THE THEME OF 2018: LIVING YOUR MASTERY

THE EMERGENCE OF NEW MASTERS ON EARTH

FOUR SIMPLE EXERCISES TO WORK TOWARDS OWNING ONES MASTERY

Greetings!

Today we have a question for you; one which we would like you to answer mentally. The question is this: Do any of you truly believe that you are a Master?

(Smiling) Some of you answered 'yes'. In a few, rare cases, it is the truth. But in other cases, it is convenient spiritual jargon. You are now approaching 2018, an era in which this question will be of paramount importance. The theme of 2018 will be 'living your Mastery'.

Let us refresh your memory. 2016 was the year of feminine empowerment. You had to touch this aspect to enter 2017, the year of rebirth and recreation of the self. 2018 now demands that you live your mastery.

Last week, we had informed you that many, many new Masters are either being born, or simply being 'activated' right now; the predominance of which are emerging from India. Let us speak of this further.

It's no longer an era in which a Universal Master chooses to incarnate on earth in a 'singular form' to spread wisdom and knowledge. This will still happen in rare cases. But the new Universal Master trend is to infuse those who desire these high Master frequencies with light, energy, music and awareness; so that they can now be living, walking Masters in their own right.

There will be several categories of these newly emerging Masters. Let us speak of these.

The first group will comprise of children being born this year, and the next, who are going to come with such high frequencies that they defy energetic logic. These rare cases will shine from birth onwards, and those around them will know from the start that they are extremely special. These children will hold such a high quotient of Master frequencies that they will start to spread wisdom, knowledge, awareness and light from the moment of their birth. This will be purely energetic at first; then later, through words and actions.

Most of them are not going to be the traditional spiritual gurus; instead they are going to be mavericks in science, technology, medicine, the arts and so on. Their energies (from birth) are going to shake up these areas, paving the way for their future entrance into their chosen field, so that they can then 'make a difference'. They, themselves, will put out energetic pulsations into a particular field, creating a 'need' in it, so that they can fulfill this need at a later date.

These children will be in full sync with their missions; they will know from a very early age exactly where they need to study and what they need to do, so as to be able to fulfill this mission in the future. No power on earth will stop them: neither parental resistance nor societal disapproval will prevent them from moving, single-mindedly, towards their chosen goals.

Many of them will initiate startling changes in their chosen fields at a very young age. An example: a Master who is going to shake-up the scientific or technological world in the future may, at the age of 5 or 6, create a break-through device in school; one which may inspire adult scientists to re-evaluate existent technology.

The second group of Master-children will not be aware of their future missions from the start. They will initially appear to be completely normal children, who will then experience, at the right time, a 'moment of awakening'. This shift may be so drastic that spiritualists may mistakenly label them 'walk-ins'.

This group will receive intensive downloads from the appropriate Master energy at the right moment; ones so drastic that it may change their personality, behavioural patterns, and thought-processes... virtually overnight.

Let us pause here and define what we mean by the 'Master download'. This almost sounds as if the person is of no significance, and will only be worthwhile once the Master infuses him with his frequencies. Not at all!

To be able to hold Master energies, the incarnated human has to already have very refined frequencies, coupled with full belief and faith in the self.

That is a prerequisite for this level of infusion. Yes; it is now the era of acknowledging your Mastery.

A third group of children are also going to be activated. These are going to work at a very high energetic level; far beyond the conscious mind and beyond conscious actions. Many of them will be 'special needs children': they may be labeled schizophrenic, dyslexic, autistic and so on.

These 'beacons of light' are going to radiate high-frequency energies; ones essential for the evolution of the human race. Applaud their magnificence: they have deliberately chosen to incarnate with these so-called disabilities as a gift of service. By cutting off traditional mental functions, they are able to focus on being these energetic beacons, without any distractions.

Please don't assume that all children with special needs are these beacons of light; but about 60-70% of them will fall into this category. Some are waiting to be born; others are already in their teens, simply awaiting the perfect moment to be inducted into these new energies, so that they can be energetic saviors of the world.

A fourth group of children will be those who are apparent prodigies from an early age: amazing singers, musicians, chess players and so on. They have come with these frequencies to change that particular field.

In general, all these children will choose a singular field of focus; but in rare cases, where a soul is highly evolved and extremely adept in two or more areas, the child may choose to multi-task and enlighten several fields.

So the birthing process during 2017/18, whether it is physical birthing or a process of awakening, is a truly marvelous one. It is time to celebrate the awakened child.

Questions?

Is there is a special way to recognize these children; particularly those with special needs?

This will depend on your energetic skill. Yes; many will go unnoticed by the general populace. But if you learn to raise your vibrations and tune in to them, you will get a 'gut feeling'; a sense that this is not an ordinary child. One could be a beggar at your car window one day. One look could be enough for you to know that you are in the presence of a Master-child. Hone your senses. Some will be very apparent; but many will not.

As a child psychologist, I feel that many of these prodigies will possibly have a lot of emotional trauma, suffer from depression and have difficulty in 'fitting in'. Am I correct in this assumption?

You are correct. Most of these children will have another battle to face: they are so universal in their frequencies that they will not find it easy adjusting to earthly life. Many will fulfill their missions but still find life here very restrictive. To many of them, it will feel like being in jail. They may feel trapped in a physical body, trapped by the limitations of earthly speech and thought, trapped by the inability to easily communicate the depth of their feelings and knowledge to others, and so on. This could lead to depression. Some will be loners. Many will 'not fit in.'

If we are all moving into the 5th dimension, why won't they use this to help themselves?

They will; but many around them will not. If one person is at a very high frequency, it is extremely difficult for him to communicate with or acclimatize to those who are not. Please do not equate this with a sense of arrogance or superiority. Denser vibrations also affect his structure, making him uncomfortable around others. (Pause)

We sense your confusion. Let us further explain this concept. On earth, all the dimensions co-exist in the very same space, at the very same time. The 3rd, 4th, 5th, 6th and 7th dimensions, for example, are all around you; but you slot into the energetic level you have earned.

An earthly parallel: you may live in a house with your two-year old child, your teenager, and your grandfather. Each of you exists in the same home, in the same time period; yet each of you lives a different 'reality'. The child's 'dimension' is very different to that of the grandfather's. Your child's perspective of life is very different to yours. Yet all co-exist together.

All of you are therefore working towards increasing your knowledge, awareness, view of life and perspective; so that you move into higher and higher dimensions.

Now let's discuss you and others like you: adults. Many are going to experience a similar awakening. Some will initiate world-missions; others will initiate ones that influence a small group of people. Do not compare these and assume that a world-mission is more important: both are equally important.

Some people have energetic frequencies that are more effective when used worldwide; others have more focused frequencies that are of greater benefit to a smaller group of people. What is important is that everyone learns to live his or her mastery.

Some adults will have the singular mission of self-awakening. This, too, is of equal importance.

Why?

If you awaken the self, the vibrations you emit, as a secondary energy, affect all those around you, urging them to awaken as well. You set off a chain-reaction. These people work by 'setting an example' that others find irresistible.

Adults are going to awaken in different categories. Many are going to discover consuming 'passions' that they now feel impelled to follow. These urges will be overwhelming; yet being human, many will fight it. Most are comfortable with the security of hiding, being small and feeling insignificant. But the urge will push them to start their missions.

But, in general, all of you HAVE TO start acknowledging your Mastery and your magnificence. And you have to discover your unique way of doing so.

What you can do, in preparation for 2018, is a series of simple, personal exercises. They will help you, if you feel inclined to use them.

The first, and perhaps the most important, is to learn to compliment yourself.

Do so on a daily basis; preferably several times a day. Learn to speak to the self and offer congratulations when they are due. Acknowledge your daily triumphs. Acknowledge your magnificence in dealing with tricky situations. Acknowledge your strengths. Acknowledge your resilience. Tell yourselves how fascinating you find You! (Laughter)

Yes, it's a very personal exercise. It's not about boasting to the world; it's about acknowledging that you like and appreciate who you are. Why not do this when you are walking on the street, or sitting in a taxi? Do this in the shower! It's so simple.

Doesn't this boil down to I AM THAT I AM?

It does indeed. But for many, 'I am that I am' are still words. It has to move into knowingness.

The second simple exercise is one we suggest you do at night, before you fall asleep. It will just take a couple of minutes of your time. Simply review the day and ask the self, "Have I truly appreciated what I did today? Have I acknowledged myself?"

If you have; be in gratitude. If you haven't; do so now. And if you find areas that make you uncomfortable, acknowledge them without beating yourself up. You might, for example, feel that you were repeatedly short-tempered. Just acknowledge this, and choose to be more even-tempered the following day. That's all. Just a simple choice.

The third exercise is going to amuse you. On any and every public festival of your choice (and in this country you have a lot to choose from!), write yourself a love-letter. Write it, not type it. (Laughter)

Yes, there is a vast difference between the energies of the written word and the typewritten word. The written word creates a spiritual, binding contract with the self.

So it's got to be addressed to the self?

Yes, and it has to be a love-letter! Tell yourself how much you love you. Tell yourself that you can't live without you. Tell yourself how charming and attractive you are. Say anything you want, but put it on paper. In doing so, you will energetically create that reality over time. Woo the self!

It's intensely private; no one else will see this. And go ahead and laugh when you write it; go ahead and feel ridiculous. But persevere. We challenge you to do this. Let's see if you have the courage to do so.

The fourth exercise is this: take stock of your triumphs and successes from birth to now. There are, obviously, countless such moments. Don't try and go sequentially. Let them arise as they do. But take stock. These could range from the smallest to the largest: each is equally important.

(Smiling) Many of you are thinking, "How childish and trite these exercises are!" Let us assure you that, the more energetically advanced you get, the simpler are the answers.

You are now moving into magnificently complex simplicity. Owning your Mastery is really very simple: it stems from a singular choice to do so.

Now let us have your questions.

How do we identify our mission? How do we know if it's going to be a world mission, a smaller one or a personal one?

You simply make a commitment to the self and say, "I'm ready!" And mean it. Then you let it unfold.

What is the purpose of 'taking stock' of our achievements?

What is the purpose of stock-taking in an office or at home? You are simply identifying and bringing to your conscious mind what you already own. All of you have so many successes and triumphs that you have never before noticed, let alone acknowledged. Energetic stock-taking helps you consciously acknowledge, appreciate and honour the self.

With this rapid growth and embracing of one's Mastery, what of those we leave behind?

Yes, many will have to be left behind this year. It is a period of utter transformation, and through this process you may have to 'shed old skin'. Communication will help you ascertain who walks alongside you, and who has to be gently released. You will have to trust your own Mastery to help you distinguish between the two.

How does one deal with fear?

This has been discussed in great detail in the past, dear friend. But let us touch upon it today. It is a time-period in which it is essential that you start facing your fears. First bring them up, acknowledge that they exist, and then choose to face them. Work on them in your own, unique style.

Some people prefer to work in a gentle, step-by-step, easy manner. Others prefer to 'bungee-jump' into them. Choose what works for you. But if you try to run away, they will chase you and repeatedly re-surface during this energetic era. You can face them alone, or with the help and guidance of a friend or a professional. But choose to face them.

ARCHANGEL URIEL BLESSES YOU TODAY.

(Sohrab shifts energies)

We now request you, and many such groups worldwide, to add your consciousness and light to the higher-soul frequencies of all key politicians the world over. This request comes from the Collective Consciousness.

Please use your power, individually and collectively, and send light to all of them. You don't need to know their individual names; simply make the intent to do so. This is because the next two to three months are extremely critical: there could be a tremendous political upheaval. If Lightworkers worldwide band together, you can prevent a major war.

Please heed our request and send light to all key politicians. Your natural tendency will be to focus on those with whom you are familiar; particularly those whom you dislike. We urge you not to do so; instead spread the light globally.

Countless spiritual groups are being alerted to this message: the Collective consciousness asks for your help. Sometimes, a major war is necessary for the growth and evolution of a society. As of now, it is an open-ended choice. Choose peace.

This is why we have to right to speak of it; otherwise we would have remained silent.

BLESSINGS.
