shamed into refraining from littering in the future. A third may feel motivated to contact the authorities and urge them to help. And so on.

So, figuratively, one person with one broom can change the outcome of the collective.

In the same way, if you work with the energy of creatively very strongly, others will feel urged by your frequencies to make appropriate shifts in their lives. Be an example to others, and a chain reaction will be set off.

So use the energies of the vortex of creativity to make all the shifts and changes that you want in your life. Go ahead and be self-ish: think of the self and initiate that which you desire. No matter what you do, others will be benefitted. If you add to your finances in this manner, others will be urged to touch abundance. If you add to your health and wellbeing, others will follow suit. Heal yourself; and others will do the same. Love yourself; and others will touch self-love. Bless the self, and you bless others.

Tune into this vortex. Its magnitude is beyond comprehension. Should you choose to meditate deeply with it, be aware that its power may make you dizzy. Embrace it anyway. Work with its energies.

BLESSINGS FROM DIVINE UNIVERSAL FREQUENCIES. No separation today. No individuated Master blessings. Just those of Divine Universal frequencies.
