THE ENERGIES OF DIWALI 2017

THE RISE OF THE KUNDALINI

DNA UPGRADES

BYPASSING THE TRADITIONAL STEPS OF DEATH

(A note from Sohrab: When I was channeling this, I was told to later add in diagrams, to help people understand the various energetic structures described.)

Greetings!

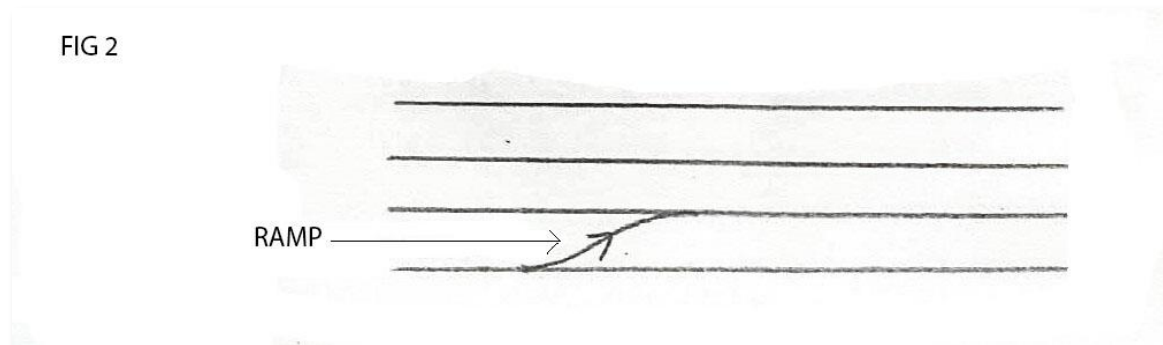

As you well know, the Diwali energies always offer some form of enlightenment and illumination; but each year the energies focus on a certain aspect necessary for the evolution of the human race. This year's focus is going to be a slightly complex, scientific one; we will explain it to you as simply as we can.

The current Diwali energies offer you the opportunity to move on an energetic highway of personal progress. The frequencies that have already come to earth are layering it with differing levels of consciousness. Try and visualize this as a lower road, another a few feet above it, a third above the second, and so on. Each energetic road is a level of consciousness.

The lowest road is that of pure 3-D consciousness; one on which most of the human race still travels. Each higher road has a more refined frequency; one which offers the Human Race the opportunity to view life from a wider, more expansive perspective.

Connecting the various roads are energy ramps. So if you are walking on the lowest road, you periodically come across one of these, which you can use to ascend to the second level of frequency. This is the basic framework.

Now let's examine this practically. We remind you: the lowest road is pure, 3-D consciousness. So let us say that an unpleasant event takes place in a certain person's life. Since he walks the lowest road, he will say things like, "Why has this happened to me?" "I am being punished by God!" "I am suffering due to past karma, and am helpless to change it." "I deserve to suffer." "There is no hope for me." "Everything bad always happens to me; I am the innocent victim of fate." and so on. Pure, basic, third-dimensional thought-processes.

But even this person, on the lowest road will, from time to time, create an energetic node of opportunity. This will be a point of illumination: someone will say something to him, or he will read something or self-reflect, and this will give him the opportunity to use the energy ramp (that starts from this node) to ascend to the next level of consciousness. This is the road just above the lowest one.

Here, wherein he has a higher, wider perspective, he might say to himself, “Am I really this perennial victim? Perhaps there is a reason this happened”. Just that much.

But remember, he is not accustomed to this higher frequency. It’s not familiar; nor is it his comfort zone. And the ramp has three exits: one leads back to the lower frequency road, the second leads him forward on this road, and the third leads him to the higher-level road.

So he can choose to return to his comfort zone, stay on this frequency and acclimatize to it, or ascend even further. Three options: sliding back, staying and assimilating or ascending even further.

The new node of opportunity he touches when he first ascends the ramp energetically says, “We are offering you higher-level energy, vibration and knowledge. Are you comfortable with it? Would you rather return to a lower frequency of pure 3-D awareness? Would you rather stay here and explore the new frequency? Or would you like to ascend even further?”

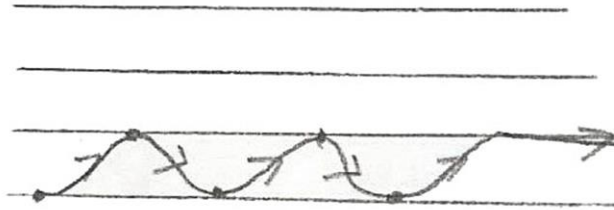

He has the right to choose any of the three options. Yes; some people need to ‘test the waters’ several times before they are ready to ascend. Others feel impelled to be instant explorers and adventurers.

So let us discuss the former. Let us say he chooses to return to pure victimhood. But even though he is back on the lower road, there is an iota of higher energy in him now, as he has touched the rarified realms briefly. This will make him uncomfortable with the lower road. So when he continues to walk down it, and again encounters a note of opportunity leading to another ramp, he is likely to ascend again; this time less reluctantly.

The process may repeat itself several times over: he may ascend and descend time and again in a ‘crest and trough’ pattern; but each time he will get more dissatisfied with the lower frequency, and more attracted to the higher one. There will eventually come a time when he decides he only wishes to be on level-2. Then he will remain here for a while.

Now, at Level 2, he gains a slightly wider perspective. He starts questioning, “Why have I created this event in my life? Why am I different from others, who have not created a similar event in their lives?” But if he begins to play the blame-game, he then instantly descends the ramp and is back at level 1.

But if he checks that, and demands that he examine the self, he will stay at this frequency for a while. Then he will encounter another energetic node of opportunity that gives him access to a ramp leading to Level 3. Here, he once again has a three-way option. But if he descends, it is only to Level 2; never to Level 1. Or he can ascend to Level 4. But Level 1 is finished for him.

These are the layers of consciousness that help you move from a 3-D reality to a 5-D one. It’s not a singular rise; there are several layers of consciousness you need to move through to achieve that goal.

Now understand that you are at different levels in different areas of your lives. You may have ascended to Level 3 in the area of assessing and understanding relationships; but you may still be at Level 1 in the area of business and finance and possibly level 7 in the area of art, truth and beauty.

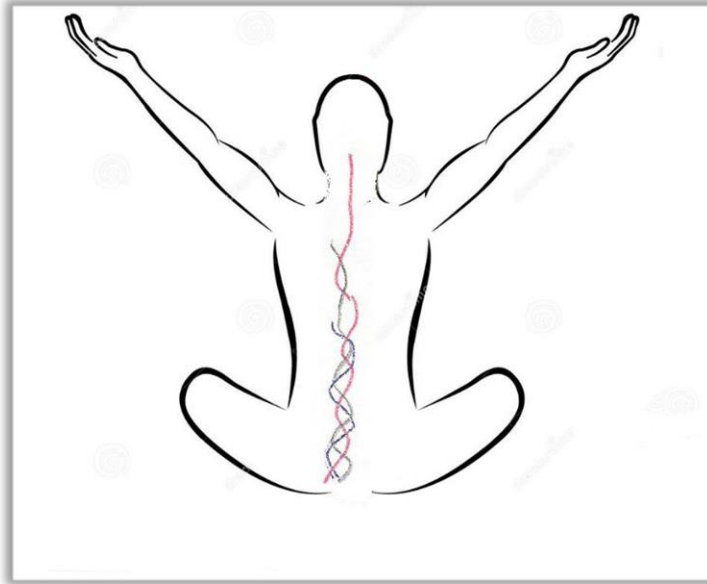

However, if you have achieved a very high level in even one singular area, it stimulates all the other aspects of the self, urging them to rise quickly. One aspect of the self in, say, Level 7 may urge 20 aspects of the lower selves to rise up. The vibratory strength of that singular aspect puts out a loud call to all the others, saying joyously, “Come and join me up here!”

Very few, during the course of this year, are going to stay exclusively at level 1. The human race wants to rise up. Collectively, the more that rise up, the more will be urged to follow suit. Yes, your collective consciousness is being stimulated by this process. This is the ‘help’ you have been asking for.

This process is also ‘kundalini rising’. Only in very rare cases does the kundalini rise up, all at once. For most people, it is a process.

The kundalini is not a singular shaft of light and consciousness. It is comprised of billions of energetic tendrils. Each represents an aspect of personal growth and evolution; and each rises depending on your level of expansion in that particular area. As more and more strands rise up, they urge the other, less expanded ones to follow suit.

If you now examine what we have earlier described, or look at it from the perspective of intertwining strands of the kundalini rising, you will observe that this is your DNA.

Let us assure you that your DNA is a far more complex formation than that which is illustrated in your medical textbooks. It is comprised of 12-dimensional sacred geometry; whereas on earth you only work with 3 dimensions, in general. You are just about ‘flirting’ with the fourth dimension: time. Since your DNA is 12-dimensional, how can it possibly be accurately represented by a double- or triple-helix?

The Diwali upgrade just described is for the benefit of the entire planet and all her kingdoms. The collective consciousness has called for this upgrade. Now look at the sequence. A few weeks ago we spoke of the Ganesh energies, working with “merciless wisdom”; vigorously cleansing the planet (and the human race) of toxins and unnecessary debris.

This paved the way for the inflow of the Diwali frequencies, which offer a rise in consciousness. This cannot take place if the body and mind are polluted with toxins. This toxicity would prevent you from rising above Level 1.

Now that you know this, we urge you to find ways, every single day, to examine situations that are happening in your lives, both pleasant and unpleasant, and to ask the self, “What Level am I on right now? How can I ‘climb a ramp’ and view this from a wider perspective?”

Even joyous situations need to be viewed in this manner. They are the more dangerous of the two. This is because, since you are already pleased, you don’t feel motivated to look at them from a wider perspective; you are content to enjoy them as they are. Why not appreciate the joy, and ask the self why you have created so much of it? That way you increase it exponentially.

This will take you higher frequencies so quickly that it will urge other, more constricted aspects of the self, to rapidly rise up as well.

This is so important. Most of us don’t realize that if we work to upgrade the collective consciousness, it loops back and affects us as well.

Yes, indeed. What you create; perpetuates. You are inexorably linked with the collective consciousness; and it is up to you, as individuals, to help this spiral upward...or not. Or not.

I feel that many will use this to raise their frequencies so rapidly that they will choose to exit. So will there be events that justify people ascending, exiting, or perhaps even disappearing? Will some people even disintegrate the body, so that nothing is left behind?

The physical de-manifestation of the body is still going to be a very rare phenomenon. This would require the person to reach a very high level of energetic expansion. But the same process is going to happen, whether or not the person de-manifests his body.

Many of those who reach a very high vibrational level and then exit may choose to bypass all the traditional steps of death. They may not choose to use the tunnel of light, the thought-creation of a comforting ‘heaven’, the introduction to their loved ones and the healing sleep.

Some may instantly start creating that which they desire for their growth and evolution. We will speak of three such choices:

The first: some may choose to be on earth, in their body, one moment; and the next moment in a high-vibrational state in spirit, fully ready to begin work, evolve and grow instantly. They could have been spirit-workers on Earth, and the next moment, find themselves full-fledged spirit workers. All of this; in a seamless transition.

We remind you of a past session in which we had spoken of this. During 9/11, all the firefighters who passed over were grand energy masters. One moment they were on earth, saving lives; and the next moment they were in spirit, retrieving souls who had died, and passing them on to their Masters.

They did this till every soul had been retrieved, after which they themselves merged into the light...a seamless transition from one job on earth to a similar one in spirit. They were forerunners of this system.

The second: there will be those who transfer themselves from this incarnation on Earth to another incarnation in a high-vibrational society. Yes... one moment on earth, in this human body; and the next moment ‘being born’ into a wonderful, higher-vibrational society.

Not ‘born’ as a child on earth with limited consciousness, but born into a new society with full awareness of who they are. The experience will be one of joy, being in a high-vibrational society that has so much to offer them in terms of learning and growth.

The third: those who move across into spirit, to become instant spirit guides. With their fresh recollection of Earth, they will instantly be able to work through compatible mediums on Earth, helping guide the future of the planet. A teacher on earth, for example, may choose to make this transition and become an instant spirit teacher.

We have only outlined three choices. There are many, many more.

What happens when people spontaneously combust?

When this happens in the current energetic era, it is generally because a person has accidentally opened to energies so powerful that the physical body cannot contain them. An inner explosion takes place. However, though the physical body may ‘burn up’, they exit into spirit like fireworks and experience that which they desire for personal growth and evolution. Many of them choose to experience being matter, anti-matter, dark matter and so on, with an expanded level of consciousness.

I have a question about people who achieve a high level of vibration and choose to directly incarnate into a high-vibrational society: will they remember all their other 'past' lifetimes?

Yes, they will have a recollection of all aspects of the self. Some of these people may even choose, at a later date, to come back to earth again as grand Masters. This is a courageous choice. Coming back to Earth with such refined, expanded energies is torture and constriction. But they may choose to put up with this, out of a sense of joy and service.

With mass exoduses possibly happening in the near future? Will the population of Earth reduce?

Not for a while. Yes, there will be many exits; but many Universal souls are simultaneously choosing to come to Earth to speed up their evolution. As you well know, Earth is a very vigorous training ground. You are, therefore, not likely to see a noticeable reduction in population for the next 40 to 50 years.

When we receive messages, how do we know from which level they are coming: 5-D, 6-D and so on?

Though this is not necessarily important, you may test the vibration of the message and 'feel out' its refinement. But do not disregard lower-frequency messages; you also need to be able to receive these as well.

How will the Diwali ascension process affect relationships and family dynamics? Surely each person will grow at his or her own level?

Indeed it will. No two people ascend or descend the same ramp at the same time. So this is going to cause more splits in relationships; but not necessarily in a disharmoniously way.

Let us assume that, in an extreme case, one partner ascends quickly, and the other stubbornly refuses to do so. Yes, they are then likely to split up; but the person who has evolved will not feel much pain, as he or she will be able to view the separation from a much wider perspective, and will understand that it is the best thing that could have happened.

The person 'left behind' will initially play the familiar blame-game and point fingers; but the pain will be the impetus he or she needs to jolt him/her into evolving. So the other partner benefits as well.

Will these new, high-vibrational Diwali energies affect or conflict with other high-vibrational ones that already appeared on earth?

Not at all; they will compliment them. They will actually merge.

You mentioned that many will use these high-vibrational energies to actually exit the planet. Does this include people who commit suicide?

They may; this year you will need to re-evaluate your perspective of suicide. Some will indeed commit suicide, as they did in the past, because they could not touch their power and 'not do it'. But some this year (particularly the youth) will commit suicide because they have overdosed on energies and cannot contain them in a physical body. This act will simply help them move into higher realms, with no karmic repercussions. So you cannot generalize anymore.

Will these energies also affect those who have already passed over, but remain trapped on Planet Earth because of their limited vision and refusal to move forward?

Indeed they will. They will experience these as a divine elixir; an instant opportunity to move forward. But...they still have free-will! As long as you are on or around earth, even if you are in spirit, you have earthly free-will. And you can exercise it in any way you choose.

Coming back to your point of suicide among the youth: even if one of them chooses to exit due to an excessive build-up of energies, with no karmic repercussions, what of those they leave behind? What of their pain and sorrow?

(Smiling) The only rule this year is...there are no rules. People are using energetic free-will in the most creative and dramatic manner. Look at an Earthly parallel: for centuries, the only acceptable form of Art was realism. Then, in a singular decade, along came the cubists, pointillists and abstract artists. They broke all the rules, shattered peoples' perception of art and gave birth to new movements. Art was never looked at the same way again.

In the same way, energies are now so potent that people are using free-will to shatter spiritual rules and truths that have existed for millennia. This will give rise to new and exciting ones that have never before been envisaged.

Some of these new truths and rules will be tried, tested, and rejected. They will die out, like a fad. Others will pave the way for a new future. After all, it is "The Year of Rebirth and Recreation of the Self."

So yes, these choices will adversely affect some families; whereas others may benefit from them.

How does one use these energies to stop procrastinating?

One would come to a node of opportunity, and use it to stop procrastinating and make a choice. A three-way path then opens out for you: go back to repeatedly procrastinating, learn to make choices in the moment, or rise up and understand that every choice is perfect.

You now have to teach yourselves. The Masters are standing back this year, offering you guidance and supervision, but not hand-holding you any longer. They give you projects and then let you take them over completely. What you do with them is your choice.

How many Levels are there?

How many do you think there are?

Possibly 7 major levels, and several in between...

This year, there are 144 levels and many more beyond that.

Going back to different kinds of exits...recently we read of a healthy, sporty boy who suddenly exited for no apparent reason. Would he have done so for one of these reasons?

Yes, he did. Many choices are being made, moment-to-moment, including that of choosing an exit. Sometimes people get calls or foresee opportunities in the Universe; ones which were not ‘intended’, nor were part of the blueprint. Some avail of these opportunities; others don’t.

An earthly parallel: you may be very happy in your current job, but suddenly a new opportunity opens up ‘out of the blue’; one which will take you and your family abroad. You sometimes make an overnight decision and say, “Let me throw caution to the wind. I’m going!”

Many youngsters are now choosing these kinds of energetic opportunities being offered to them in spirit, or in other universal societies. We do warn you that, this year (this Diwali to next Diwali), you will observe many youngsters making unexpected exits.

You must naturally support and aid the families; but don’t feel sorry for the departed soul. He has chosen to advance himself in an unimaginably way.

Imagine a poor, Indian village schoolboy being given an unexpected, fully-paid scholarship to a magnificent American University. Yes, he may be terrified, as he is not familiar with the language, culture or society; but he knows that this ‘a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity’, and he takes it up.

So, even those who had planned on an earthly course of study sometimes receive Universal opportunities that are too tempting to resist. And they take them. Honour them for their choice.

You must also know that there always higher-level consent given by the immediate family members. Yes, they have all said, “We will miss you on earth; but we joyously release you.” If they don’t, the event doesn’t take place.

(Speaking directly to a group member who had lost a son years ago) This was an opportunity he took. He was a forerunner of this process. Now; know this. You are now at an energy level wherein you are ready to hear and internalize these words. Honour him now. Honour him.

(The Master now proceeds to bless a baby in the room) Special blessings are being given to him today. We ask all of you to join in this blessing, and to welcome the youngest group member. Please offer him your energies as well. (Pause)

(The Master also blesses another youngster in the room)

Do you get any sense of who is speaking today? (Pause)

THE COLLECTIVE CONSCIOUSNESS BLESSES YOU.

This really means...all of YOU.
